Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—The impeachment of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and two of her aids for high crimes and misdemeanors in violation of the constitution was demanded on the house floor today by Representative J. Parnell Thomas [R., N. J.].

J. Parnell Thomas.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

Thomas offered a resolution calling upon the house judiciary committee to investigate the official conduct of the three labor department executives and determine whether articles of impeachment should be reported to the house.

Specific Charges Listed.

The principal high crimes and misdemeanors charged against Secretary Perkins and the two labor department officials are:

1. Conspiracy to defraud the United States by failing, neglecting, and refusing to deport aliens who advocate overthrow of the government by force.

2. Refusal to enforce the immigration laws with specific reference to Harry Bridges, California labor agitator, alien, and communist.

3. Conspiracy to release Bridges without bond after his arrest contrary to a constitutional provision that bail be provided.

4. Deliberate omission of important evidence in the court proceedings to deport Joseph Strecker, confessed communist.

Strategy Quickly Changed.

Administration leaders had planned to smother Thomas' resolution by moving to table it. They were appalled when informed by the house whip that such a motion would probably be defeated by a coalition of Democrats and Republicans long dissatisfied with Mme. Perkins' performance of her duties.

Defeat of a motion to table would have been interpreted as a signal rebuke to a member of the President's cabinet. The Democratic leaders hastily changed their strategy. Majority Leader Sam Rayburn moved that the resolution be referred to the judiciary committee. He announced to the membership that other suggestions had been made concerning action on the resolution but that he favored the "orderly procedure."

The motion was carried by a voice vote, not a dissenting nay being heard.

Speedy Action Promised.

Chairman Hatton W. Sumners [D., Tex.] of the judiciary committe promised speedy action. He obtained permission for his committee to hold meetings while the house was in session. He said he would call the committee, which has just been organized, to consider the resolution tomorrow or Thursday.

The sixteen Democrats on the judiciary committee will be subjected to heavy pressure from the White House, it was learned, in order that an unfavorable report on the proposed impeachment may be returned. The committee has ten Republican members who are expected to vote for impeachment.

Chairman Sumners said the charges against the secretary of labor were very serious and would be considered seriously. While refusing to comment further, he inquired of the newspaper men questioning him whether they had been "impressed" by the lengthy indictment of Mme. Perkins drawn up by Representative Thomas. Without saying so, he indicated that he himself had been impressed.

Thomas obtained the floor by raising a question "of the highest constitutional privilege."

There were 368 members present,

MARTIN FIGHTS BACK AT C. I. O.; WHACKS LEWIS

Reaffirms Vow to Get Rid of Reds.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers, tonight denounced John L. Lewis as a would-be dictator of American labor. "The C. I. O. is leaving us," he said when asked whether the U. A. W. was leaving the C.I.O.

Homer Martin.

This was his reply to the action of C. I. O. leaders at Washington in recognizing as the rightful leaders of the U. A. W. fifteen executive board members whom Martin had suspended and the acting president, R. J. Thomas, whom they named yesterday to supersede Martin.

The Washington action was taken by Lewis' two principal lieutenants, Philip Murray and Sidney Hillman, with the undoubted assent of the leader of the Congress of Industrial Organizations. Lewis, however, did not see the nine insurgent members of the executive board, led by Thomas, who flew to Washington to get C. I. O. backing in their bitter fight with Martin.

Repeats Red Charges.

In a radio broadcast started shortly after he got the news from Washington, Martin repeated his assertion that the basis of his fight with the executive board is his attempt to free the powerful auto workers union from communistic influence. He denounced Maurice Sugar, Detroit attorney who accompanied the insurgents to the capital, as a known communist, and said:

"Let me say that I can only pity some of the suspended officers who have been sucked into this quicksand of dual unionism. I call upon them to break free from these forces that are dragging them into the camp of anti-unionism before it is too late. For if they have not yet learned they will soon learn that they cannot compromise with communism."

Murray and Hillman were members ot the coördinating committee appointed last summer by the C. I. O. to iron out the difficulties in the auto union caused by Martin's previous suspension of five of his present opponents. By agreement with Martin, anti-Martin men were reinstated then.

Dictates Reply to C. I. O.

Hurrying back to his hotel from the radio studio tonight, Martin dictated a reply to the C. I. O. action, reading himself out of the Lewis organization as he did so.

"The C. I. O. by this act," said Martin, "is completing the job of pushing away from it another powerful union. The International Ladies' Garment Workers union left the C. I. O. because it, as a democratic union, could not tolerate the dictatorship over labor which the C. I. O. proposed and sought to carry out.

"Mr Hillman and Mr. Murray, by making these statements, are showing the public what their secret attitude has been for a long time. They know and the auto workers know they were the first to break the agreement by permitting back salaries to be paid in flagrant violation of the terms of our understanding."

Martin referred here to the terms of the agreement by which the five insurgents were reinstated last summer.

"It is unfortunate for the whole labor movement that the C. I. O. thus adds to its record of dual unionism for the purpose of splitting those unions which prefer democracy to a dictatorship," Martin declared.

"Mr. Lewis will find, however, that American labor will not readily accept his dictates."

Martin has called a convention of the union to meet here March 4. The anti-Martin faction has called a convention at Cleveland on March 20.

AND IF HE TRIES TO KEEP IT FOR HIMSELF——?

Settle Sidley Will Suit; Bull to Be Paid Off

Racine, Wis., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Col. Roy F. Farrand, one of the executors of the will of Mrs. Mabelle Horlick Sidley, said tonight that the contest over the will had been settled out of court. The Sidley estate is estimated at from three to ten million dollars.

It was reported on good authority that W. Perkins Bull, Canadian barrister who is one of the principal heirs under the will, is to receive something less than $250,000 for waiving all claim to a share in the estate. The executors are then to decide how the share that was to have been his will be divided among the other heirs.

Mrs. Sidley had willed Bull $250,000 in cash, and one third of what remained of her estate after specific bequests. Mrs. Sidley died at the Toronto, Ont., home of Bull in July, 1938, three months after making the will.

Cite Chance for Hitch.

Although the opposing sides have reached an agreement, legal authorities said the plans may be upset. It was pointed out that County Judge J. Allan Simpson might rule that, in view of evidence already presented to show that Mrs. Sidley was incompetent, the hearing should proceed. Or heirs under her 1934 will, which the present will superseded, might object to probating the present will.

It was reliably stated that William Horlick Sidley, son of Mrs. Sidley, is not contributing a penny to the amount Bull has been offered. Other persons are said to be supplying the money. Sidley, 27 years old, is the heir who is contesting the will, which left him the same share as Bull. The other third of Mrs. Sidley's estate was left to charities and St. John's Military academy at Delafield, Wis., where Farrand is headmaster.

No Stock in Company.

It also was stated that under the settlement neither Bull's share nor the military academy's would include any stock in the Horlick Malted Milk company.

It was reported that the settlement was effected because the owners of the malted milk company were unwilling to have further disclosures made about the affairs of Mrs. Sidley, who was their relative. Another factor was the fact that Mrs. Sidley had made two previous wills under which Bull would have shared in her estate.

Although the terms of the agreement have not yet been put in writing, they are to be given Judge Simpson for approval this morning.

SEN. GLASS SURE U. S. IS LIKE FROG IN WELL —BOTH GOING TO HELL

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—(AP)—The senate was informed today that the problem of unemployment is pretty much like that of the frog in the well.

"When five people go back into private industry," said Senator Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], "only one of them, on the average, comes off the WPA rolls."

"It's like the story of the frog in the well," interjected Senator Bennett C. Clark [D., Mo.]. "He jumped up one step and fell back two."

"No," Barkley responded, "it's like jumping up two steps and falling back one."

Senator Carter Glass [D., Va.] threw the chamber into uproarious laughter when he interjected: "That frog went to hell, and that's where we're going."

SAD CASE OF MAN BEING KICKED OUT OF THE DOGHOUSE

Four weeks ago Judge Philip J. Finnegan ordered that Andrew Thomas, whose wife, Anna, is suing him for divorce, be permitted to sleep with two dogs in the basement of her tavern at 2305 West 47th street. But, he warned, Andrew must leave his wife and the tavern alone.

Yesterday Mrs. Thomas, who is 35 years old, was in the Municipal court with a complaint. She told Judge George B. Weiss that Andrew came upstairs Monday and chased her and all the customers out. Judge Weiss ordered that he stay out of the dogs' quarters as well as the rest of the property until Feb. 7, when he will be tried for disorderly conduct.

LITTLE RUNAWAY CHAMPION GOES TO TOWN AGAIN

James Barker, Chicago's runaway champion, ran away four times in 1937. He tied this record in 1938. Yesterday he got an early start for 1939, but his latest adventure ended just like all the others—he was found.

James, who is 9 years old and lives at 1429 North Clark street, was found asleep by Englewood police yesterday in the elevated lines station at 63d and Loomis streets.

Why does James like the open road? He won't talk about it, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Barker, don't know. James just wanders off and goes places. He never goes far.

Fighting Plane Dives at Speed of 575 Miles

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—A Curtiss Hawk 75 pursuit monoplane, one of 100 being built for the French government, has substantially exceeded all known speed records in a power dive of more than 575 miles an hour. The plane may have reached speeds of more than 600 miles an hour in the dive.

Officials of the Curtiss Aeroplane division of the Curtiss Wright corporation today announced that the dive was made yesterday by H. Lloyd Child, chief test pilot for the company.

The speed was so great that the marker on the recording airspeed indicator went beyond the instrument's range and moved off the paper on which the graph of the dive was recorded. The dive was begun at 22,000 feet and the plane, with motor wide open, was held in a vertical descent for 9,000 feet.

Feels No Ill Effects.

"I felt no ill effects from the speed," said Child today.

He said that although the motor was wide open the crankshaft speed of the engine at no time exceeded 2,550 revolutions a minute—the maximum rated speed of the 1,200 horse power Twin-Row Wasp motor. The speed of the engine was held down by the electrically controled automatic constant speed Curtiss propeller.

Although there are no accurate records of speeds attained by airplanes in dives, a speed of 500 miles an hour is said to be the greatest hitherto reached.

600 Miles Near Limit.

Scientists said the speed of the Hawk fighter approached the absolute limit of speeds for planes with conventional wings and propeller propulsion. Just above 600 miles an hour air becomes in effect a solid and what is know as a bow wave builds up in front of wings. A bow wave may be compared to snow piling up in front of a snowplow.

The Hawk 75, a single seat fighter, built entirely of metal, is identical with 230 P-36 pursuit planes ordered by the army air corps.

State's Power Behind War on Slot Machines

Jailed to Save Him

Moline, Ill., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Police raided two taverns and seized slot machines today after F. H. Maston of Rock Island had told officers he was going to end his life rather than face his family after losing his month's pay of $50 in slot machines.

Maston was jailed to prevent "any foolish act," officers said.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Acting Governor John Stelle and Attorney General John E. Cassidy joined forces today to put slot machines out of Illinois, at once and permanently. An investigation by the legislature into the slot machine racket also appeared likely.

Stelle struck the hardest blow at the criminally syndicated business when he turned loose 350 state police with orders to enter the war on slot machines and to coöperate with the sherifs in each of the 102 counties to eradicate them. Cassidy directed that the state police make immediate reports against any sherif or state's attorney who fails to smash the racket.

So far as could be learned here this is the first time Illinois state police ever have been used for other than trafic duty, except in a few emergencies when they helped chase criminals or capture escaped convicts.

Law Enforcement Lax.

Action by state officials and the proposed action by the legislature was taken after a series of conferences in which it was agreed that officials of many counties apparently were protecting the slot machine syndicate instead of prosecuting its members and confiscating their metallic bandits.

Stelle said state police would not make any spectacular raids. "There will be no chopping," he said. "Everything will be done legally. The attorney general says Illinois statutes give the state police full authority to act as conservators of the peace."

In the governor's office Walter Williams, chief of the state police, displayed copies of a letter he just had sent to the sherif of each county.

Police Ready to Help.

"This is to advise you," the letter said, "that I am in full accord with the order issued by Acting Governor John Stelle, also the order issued by Attorney General John Cassidy to see that all slot machines are removed from the state of Illinois.

"If you need help in carrying out this order, this department stands ready and willing to coöperate with you."

Chief Williams' letters were in the same mail as letters sent by Cassidy to the same 102 sherifs. This letter mentioned a series of murders attributed to the slot machine operators.

Legislative Quiz Asked.

Earlier, two resolutions were introduced in the house of representatives looking toward the elimination of the evil.

A resolution by Edward P. Saltiel [R., Chicago] called for the appointment by Speaker Hugh Cross of a committee of five house members to make the investigation. The second resolution, by Representative Edward J. Petlak [D., Chicago], called for the appointment of a joint committee of with power to go into any part of the state. Both resoltuions were sent to the executive committee.

Representative Saltiel's resolution drew attention to the recent murders attributed to war among slot machine racketeers, told of the millions of dollars taken from the people of the state yearly, and charged that much of the money is used to corrupt public officials.

A proposal then was made that the speaker appoint a committee which shall have full powers to subpena witnesses, compel attendance and testimony, and production of books and records.

GARTERS TO FIT BOWLEGS HELP A COLLEGE BOY

Harold Steffee of South Bend, Ind., student at the University of Chicago, has an extensive collection of garters made to fit bowlegged men. The supporters are now on exhibit in Reynolds hall on the campus.

"My grandfather, John Koehne, conceived the idea that the man with bowlegs needed a garter that was different," Steffee said. "He invented several kinds. Some were elaborate harnesses. The regular prices were from $3.50 a pair up to the $25 de luxe, gold plated model."

Steffee said the business netted him $1,000 a year.

FOE HALF MILE FROM CITY LINE; CIVILIANS FLEE

Invaders Lay Plans for Quick Entry.

Turn to the back page for maps of the fighting around Barcelona and of interesting points in the city itself.

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish Frontier], Jan. 25 [Wednesday].—(AP)—The first of three columns of Gen. Francisco Franco's rebel army attacking Barcelona rolled its way to within a half mile of the city's boundaries early today while rebel shells and air bombs ripped into the government capital. The shelling was concentrated on the harbor.

Rebel dispatches said their troops were prepared for an early morning attack on the loyalists' lines directly before Barcelona with the possibility that their drive would clear the way for an immediate advance into the city. Gen. Juan Yague's Moroccan army corps already held positions in the suburban districts of Barcelona.

[Earlier reports had said Yague's army was within a mile and a half of the city's center.]

Meet Little Resistance.

The rebels' southern army on wheels, almost without firing a shot, captured the government airdrome at Prat de Llobregat, and then sped along the coast to the suburbs of the capital.

Within Barcelona proper, reports reaching the border said, the calm of the city, jammed by refugees to an estimated population of 2,000,000, was beginning to break as it became apparent there was no means by which they could flee to the north.

All trains had stopped running. Only members of the government and a lucky few were able to obtain cars and trucks to carry them out of range of the smashing shell fire from rebel guns that had been pounding the city since noon yesterday.

Refugees Plod Toward North.

The government's decision to move northward to Gerona or Figueras, respectively fifty and seventy miles nearer the French border, was said to have started a mass trek of women, children, and old men on foot. They were carrying their most precious possessions on their backs or trundling them in wheelbarrows.

Roads to the north were choked with trafic that forced the footsore refugees off the highways. Every available vehicle had been taken over by the government for defense duty.

Other information reaching the French frontier indicated the city's hundreds of thousands faced a famine. These reports said there also was a serious lack of ammunition, which explained the lack of resistance made by the government troops as they fell back on the government capital.

Public Services Fail.

In certain quarters of the city the water supply as well as electricity was said already to have failed. Some nearby sections of Catalonia were reported to have been without bread for days.

Rebel sources confidently predicted that three days—possibly two—would see the fall of the capital whose nerves were jarred by bombings and shells from field batteries the last few days.

Rebel air raids never seemed to let up, and the total of deaths from yesterday's six bombings were estimated to have brought the number of dead and wounded for the last three days to nearly 500. There have been at least 48 raids since Saturday.

Entire Defense Line Broken.

Rebel dispatches said that the entire government defense line in Catalonia had collapsed and that the columns to the west and north had almost ringed Barcelona at a distance of less than six miles.

The government's removal yesterday was its third change since the two and a half year old civil war began on July 18, 1936. Supporters of the government cause, however, insisted that removal of the seat of government to within 35 miles of the French frontier did not mean the end of fighting.

Some unverified reports reaching the border from Barcelona said 30,000 of the government's crack troops from the central front had run the tight rebel sea blockade from Valencia, landing at Barcelona yesterday afternoon.

Gen. José Miaja, called the "savior of Madrid," was at Valencia and was reported to be ready to fly to Barcelona to take personal command of defense of the capital.

In one of the most rapid advances in the history of modern warfare, the rebel army of 300,000 had gained 80 miles since the offensive against Barcelona began on Dec. 23. Few battles were fought and at times it seemed that the loyalists were in headlong flight.

Gen. Franco's most advanced column, Gen. Yague's Moroccans, yesterday took Gava and Prat de Llobregat, then crossed the Llobregat river to attack Montjuich, the southwestern suburb of Barcelona.

The rebels' center column, the Navarrese [Spanish] 4th division, commanded by Gen. Camilo Alonso, occupiel Martorell, ten miles northwest of Barcelona, then moved down to heights overlooking the city. The rebels also began crossing the river at Martorell. North of Martorell the rebels gained control of the Montserrat mountains.

Cut Railway at Manresa.

The rebels' northern column, commanded by Gen. Garcia Valino, captured Manresa and cut the railway which leads to France. Manresa is an ancient town founded by the Romans and a modern center of the textile and chemical industries. The rebels crossed the Cardona river and advanced eastward from Manresa, cutting another highway to France. This left Barcelona only two main highways and the coastal railway leading northward to France.

So sure were the rebels of quick capture of Barcelona that they already had set up a government for the city. Thousands of specially trained men were formed into a corps of "public order and police," to be rushed into the capital on the heels of troops.

Rebels Name a Mayor.

Rebel dispatches said Gen. Franco had appointed a council of twenty-one men to take over the administration and that Miguel Mateu y Pla, a noted economist, was named rebel mayor of the city.

If the rebels capture Barcelona they will hold thirty-eight of the forty-nine provincial capitals of mainland Spain. In such case rebel held territory would have a population of about 16,000,000, with about 6,000,000 remaining in the separated government zones—northern Catalonia and central Spain.

The provincial capitals remaining in government hands would be Gerona [in Catalonia], Alicante, Almeria, Albacete, Cuenca, Ciudad Real, Guadalajara, Jaen, Madrid, Murcia, and Valencia.

ITALY TO CALL UP TROOPS; SEEN AS THREAT TO PARIS

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

ROME, Jan. 24.—Part of the class of 1901 [38 years of age] soon will be recalled to the colors. This was admitted in well informed circles today. The recall will be followed by the recall of contingents of a number of other classes.

Italy's military strength thus will be greatly increased, placing Premier Mussolini in a position to use a powerful, immediately available mass of armed men as a deterrent in his efforts to induce France to make no attempt to save the Spanish government.

Circles close to the Italian government explain that the recalled men, who were too young to fight in the world war, will undergo a period of special training so they may become familiar with methods of modern warfare.

CANADA SEEKS LOAN TO BUILD UP ARMAMENTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 24.—Canada will borrow money for an armament program for the first time in peace history. The loans will be retired over a period of ten years by means of annual appropriations, charged to ordinary account, which will be paid into a sinking fund. A resolution to this effect will be introduced in the house of commons tomorrow by Ian Mackenzie, defense minister. He also will move for the appointment of a defense purchasing board with exclusive power to enter into contracts for buying munitions.

Curtis Hawk 75 pursuit plane, which attained a diving speed of 575 miles an hour in test at Buffalo, N. Y., where 100 such machines are being built for France. The plane dived 9,000 feet from an altitude of 22,000 feet.

BRITAIN ALARMED; SEES SELF VICTIM OF FASCIST AIMS

Demand to Give Up Gibraltar Feared.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 24.—With Gen. Francisco Franco's Spanish rebel armies knocking at the gates of Barcelona, and the entire British home fleet maneuvering in the Mediterranean, naval experts today conferred with British cabinet ministers on a German note received a week ago explaining why the Nazis are going to double their submarine strength and arm cruisers with eight inch instead of six inch guns.

The German note, about which great secrecy was preserved although it is customary to publish such documents, has annoyed and disappointed the British admiralty. Discussion of the note and the modification of British policy that it entails will be one of the main items on the agenda of tomorrow's cabinet meeting.

Naval Pact Considered Ended.

The admiralty considers that the German note has ended the Anglo-German naval agreement and the naval holiday in heavy cruisers which the main naval powers had agreed would last until 1942.

Fears were expressed that Reichsfuehrer Hitler, supported by Premier Mussolini's fleet and his own warplanes, eventually is going to challenge Britain's naval power to protect its merchant fleet.

Fears also were expressed that when the Spanish war is over and the question of foreigners withdrawing from Spain is raised, the Italians, supported by the Germans, will agree on a general withdrawal, but will insist that foreigners also withdraw from what they consider that piece of "Spanish territory" known as the British colony of Gibraltar.

France May Occupy Island.

The revelation of this Italo-German design to force the British hand in Gibraltar makes it probable that there is more than meets the eye in the suggestion from Paris that the French will occupy the Spanish island of Minorca and Spanish Morocco if Italian troops remain in the island of Mallorca and in Spain.

That there will be British backing for this French move, which has been in the mind of the French general staf for some months, is certain. Both places are as essential to the British as to the French, and their possession by Anglo-French forces would compensate for the Italian and German positions in coastal regions of Spain and in Mallorca.

French and British naval forces have, in fact, quietly been guarding the port of Mahon, Minorca, during the whole period of the Spanish war, and Gen. Franco never has been able to take it. British firms built Minorca's fortifications.

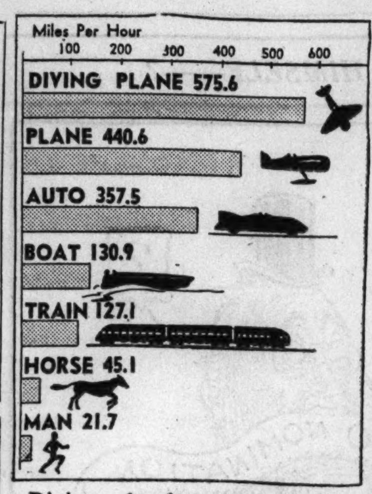
See "Energetic Period" Ahead.

Diplomats are convinced that German foreign policy will be passive toward Russia and active in the Mediterranean and probably in the Balkans for some time to come.

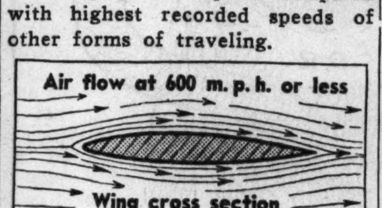
The opinion also was expressed that Hitler and Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign secretary who will be in Berlin on Jan. 30, will reopen demands at that time for colonies from France and Great Britain.

A period of energetic foreign political maneuverings is, therefore, foreseen.

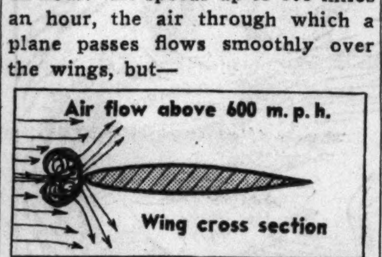
For the moment all eyes are centered on the visit which Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, will make tomorrow to Poland. This visit is especially interesting in view of reports that the Germans have been angling with soviet Russia in secret negotiations for a nonaggression pact.



Diving plane's speed compared with highest recorded speeds of other forms of traveling.



Why scientists think planes can't ever fly much more than 600 miles an hour. At speeds up to 600 miles an hour, the air through which a plane passes flows smoothly over the wings, but—



At higher speeds, the air piles up in front of the leading edge of the wing, and has the effect of a blocking solid, as in the case of snow piling up in front of a plow.

WILL BARCELONA DEFEAT END WAR? MADRID SAYS NO

Rebels See Benefit in Use of Men Elsewhere.

Spanish rebels declare the fall of Barcelona will mean the end of the Spanish civil war. Loyalists assert just as strongly that Catalonia will continue to resist until the last man is backed to the French frontier. Gen. José Miaja, commander of the southern [Madrid-Valencia] part of government territory, has said "the barriers raised against the rebels are inpregnable in our zone."

Since Gen. Francisco Franco, leader of the rebels, began his Catalonian offensive on Dec. 23, Barcelona has seen successive lines of defense crumble under relentless pounding.

Madrid Still Unconquered.

Although the rebels have conquered two-thirds of the area of Spain, the loyalists have clung to the three largest cities—Barcelona, Madrid, and Valencia—and Madrid has withstood siege for more than two years.

Barcelona suffered the most frequent and intense air bombings of any city of Spain and despite the destruction, the city's industries continued in operation until this week and the morale of the population was not broken. The most serious effect of the bombings—combined with the rebels' sea patrol—was to curtail Barcelona's food and other supplies. The steady advance of the rebels also threw more and more refugees upon a city already short of food.

Because Gen. Franco holds a long strip of the Mediterranean coast separating Catalonia from the southern part of government Spain and is generally regarded as having a navy superior to the loyalists', the complete success of Franco's drive in Catalonia apparently would leave the Catalan army—estimated to number 400,000 soldiers—with no alternative but surrender.

Little Chance to Aid Madrid.

There seems little possibility that any considerable number of the Catalonians could be transferred to the Madrid-Valencia loyalist fronts to continue the war there. On the other hand, Franco's Catalonian army of about 300,000 men would be freed to increase the vigor of their campaigns on the Madrid, Valencia, and Estremadura fronts.

Barcelona has known many conquerors in the centuries since the Carthaginian, Hamilcar Barca, was credited with founding the city in the third century B. C. In early times the town was known as Barcino. After the fall of Carthage the Romans became its masters and Augustus raised it to the rank of a Roman colony.

By the second century A. D., Barcino rivaled Tarraco [Tarragona] as Spain's chief Mediterranean port. The Roman town occupied the oval hill now crowned by the Barcelona cathedral.

Held by Goths and Moors.

Barcino fell into the hands of the Visigoths and then the Saracens [Moors] in 713. The Moors ruled for nearly a century, then after 874 the city began its great rise as the seat of the counts of Barcelona.

During this period and afterward, when Catalonia was united with Aragon, Barcelona rivaled Genoa and Venice as one of the three great trading cities of the Mediterranean.

After the union of Aragon and Castile, Barcelona attempted to transfer its allegiance to France, but in 1652, after a year of war, it was forced to remain a part of Spain.

Barcelona resisted a French army during the war of the Spanish succession and a great part of the city was destroyed. The Bourbon dynasty built a citadel and walls. The walls were not destroyed until 1860.

Chief Commercial City.

Barcelona is the most important commercial, railway, and industrial city in Spain and in 1935 had a population of 1,148,129—100,000 more than Madrid. Almost one-fourth of the foreign commerce of Spain passed through the port of Barcelona before the war intervened.

Principal industries include textile, paper, lether, and glass manufacturing. Exports included iron, copper, salt, cork, fruit, wines, and brandies. Also, because of its cosmopolitan population, Barcelona became the headquarters of Spanish socialism and radicalism as well as Catalan patriotism.

After King Alfonso was overthrown and Spain became a republic in 1931, Catalonia agitated for autonomy and won it in 1933, being entitled to its own president and legislative assembly. The city became the capital of loyalist Spain last year after Madrid and Valencia appeared in danger of capture.

RULES PRESIDENT IS WITHOUT POWER TO LIFT ARMS EMBARGO

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today said state department lawyers are giving attention to the controversy as to whether he legally might lift the embargo on arms to Spain. This was in answer to a question at his press conference as to whether he has any thought of asking the attorney general for an opinion.

State department attaches later said the department's legal advisers had been giving the matter their attention for many months. Their opinion was expressed in a letter last March from Secretary of State Cordell Hull to Raymond Leslie Buell, president of the Foreign Policy association.

This opinion in effect said the final decision as to lifting the embargo rests with congress, not the President.

DIES OF BURNS IN TOLEDO.

Toledo, O., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Mrs. Mary Kunz, 78 years old, a semi-invalid, was burned to death in her apartment this afternoon when her dress caught fire while she was trying to light a kitchen stove.

FRENCH EXPERTS DOUBT CATALONIA CAN KEEP UP WAR

PARIS, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The Spanish government's chances of successfully defending the remainder of Catalonian territory if Barcelona falls were considered exceedingly slim by military experts in Paris tonight.

Spanish government troops, already with inferior equipment and supplies, would find odds mounting against them if deprived of Barcelona's war industries, the experts pointed out. Besides, the rebel lines would be shortened, allowing Gen. Franco more thoroughly and quickly to concentrate troops at given points.

With Franco's warships watching a smaller coastline than before and his planes raiding the few remaining transport lanes, the experts believe, the Spanish government would have little or no assurance of a means of supply from the outside. There were varying guesses as to how long it would take Franco to mop up all of Catalonia, but the majority opinion seemed to be it might be done in a matter of weeks.

[In the Madrid or central section and in southeastern Spain the government holds one-fourth of the area of continental Spain.]

WARSHIP ARRIVES TO AID AMERICAN REFUGEES IN SPAIN

ABOARD THE U. S. CRUISER OMAHA, near Barcelona, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The cruiser Omaha, flagship of the United States' Mediterranean fleet, dropped anchor tonight off Caldetas, twenty miles northeast of Barcelona, preparatory to taking aboard thirty American refugees from the Catalonian war zone tomorrow morning. The burst of bombs and anti-aircraft shells in Barcelona could be seen from the warship.

The refugees probably will be taken to Marseilles, France. The American destroyer Badger, which also is en route to the Spanish coast from Villefranche, whence the Omaha came, will assist in the evacuation. British and French warships anchored for the night in the vicinity of the Omaha. They included the British cruiser Devonshire and the destroyer Glowworm, and the French cruiser Suffren and the destroyer Siroco.

Heavy seas which forced the Omaha to reduce her speed from thirty to nine knots delayed her arrival here. The Omaha plunged through huge waves during a sixty mile an hour gale. Some fifteen persons with American citizenship were reported to be having difficulty in obtaining last minute French visas for travel in France.

THOUSANDS WAIT IN VAIN TO FLEE BARCELONA SIEGE

Crowd Streets as Bombs Fall in Capital.

BARCELONA, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Barcelona, which in the last two days suddenly has come face to face with the front lines of rebel troops, is strangely somber as refugees anxiously await transportation away from the capital.

[This dispatch, delayed in transmission, was filed from Barcelona at 4 p. m. Tuesday, or 10 a. m. Chicago time.]

The city now is between two streams of trafic, those going toward the nearby fronts, and those going northward seeking safety.

Bomb holes pit many of the streets. The once well equipped port has been bombed to the last inch of its docks—the city had six raids before noon today and has had 48 since Saturday.

Blocks of Buildings Wrecked.

A curtain of fire raised by anti-aircraft batteries failed to hold off the rebel planes, which circled almost constantly overhead.

Entire blocks of buildings in the lower section of the city, near the port, were blasted away by successive attacks. Some bombs fell near Plaza de Cataluna, in the heart of the city, which in normal times had a population of more than a million.

The city's beautiful, formerly well kept promenades now are bleak with shuttered store fronts. Regular bombing alarms no longer attract interest. Barcelona is a war front city, and it is a bitter experience for the city and those who found it once gay and gracious and urbane. The city has become a military camp.

Icy Wind Whips Refugees.

The populace was told by newspaper headlines:

"Barcelona in danger!"

Refugees standing in line awaiting conveyances and walking through the streets toward the north were whipped by an icy wind. But the clearness of the day made it fine weather for the bombers.

Civilians who were able to do so helped in the building of fortifications. Automobiles were mobilized for the emergency defense work.

On official orders, motion picture theaters were closed.

Refugees Head to France.

PERPIGNAN, France [at the Spanish Frontier], Jan. 24.—(AP)—Highways running north from Barcelona toward Gerona, where the government was expected to make its headquarters at least temporarily, today were black with trucks, private cars, and wagons moving in unbroken stream away from the besieged capital. Among the refugees are a number of foreign volunteers, including ninety-four Americans, due to reach Cerbere tomorrow.

France meanwhile adopted extraordinary police measures along her tense Spanish frontiers, anticipating a flood of refugees from the Catalan war front. Primary emergency precautions were taken in an area extending 125 miles inland from the Mediterranean and some distance north from the border.

AUDITORS FIND NEW SHORTAGE IN BERWYN FUND

There's another shortage in Berwyn's special assessment fund, auditors told the Berwyn council last night. This one's the largest discovered—$23,210. It brings the total shortages found since last July to more than $50,000.

The first shortage was $3,726. Investigation disclosed that after special assessment bonds had been redeemed duplicate checks were issued and cashed. The canceled checks were then removed from the records. Auditors have been uncovering new shortages ever since. The accounts involved go back ten years.

In Estate Contest

GORDON MORDOFF JR.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

MARY MORDOFF.

Gordon Mordoff Jr. presented evidence in the Probate court yesterday to show that he is the real son of Dr. Gordon Mordoff, who was shot to death in Wilmette on Jan. 12 by his brother-in-law, John P. Quinn. He claims to be his father's sole heir and asks letters of administration of his estate.

Included in the evidence was a pink edged card sent out by Dr. and Mrs. Mordoff in 1914 announcing the birth of Gordon Jr. Witnesses said they had been told by the physician that Gordon was his natural son.

This is denied by Miss Mary Mordoff, who was reared by the Mordoffs as their daughter. She has claimed a share in the estate of the physician, which has been estimated at $15,000. Her attorney, Edwin Feldott, has promised to furnish evidence on Friday that she was legally adopted by Dr. Mordoff. John F. Keeley, assistant to the probate judge, will hear this evidence.

It was reported yesterday that the grand jury had voted a true bill charging Quinn with murder.

HOPE HAMPTON'S HUSBAND SHOT; QUIZ ORDERED

New York, Jan. 24.—[Special.]—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey tonight ordered an investigation of the circumstances under which Jules Brulatour, elderly wealthy husband of Actress Hope Hampton, was wounded by a pistol bullet in their Park avenue home Sunday night, and why there was a delay of fifteen hours in reporting the shooting.

"I was looking over a gun and the damned thing went off accidentally," Brulatour explained lightly at a hospital where he is recovering. He said the bullet grazed his head and lodged in his neck, from which it was removed yesterday.

Brulatour, whose fortune came from patents on motion picture film, is 68 years old. He was Miss Hampton's manager when she became his third wife in 1923. Miss Hampton took an adjoining room in the hospital and told Brulatour, when he wanted to return home, to remain and take it easy.

Three Relief Supervisors Moved to New Districts

Leo M. Lyons, Chicago relief commissioner, yesterday announced several changes in relief administration positions. Mrs. Mary DeLong, formerly supervisor of the southeast relief district, was named area supervisor for the south side. Mrs. Vivian McLaughlin was named supervisor of the southeast district. Miss Ada Huncke was named supervisor of the Lawndale district.

THE WAY CO-EDS LAUGH DOESN'T AMUSE CHESTER

Reading the Comics Much Funnier to Him.

A bevy of pretty Northwestern university co-eds thought it was funny that the woman across the aile should be reading the funny paper out loud to her husband. They giggled and made wise cracks as the Evanston express lurched northward.

"At home I read the funnies to my little brother, Clarence," said one.

"But that isn't her little brother," laughed another.

"Why, he's bigger than she is."

"I'll bet his name isn't Clarence, either," said a third.

It Gets Louder and Funnier.

More giggles. The lady, dressed attractively in a gray coat and blue hat, stopped reading and glared at the co-eds. Then she continued to tell what Moon Mullins said to Kayo. The man, stocky and ruddy faced, boomed out laugh after laugh.

The girls didn't know it, but they were heckling Chester Toutlaff and his wife, Lucille, of 1028 Wesley avenue, Evanston. The elevated train stopped at the Main street station. Saucy remarks followed the Toutlaffs to the door. Mr. Toutlaff bounced out on the platform, ran back, and shook his fist at the tormentors. They made faces. He waved his fist so violently that it broke a window of the train.

Motorman Captures Pair.

Motorman Frank D. Hall, 3810 North Marshfield avenue, was in his cab wondering why he didn't receive the two bells signal to go ahead. He peered out just as Mr. Toutlaff smashed the glass in a window of the fourth car. Hall left the controls and chased the couple down the steps into the station. He captured them near the ticket window. The ticket agent called police. Mrs. Toutlaff is said to have taken an ambitious swing at the motorman.

Policeman Dan Woodruff and Fred Troesch escorted the Toutlaffs to the police station. They faced Judge James M. Corcoran yesterday. Mrs. Toutlaff denied she was responsible for Hall's slightly discolored eye.

"I'll fine you each a dollar," said the judge.

The co-eds may think that's funny, too.

NEW COMET SEEN SAME NIGHT BY TWO OBSERVERS

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Announcement that a Russian scientist working in Central Asia and an American amateur astronomer in Ohio had found, independently, a new comet on the night of Jan. 19 was made today by the Harvard college observatory. The two are C. Peltier of Delphos, O., and Prof. Kozpk of the Tashkent astronomical observatory.

Harvard officials said Prof. Kozik had made his observation about ten hours earlier than Peltier. The new comet is called the Kozik-Peltier comet, for both its discoverers.

The new comet may become visible to the unaided eye about Feb. 10.

2 Killed as Rock Slide Crushes Homes of Miners

HEDLEY, British Columbia, Jan. 24.—(AP)—A rock slide on Stemwinder mountain today crushed nine houses and killed a miner and his housekeeper. Fifteen mining families evacuated their homes tonight. They feared another slide. Water freezing in fissures of rock on the 1,500 foot high mountain was believed to have caused the slide.

Hero of Disaster

Patrick Chapman, hero of the Cavalier disaster, gets a light from wife in New York. The radio officer of the ill fated plane swam two miles to attract rescuers on tanker Esso Baytown.

GERMANY TOLD BRAZIL WILL SELL IT COFFEE AGAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—The German press reported today that Brazil will resume deliveries of coffee and cotton to Germany. These were interrupted after the Bank of Brazil last June became glutted with "aski marks" and refused to take them except in limited quantities. These marks are used by Germany in barter deals.

The German public felt keenly the coffee scarcity, which started at the beginning of this year. Only small quantities of coffee can be bought in German shops now.

Though eager to import coffee and cotton, Germany soon may be self-sufficient as regards rubber. Production of synthetic rubber has progressed far. The commissioner for industrial raw materials, Maj. Gen. Hermann von Hannecken, announced today that in the course of this year all passenger cars in Germany will be fitted with synthetic rubber tires.

Von Hannecken also announced that Germany's iron ore production increased from 1,300,000 tons in 1932 to 15,000,000 tons last year.

A HAMMER ENDS CRIME CAREER OF EX-POLICEMAN

Policeman Charles Overhue Jr. was discharged thirteen years ago. Since then his fortunes have declined. For weeks he has been out of work.

Last night he invaded a gasoline station at 7701 South Racine avenue. His hands were in his pockets as if he had a gun and he demanded money from the attendant, James P. McGloin. The attendant hit him over the head with a hammer, stunning him. Then McGloin called Policemen James Fobal and John Jordan. They took Overhue to the Gresham station.

Overhue had no gun, but confessed he had been robbing gasoline stations by pretending he had one.

QUIZ ON BERMUDA AIRLINER'S CRASH BEGUN BY BRITAIN

Statements Taken from Ten Rescued at Sea.

New York, Jan. 24.—[Special.]—An official investigation into the mysterious crash of the Imperial Airways flying boat Cavalier was begun tonight by the British air ministry. Three of the thirteen persons aboard lost their lives when the air liner's four motors stopped and it plunged into the sea Saturday midway between New York and Bermuda.

The inquiry was started here with Group Captain George Pirie, attaché of the British embassy in Washington, D. C., taking depositions from the ten persons rescued.

A full hearing of the North Atlantic's first flying boat disaster will be held next week at Hamilton, Bermuda, by British authorities. Since the accident was to a British plane far outside the territorial limits of the United States, officials of this country will have no direct part in the inquiry.

Seek to Send Observer.

However, the United States government informed Imperial Airways it would like to have a federal expert present at the hearing as an observer. Permission for this government to take any official part in the investigation must be obtained from Great Britain by action of the state department.

All the survivors, except two women, have made arrangements to start for Bermuda Saturday to be present when the hearing opens. The two who may not testify are Mrs. J. Gordon Noakes and Mrs. Donald Miller, widows of two of the three men who died in the tragedy. Robert Spencer, a steward, was the third victim.

Pending the result of the official hearing, the cause of the crash remained a mystery. The entire crew of the ill fated ship was under instructions not to discuss technical aspects of the accident and the passengers were not aware of what was happening until they were falling into the sea.

Skipper Unable to Explain.

However, Capt. M. A. Alderson, skipper of the 40,000 pound plane, discounted previously accepted reports that ice forming in the carburetors of his four motors choked them out of operation. He insisted the ice conditions were not serious.

"The cause of the tragedy is a mystery to me," he said. "At no time did I have the slightest fear of ice forming on the craft. I have flown through far worse conditions."

First Officer Neil Richardson made a surprising statement in an interview after flatly denying that ice caused the motors to fail. He said it was "not particularly unusual for all four motors to fail almost simultaneously for brief periods in flight."

Survivors Recuperating.

Meantime, the ten survivors, five men and five women, were recuperating from their ten hour ordeal of clinging to a frail chain of life preservers in the gulf stream until they were rescued by the tanker Esso Baytown. The rescue was made after Radio Officer Patrick Chapman swam two miles to attract the tanker's attention.

Loss of life probably would have been greater from exposure had the plane not come down in the Gulf stream. The Gulf stream is a warm ocean current, originating in the tropical water of the Gulf of Mexico, emerging between Florida and Cuba, and sweeping generally northeastward toward the British isles, whose climate is moderate by its influence.

FILES CHARGES FOR IMPEACHING OF MME. PERKINS

Formal Complaint Names Two Aids Also.

an unusually large attendance, as Thomas strode to the well of the house, faced the chamber and declared firmly, without preamble:

"On my own responsibility as a member of the house of representatives, I impeach Frances Perkins, secretary of labor of the United States; James L. Houghteling, commissioner of the immigration and naturalization service of the department of labor; and Gerard D. Reilly, solicitor of the department of labor, for high crimes and misdemeanors in violation of the constitution and laws of the United States."

Makes Formal Charge.

The legislators listened with strict attention as Thomas, using the legal verbiage required, made the formal charge as follows:

"I charge that the aforesaid Frances Perkins, James L. Houghteling, and Gerard D. Reilly, as civil officers of the United States . . . did wilfully, unlawfully, and feloniously conspire, confederate, and agree together from on or about Sept. 1, 1937, to and including this date, to commit offenses against the United States and to defraud the United States by failing, neglecting, and refusing to enforce the immigration laws of the United States . . . against Alfred Renton Bryant Bridges, alias Harry Renton Bridges, alias Harry Dorgan, alias Canfield, alias Rossi, an alien who advises, advocates or teaches and is a member of or affiliated with an organization, association, society or group that advises, advocates or teaches the overthrow by force or violence of the government of the United States, or the unlawful damage, injury, or destruction of property, or sabotage."

Continuing his charges, Thomas accused the three officials in the case of Strecker and other alien communists.

Clerk Reads Resolution.

The clerk of the house then read the forty-four page resolution drafted by Thomas, which reviewed in great detail the history of the Bridges, Strecker, and other cases.

Bridges, the resolution recited, entered this country in 1920 as a native of Australia and a British subject. In succeeding years he filed two declarations of intention to become an American citizen but allowed these to expire.

In 1934, the resolution declared, Bridges became a labor leader and agitator in California and was a member of the communist party. Beginning in that year numerous complaints were made to Secretary Perkins advising her of his activities, his membership in the communist party, and his advocacy of the overthrow of the government by violence.

Charges Four Years of Neglect.

For four years, the document stated, Secretary Perkins neglected to issue a warant of arrest for Bridges. In the fall of 1938 she referred the case to Labor Solicitor Reilly after the Seattle office of the immigration service had recommended Bridges' arrest. The solicitor advised that the trustworthiness of the witnesses against Bridges be investigated.

The Seattle office gave nine grounds for Bridges' arrest, the resolution declared, the ninth ground being a charge that Bridges advised, advocated, and taught the overthrow by violence of the government. But this averment or ground for deportation was omitted from the warant of arrest which was subsequently issued by the labor department.

The resolution then quoted the statement of R. P. Bonham, Seattle official of the immigration service, that "most unusual supporting evidence" had been gathered. Bonham further informed his superiors in Washington that Bridges had boasted to him that he had access to the confidential files of the labor department in Washington.

Witnesses Fear for Lives.

Bonham also wrote that the witnesses against Bridges were in fear of their lives. Arthur J. Whelan, government inspector at San Francisco, reported as follows:

"Bridges has told his 'beef squad' to get in a lot of practice because after his hearing is over there will be a lot of work for them to do on the witnesses who appear against him. He expects to beat the case against him, and if he doesn't he will be able to delay his deportation for a couple of years and there will be a great deal of fireworks."

Bonham wrote to Commissioner Houghteling, according to the resolution, that "the safest place to have the hearing for our witnesses would be Angel Island; they have a special launch that we could utilize, if necessary, for the safety of our witnesses."

Hearing Postponed Often.

There were many postponements of the Bridges hearing, the resolution declared. Bridges himself was in communication with Secretary Perkins. He had been arrested but released without bond on orders from Washington, although the constitution specifically requires that bond shall be provided, the resolution pointed out.

The resolution declared that the various exhibits containing the foregoing facts were presented as evidence; that the government witnesses against Bridges were fearful of their lives, and that Secretary Perkins was intimidated by the threats of violence of Bridges and his communistic friends on the west coast.

Reviews Strecker Case.

The resolution reviewed at great length the record of the Strecker case now pending before the Supreme court. It accused the labor department and justice department of deliberately omitting evidence from the Strecker case in order to weaken the deportation proceedings against him.

Strecker was a confessed member of the communist party, but a Circuit Court of Appeals reversed a deportation order against him on the ground that the government had not submitted evidence to show that the communist party advocated overthrow of the government by violence. Such evidence had always been submitted in other deportation cases involving communists.

Secretary Perkins has used the Circuit Court of Appeals' decision as an excuse for postponing all other deportation hearings involving communists until a Supreme court decision is given.

Dies Evidence Included.

Many pages of the testimony of witnesses before the Dies committee on un-American activities were included in the report as evidence of the membership of Bridges and Strecker in the communist party and the methods they used to incite violence on the west coast.

If the committee should recommend impeachment the house would vote upon the recommendation. If the articles of impeachment are approved by the house the senate would then be called upon to sit as a court to convict or exonerate the accused persons.

HOUSE CORNERS PATMAN ON CASH FROM M'KESSON

After Evasions, He Calls $18,000 'Ridiculous.'

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Representative Wright Patman, Texas Democrat, was called upon by members of the house today to reveal his financial connections with McKesson & Robbins, the huge drug firm which was carried to the brink of financial disaster through the defalcations of its president, F. Donald Coster, who committed suicide when his swindle was exposed.

A department of justice investigation of the books of the firm revealed that Patman was on the pay roll for speeches he had made in connection with legislation to prevent manufacturers from awarding rebates to purchasers of large quantities.

Patman took the floor today to boost a bill he has introduced which woud tax chain stores out of existence.

Spars with Questions.

But many of the legislators were more interested in obtaining a statement from him concerning the amounts he received for his speechmaking. After thirty minutes of evasive answers, Patman declared he had not received more than $5,000 in any one year from the speakers' bureau which arranged the speeches for McKesson & Robbins.

Representative Leo E. Allen [R., Ill.] started the ball rolling.

"I am not addressing myself to the economic principles involved in the Patman chain store bill," he remarked. "I have not thoroughly studied the measure.

"One of the great metropolitan papers of Chicago carried the story that you received $18,000 for working in behalf of the chain store bill. It also was reported that you received a $4,000 automobile.

"The house is interested in knowing your connection with McKesson & Robbins, and also whether you received financial remuneration in sponsoring this bill."

Tells of Seeking Advice.

Patman began by explaining that there was "national confusion" about the chain store legislation and that somebody from congress had to go out on a speaking tour to clear up this confusion.

"I asked the advice of three great political figures, whose names I have not permission to reveal, and was assured it was perfectly ethical to make such a tour," Patman said.

"McKesson & Robbins said they wanted to sponsor such speeches. I didn't care who was sponsor. I didn't do anything wrong.

"This McKesson & Robbins firm was a $100,000,000 concern. Its officials were leaders in their community. I didn't know them; had no contact with them. I didn't meet the president [Coster] in 1936. In 1937 that man did come to my office to meet me, just as many other men visit my office. I had no business with him. He just wanted to meet me."

"The gentleman has not said how much he received for these speeches," Representative Allen reminded Patman.

"I didn't receive $18,000," answered Patman loudly. "This is a ridiculous figure. The story about me getting a $4,000 car also is untrue. I bought it myself last fall for a moderate price and on the instalment plan."

Representative Sam C. Massingale [D., Okla.] joined in Allen's attempt to get a definite answer from Patman.

"You owe it to the house and to the public to tell what you did get," he told Patman.

Representative Eugene E. Cox [D., Ga.] joined the battle to get Patman to answer the question as to the amount he received. Patman hesitated, then said: "Not more than $5,000 in any one year."

SILLY, PRESIDENT CALLS QUERY ON AMLIE'S FITNESS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—(AP)—President Roosevelt expressed resentment at a press conference today when asked the qualifications of former Representative Thomas R. Amlie of Wisconsin, nominated yesterday as an interstate commerce commissioner.

He asked a reporter at his press conference whether he thought the President would send a name to the senate if he thought the nominee were not qualified. He also described as silly a question as to the particular fitness of Amlie.

Asked who had supported Amlie—a Progressive defeated in last fall's senatorial primary in Wisconsin—for the ICC post, the President smiled and replied all he knew was he had to pick a non-Democrat.

Husband Jailed

ESTHER STONE LEVY.

Joseph Stone of 6120 Stony Island avenue was sentenced to jail for contempt yesterday on the plea of his former wife that he is $725 in arrears on support payments of $7 a week for his son, Lawrence, now 15 years old.

The divorced wife, Esther Stone Levy, who is 35 years old and lives at 6383 Sheridan road, appeared before Judge Robert C. O'Connell with her attorney, Irving Eisenman, and declared that Stone had paid nothing in more than a year; had refused to attend the son's graduation from grammar school last year, and had sent him no Christmas presents. She has remarried since she divorced Stone.

The judge ordered him locked up for six months.

GUN DISCHARGED IN ROOM KILLS WOMAN BELOW

Denver, Colo., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—The body of Miss Madge Evans, 22 years old, with a bullet wound in the head, was found today in a Denver hotel where she was a guest. There was a bullet hole in the ceiling.

The mystery was solved when two state highway courtesy patrolmen reported that a pistol one of them was carrying was discharged accidentally last night while they were in a room directly above Miss Evans' quarters.

After the shot was fired, the two went to the street and looked up at the windows of Miss Evans' room. When they saw no light in the room and the window shade drawn, they assumed no one was there and that the shot had caused no damage.

PENN ELECTION CHARGES PLAGUE BENCH NOMINEE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Senator James H. Hughes [D., Del.] said today his judiciary subcommittee would defer action on Judge Harry E. Kalodner's appointment to the federal district bench until it inquired into 1938 election campaign charges involving Kalodner.

Kalodner, former secretary to former Gov. George H. Earle, was appointed to the Eastern Pennsylvania Federal District court last August. Hughes mentioned a Harrisburg grand jury investigation of campaign charges against ranking Democrats in the Earle administration which resulted in the indictment of the Democratic state chairman, David L. Lawrence, on statutory blackmail charges.

Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.], a member of the subcommittee, commented sharply about a $17,500 fee a witness said Kalodner received for six months' service as an associate of management counsel in the Philadelphia Rapid Transit reorganization proceedings. "This is just another case of judges and lawyers robbing the estate in a bankruptcy case," Connally said.

Kalodner was defended by Senator Joseph F. Guffey [D., Pa.], who recommended his appointment.

ROOSEVELT ASKS TRADE PRIVILEGES FOR PHILIPPINES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—(AP)—A formula under which the United States would continue to give certain trade privileges to the Philippines for 15 years after the islands attain political independence in 1946 was sent to congress today by President Roosevelt.

In a brief message, he expressed approval of the program, drafted by a committee appointed by him and by President Quezon of the islands. To maintain economic stability in the islands, the committee advised against withdrawing all trade preferences in 1946, suggesting instead a gradual withdrawal between that year and 1960. After the latter date, the Philippines would be subject to the same American tarifs as other nations.

A mission headed by Vice President Sergio Osmena of the Philippines conferred with state department officials and legislators today on proposed legislation to carry out the recommendations.

DEMOCRATS RIP FALSE FIGURES IN WPA FUND DRIVE

Denounce Administration for Padding Needs.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Democratic senators managing the $725,000,000 deficiency relief appropriation bill today accused the Roosevelt administration of misrepresenting the facts in an effort to boost the appropriation to the $875,000,000 figure demanded by the President.

Senator Alva B. Adams [D., Colo.] and Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.], members of the appropriations committee, accused Col. Francis C. Harrington, WPA administrator, of submitting incorrect figures both as to the unexpended relief funds on hand and the amount that will be required to finance WPA until July 1, the end of the fiscal year.

Assails "Misrepresentation."

"There has been much misrepresentation as to the situation—some innocent and some not innocent," said Senator Adams. "There has been very extensive propaganda."

When he came to a detailed discussion of Col. Harrington's testimony, Senator Adams declared with vehemence: "Col. Harrington's figures are not correct!"

The Colorado senator—a banker, a lawyer and a skilled hand with figures—said Col. Harrington told the committee that WPA, as of Dec. 31, had on hand an unexpended balance of $311,000,000, of which $190,000,000 had not been allocated.

The financial statement of the treasury department, placed on all senators' desks on Jan. 16, gave the WPA's unexpended balance on Dec. 31 as $716,000,000 and its unobligated balance as $482,000,000, Senator Adams declared.

Backed by Council Report.

A report by the national emergency council on the status of relief and recovery appropriations, submitted to congress by President Roosevelt, gave the same figures for WPA as those contained in the treasury statement, Senator Adams added.

Senator Adams next charged that Col. Harrington made a mistake of at least $56,000,000 in his calculations as to the amount of money that will be required to carry the present relief load of 3,000,000 WPA workers through the month of February alone.

Col. Harrington, the senator said, told the committee that funds on hand will be exhausted by Feb. 7. The administrator failed to explain to the committee that $60,000,000 has been set aside to carry 90,000 of the 3,000,000 WPA workers on projects operated by other government agencies until March 1, and thus made a mistake of $11,000,000, the senator said.

Figures Double Expenditure.

"Then he has made another mistake of $45,000,000," Senator Adams continued. "He tells us there is money available to pay these expenses up to Feb. 7. Then when he proceeds to figure what we need to appropriate, he goes back to Feb. 1, thus doubting the estimated needs for that period. He figures we are going to spend twice from the first to the seventh of February, and that involves $45,000,000.

"Any man who makes such substantial mistakes naturally subjects the rest of his testimony to scrutiny."

Senator Adams' denunciation of misrepresentation and propaganda also was directed at the administration contention, echoed by Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky and Senator Kenneth McKellar [D., Tenn.], that an appropriation of only $725,000,000 will force a two-thirds reduction in WPA rolls and bring the total down to 1,050,000 by the end of June.

Senator Adams and Senator Byrnes showed that an average reduction of 300,000 enrollees a month in April, May, and June would leave about 2,100,000 on the rolls at the end of June.

That is about 200,000 more than were on the WPA rolls in January, 1938, at the depth of the Roosevelt depression and in the dead of winter.

MIRIAM HOPKINS.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Miriam Hopkins, swathed in silver fox and apparently recovered from the wrenched back from which she said she was suffering last week, wouldn't know William P. Buckner Jr. from a side of sole lether.

This, substantially, was her answer today to questioning by John C. Walsh, assistant United States district attorney for New York, and Louis F. Maged, special investigator for the securities exchange commission. The two men were sent here to investigate the Hollywood angle of the indictment against Buckner and William J. Gillespie on a charge of conspiracy to defraud by mail in connection with Buckner's Philippine Railway company bonds. Miss Hopkins said she hadn't met Buckner socially, though he was lionized in Hollywood for some little time.

MAYOR ASKS WPA JOB INCREASE TO OCTOBER LEVEL

Increase of WPA employment to the October level of 121,000 was urged yesterday by Mayor Kelly in a telegram to Senator James Hamilton Lewis. Since the November election, WPA rolls have been reduced to 105,000.

Approximately 639,000 persons in Chicago, or one out of every ten based on the 1930 census, received public assistance during December, the mayor said. This included federal work relief, direct relief, and old age pensions.

Needs for the Chicago Relief administration for 1939 are estimated at $46,000,000, of which $2,900,000 is available in city funds, the message to Senator Lewis stated. State funds aggregate $30,000,000, leaving an estimated deficit of $13,100,000. If the legislature cuts the state appropriation, Mayor Kelly warned, there will be a $23,000,000 deficit—"and chaos"—for Chicago.

Temblors Rock Chile; Cut Communications; Kill Six

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 25 [Wednesday].—(AP)—A series of earthquakes shortly before midnight rocked this capital and a large part of central Chile and early today communications were disrupted with the large cities of Concepcion and Talca. Buenos Aires dispatches said temblors were felt in two Andean provinces adjoining Chile. Dispatches from provincial areas reported six dead.

Carbon P. Dubbs Is Sued for $6,400 Personal Tax

A suit to collect $6,400 personal property taxes for 1937 was filed in Circuit court yesterday against Carbon Petroleum Dubbs, former village president of Wilmette. The tax is on an assessment of $104,750 made by County Assessor John S. Clark after income tax records disclosed Dubbs' securities holdings.

$30,000 FEE SET TO WIPE OUT ALL HUMPHREYS GANG

Murder Offer Disclosed at Tax Hearing.

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.

For $30,000, a group of prohibition era gangsters offered to exterminate Murray Humphreys, once rated Chicago's public enemy No. 1, and all of his followers. This was charged yesterday, and other secrets of gangland were told, at the closing session of Humphreys' income tax hearing.

Humphreys is appealing the government's claim of $37,165 income tax and penalties for 1930, 1931, and 1932. The hearing was before Bolon B. Turner of the federal board of tax appeals.

Humphreys took the stand during the day to deny that he took part in the kidnaping of Robert Fitchie, president of the milk wagon drivers' union, for whose release a $50,000 ransom allegedly was paid in 1931. The ransom is one of the items on which the government is seeking to collect a tax.

Hears Rumor, Arms Himself.

The story of the $30,000 price tag on Humphreys' head came out incidentally as Humphreys was explaining why he was once arrested for carrying a revolver. He said he armed himself when he heard a rumor that Steve C. Sumner, veteran secretary and treasurer of the milk wagon drivers' union, had offered $30,000 for his destruction.

Sumner himself, recalled to the witness stand for the fifth time, denied making such an offer. On cross-examination, however, he brought out that gangsters had come to him and offered to do the job for $30,000.

Under questioning by Attorney Edward J. Hess, counsel for Humphreys, Sumner said Edward [Spike] O'Donnell, one time beer baron, and another unnamed man came to his office to sell protection against Humphreys, William [Three Fingered Jack] White, and George [Red] Barker. White and Barker were killed in the gang wars.

Tells Talk with O'Donnell.

Q. [by Attorney Hess]—Did you talk to him [O'Donell] about the rumors on the street about the price on Humphreys? A.—He came to talk to me. He had called me up and said he was coming.

Q.—What was said at that meeting? A.—Spike said, "You got Humphreys, Jack White and Red Barker to contend with. They intend to kill your officials. If you give us $30,000 we will protect you against them. If we are on your side Humphreys and the others will not do you any injury." I told Spike in reply to that, that we didn't want to hire anybody to do any killing.

Q.—Do you know what has happened to White, Barker, and Paddy Berrell [a teamsters' official who was mentioned earlier in the testimony as having agreed to allow Humphreys to have union drivers for the Meadowmoor dairy]? A.—They were all machine gunned to death.

Ex-Judge Lyle Testifies.

Attorney John H. Lyle, who in 1931 and 1932, while judge of the Felony court, waged a vagrancy war on the public enemies, was called as a government witness to corroborate Summer. He said he sat in with officials of the milk wagon drivers' union when they decided to ransom Fitchie. He said that Sumner a few months later told him he recognized Humphreys as one of the kidnapers.

"Sumner told me that Spike O'Donnell and another gangster came to him with a sawed off shotgun and said that for $30,000 they would knock off both Humphreys and Barker," said Judge Lyle. "He also said they told him they would bring in an eye or an ear of each man."

At the conclusion of the hearing counsel for Humphreys and the internal revenue department were instructed to file briefs within 60 days.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—A seven pound boy was born to Mrs. Andy Devine, wife of the squeaky voiced film comedian, in the Cedars of Lebanon hospital today. Devine, whose raspy voice is also heard on the radio, is also known as the mayor of Van Nuys. They have another son, Timothy, 4 years old.

LANDSLIDE KILLS WPA WORKMAN; SECOND INJURED

Sam Preola, 55 years old, 1102 Sedgwick street, was crushed to death yesterday when a mass of frozen earth slid from the top of a clay bank in a miniature avalanche and partially buried him. Louis Ziehn, 62, of 2416 Hutchinson street, was injured painfully. He was taken to the Marine hospital.

Preola and Ziehn were members of a WPA crew of twenty-five men working on a spoil bank [a hill of earth] on the south side of the drainage canal half a mile west of Cicero avenue, in Stickney. A huge chunk of earth suddenly cracked off the top of the 20 foot bank and began to slide toward them.

As the workmen ran for their lives, Preola and Ziehn slipped and fell. A mass weighing 300 to 400 pounds crashed onto Preola's back and rolled over his head. Ziehn's legs were injured by another heavy mass of earth. Preola was dead when his fellow workers dug him out.

FIRE TIES UP STATE STREET TRAFIC.

Trafic was tied up for half and hour yesterday while firemen fought a slow fire in a vacant four story building at 1017 South State street. The damage was $200.

WOMAN BEATEN, AUNT CHOKED BY JEALOUS SUITOR

William Blue, 43 years old, a real estate dealer, was sought by police last night on a warant charging him with assaulting two women early in the morning. Blue is married and lives at 9610 West Shore drive, Oak Lawn.

The warant was obtained by Miss Ann Hood, 48, a florist at 761 West 69th street. She charged that Blue choked her when she went to the aid of her niece, Mrs. Audrey Southern, 24, whom he was beating. Mrs. Southern is in a serious condition at the Auburn Park hospital.

Miss Hood said that Blue, who had been drinking, waited for Mrs. Southern to return to the latter's florist shop at 7409 South Halsted street, where she lives. He was jealous, Miss Hood said, because Mrs. Southern, who is separated from her husband, was with another man. When Mrs. Southern entered, Miss Hood said, Blue knocked her down and beat her severely, then fled.

REPORT DRAFTED ON VOCATIONAL TRAINING IN U. S.

Fifteen representatives of labor unions and government labor and educational officers opened a two day conference yesterday to formulate a national policy on apprenticeship and vocational training. They met in the Builders building, 228 North La Salle street.

A tentative report, which will be voted on today, recognized that young men must be trained with necessary skill and a broad education to fit them for industry and citizenship.

"Experience has demonstrated that apprenticeship offers the best way for the industry to fulfill its obligation to youth," the report said. It recommended a five year apprenticeship after high or vocational school.

EIGHT PARK POLICEMEN GET CASH AWARDS FOR MERITORIOUS SERVICES

Cash awards totaling $600 for meritorious services performed last year were given to eight members of the Park district police yesterday by Robert J. Dunham, park board president. The awards were donated by Mr. Dunham. Twelve other members of the force received honorable mention.

Alice McCarthy.

Policewoman Alice McCarthy and Policeman Joseph Moriarty of the south division, who trapped and captured a colored rapist in Washington park in August, shared the first award of $250.

Second prize money of $150 went to Sergt. Frederick Blank of the west section for capturing a man later convicted of manslaughter. The other awards were: $100, shared by Policemen William Szarat and Carmen De Fily, west section; $60, shared by Policemen Kenneth Fossier and Joseph F. O'Neil, west section, and $40 to Policeman Joseph Steines, north section.

Honorable mention was given to Joseph C. Granata, Maurice Begner, Howard Bennewitz, Allen Buckley, Richard Dinkelacker, Richard Dwyer, James Howard, William Harrington, Charles Kinsella, Robert Oman, Lester Walsh, and Clarence Welsh.

CLERK IN TREASURER'S OFFICE DIES.

Harold Tillman, 52 years old, a clerk in the city treasurer's office, died Monday in his home at 3845 Lake Park avenue.

COUNCIL DELAYS ACTION ON NEW PLANNING BOARD

Because leaders of several civic organizations want time to study the proposed ordinance that would reorganize the Chicago Plan commission, consideration of it was postponed until Feb. 3 yesterday by the city council judiciary committee.

The proposed ordinance would clothe with official powers the present commission, which was organized in 1909. It would give it a voice in the city government and change its present setup. The measure providing for the changes was drawn up by the Chicago Commercial club.

GREEN'S WOMEN LEADERS WARNED OF NONPARTISANS

Trickery Charges Hurled by Mrs. Krutckoff.

Mrs. Mabel B. Krutckoff, woman's chairman of the Cook county Republican committee, yesterday charged some of the members of so-called nonpartisan organizations with trickery. She spoke at a meeting of women ward leaders in the La Salle hotel attended by wives of the G. O. P. candidates: Dwight H. Green for mayor, John William Chapman for city clerk, and Clement A. Nance for city treasurer.

Mrs. Mabel Krutckoff.

No nonpartisan organization indorses a candidacy, Mrs. Krutckoff pointed out. Nor, she said, do members have the right to speak for such organizations unless a resolution has been passed and they have been designated as spokesmen.

Challenges Their Sincerity.

"Too often," she said, "these nonpartisans pretending to speak for an organization are small groups with the sole aim of fooling the public. I challenge their sincerity and their worth."

Green and his two running mates of the regular Republican organization last night spoke before two west side ward meetings, at 3845 Madison street and at 4723 Madison.

"Many parts of the great west side of Chicago have been neglected in the assignment of civic improvements," said the mayoral aspirant. "One of my first pledges is that all sections of the city, including the blighted areas, will receive equal consideration under my administration."

This morning, weather permitting, Green will make an aerial survey of Chicago in a chartered plane of the Transcontinental Western Airlines. From the air, he will view sites of proposed transportation and highway improvements. He said he will be accompanied by men familiar with this type of survey.

Dinner Meeting Tonight.

Tonight, Mr. and Mrs. Green, Mr. and Mrs. Chapman, and Mr. and Mrs. Nance will attend a South Shore Chamber of Commerce dinner in the Southmoor hotel. The host is Charles L. Gerds, 7th ward committeeman. Later tonight, all three candidates will speak at a 5th ward meeting at 1442 East 55th street sponsored by J. Leonard East, ward committeeman.

Still later, at 9:45 p. m., Green is scheduled to speak to the 9th district young Republicans in the Ambassador East hotel.

The Women's Republican organization of the 13th ward will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at 3352 West 63d street. Mrs. Walter Montgomery is chairman.

366 CANDIDATES ENTER RACE FOR COUNCIL SEATS

When the deadline for filing aldermanic petitions was reached at 5 p. m. yesterday, 366 candidates had entered the race for seats in the city council. The election will be held Feb. 28.

Filing of nominating petitions began Dec. 30. Up to yesterday morning, 148 petitions had been handed across the counters of the board of election commissioners in the city hall. Then during the day 218 more petitions were filed

The candidates include all incumbents. Four women are entered. In one ward—the 26th—seventeen candidates seek the council seat. Contests will be waged in every ward, with the 9th and 27th the only wards in which a minimum of two candidates filed petitions.

Repents in Indiana Jail; Gives Up for Crimes Here

When Herman Rohder was in jail at Peru, Ind., for burglary he decided to take the straight and narrow path. Last night he returned to Chicago and surrendered to Sergt. Rudy Josephson at the Rogers Park station. Rohder, who is 22 years old, said he committed four holdups here thirteen months ago and wants to pay the penalty.

Kelly Indorsed by Angsten; Courtney Claims Hornerites

BY PARKE BROWN.

The part that the Chicago allies of Gov. Horner will play in the Democratic primary campaign for mayor became the center of public interest yesterday as one Horner appointee declared himself for Mayor Kelly and a spokesman for State's Attorney Courtney appealed for solid backing for his candidacy from the Horner forces. This was the news in the two Democratic camps:

KELLY—

Peter J. Angsten, chairman of the Illinois industrial commission for the last six years, declared himself for Mayor Kelly.

Angsten is known as the father of the industrial commission. Last July an unusual tribute was paid to him by a program celebrating his twenty-fifth anniversary as a leader in the handling of state laws dealing with relationships between workmen and employer. In 1913 he was appointed by Gov. Edward F. Dunne to administer the new body, then known as the Illinois industrial board. He also served under Gov. Frank O. Lowden and was called back to his old post by Gov. Horner in 1933.

Statement Criticizes Courtney.

In his statement Chairman Angsten not only indorsed Mayor Kelly but criticized State's Attorney Courtney, who is running against the mayor.

"As a friend, admirer, and supporter of Gov. Horner throughout his public career," read the statement, "and as administrator of an important division of the governmental functions of the state of Illinois by reason of his appointment, I am giving my wholehearted support, without solicitation, to Mayor Edward J. Kelly in the present primary campaign.

"I am pursuing this course because I feel it is the course Gov. Horner would want me to pursue if his health permitted him to be back home and on the scene.

Says Differences Are Healed.

"Mayor Kelly had his political differences with the governor, but when the primaries were over he and his friends, both in and out of the Democratic organization, supported the candidates nominated in the primaries without reservation.

"Mr. Courtney prates about his support of Gov. Horner in the 1936 primary election. Diligent search fails to reveal wherein by oral or written public statement he said one word in behalf of Gov. Horner at that time.

"After the 1938 primary, when Scott Lucas and other candidates indorsed by Gov. Horner's organization were nominated, what happened? When Mayor Kelly and members of the Democratic organization attended the state convention as well as Governor's day at the state fair, on which occasion Mayor Kelly proclaimed his full and complete support of Senator Lucas and every other candidate nominated on the Democratic state and county ticket, where was State's Attorney Courtney?

Raps His "Churlish Refusal."

"He churlishly refused the governor's invitation to attend either of these affairs.

"Certainly no credit is due Courtney for the success of the candidates elected last fall. His silence was eloquent evidence of his negative support. The sour and petulant attitude of Mr. Courtney between the primary and election last year certainly did not contribute to Gov. Horner's peace of mind.

"I have analyzed the records of the two men. I know where they stand on past performance, and I go on record now, emphatically and unreservedly, in support of the retention of Mayor Kelly as chief executive of the city of Chicago."

COURTNEY—

Brig. Gen. A. F. Lorenzen, manager of State's Attorney Courtney's campaign, made a radio address in which he placed his chief emphasis on quotations from an attack made on the Nash-Kelly organization by Gov. Horner during the heated Democratic primary last year.

Lorenzen, a former National Guard officer, said he spoke as a friend of Gov. Horner and contended that the Horner followers have rallied behind Courtney in the present battle. [Gov. Horner, who is in Florida recovering from his long illness, has not declared his choice between Mayor Kelly and Courtney.]

Quotes Horner Address.

"I want the Kelly-Nash machine to know and remember," said Lorenzen when he took up this subject, "that the friends and followers of Gov. Horner are the genuine friends and supporters of Tom Courtney who have not forgotten the governor's utterances less than one short year ago.

"I have preserved an autographed copy of one of those radio speeches presented to me by Gov. Horner and it is before me as I stand here tonight and speak to you."

The Horner quotations he read were the following:

"In this campaign our fellow Democrats must make the choice. The people of this county and state will have to choose one of two sides. They are either for or against the Kelly-Nash machine. There is no middle of the road in this fight.

Denies Roosevelt Kinship.

"My friends, there can be no kinship between the President and bossism. They are for Roosevelt, are they? Do you think the President can approve the spoils system of the Kelly-Nash machine? Do you think the President stands with the Chicago machine in the ghastly effort to prevent honest elections in Chicago?"

"Do these sound like anything but the brave utterances of an honest man and a fine leader who now lies ill? Tonight I beseech you to think of that sick man and to pray for the recovery of his full health and strength.

"Beyond that ours is the task to finish the job, to smash the machine. Chicago needs a change. This city has a man of destiny with the heart and the mind to make a new day dawn in Chicago's municipal affairs."

Lauds Courtney Crime Fight.

The speaker credited Courtney with reducing crime in general, with cutting down the number of automobile thefts, with eliminating kidnaping extortions, with smashing the arson ring, with clearing up court calendar congestion, and with winning convictions in 90 per cent of all cases tried in the last year.

"The Kelly machine," said Lorenzen, "hopes you will be too busy to go to the polls primary day to register your protest against the machine domination of Chicago's city affairs for six years past. If you do go to the polls and do vote in that Democratic primary the machine will be crushed and driven from the city hall just as Gov. Horner and Tom Courtney, with the help of the good people of Chicago, drove it from the door of the County court by renominating Judge Jarecki last April."

HELD TO GRAND JURY IN HAMMER ATTACK ON GIRL

Fred Olsen Jr., 20 years old, who confessed to River Grove police that he struck his sweetheart with a hammer during a quarrel Monday night, was held to the grand jury on an assault charge last night by Magistrate D. G. Gillen of River Grove.

The girl, Doris Wickenkamp, 17, was in the County hospital in serious condition. Olsen was taken there yesterday so that she could identify him for police. He whispered that he still loved her. She did not answer.

The attack took place in Olsen's car on Belmont avenue, near River road. Olsen said he then dragged the girl from the car and drove to the River Grove police station, where he surrendered. Both Olsen and Miss Wickenkamp, who is a waitress, live in Elmwood Park.

FINED $25 ON CHECK CHARGE.

William Casey, 40 years old, who pleaded guilty to passing several worthless checks totaling $20, was fined $25 yesterday by Judge Justin F. McCarthy in the Fillmore street court.

FREE 4 ON THEFT COUNT; 4 OTHERS WILL FACE TRIAL

Three men and a woman, charged with receiving stolen property, were released yesterday by Judge Oscar S. Caplan of the Women's court when Assistant State's Attorney Irving Lang moved to nolle prosse the case.

They are William Gilbert, 43 years old; Thomas Derry, 51; Morris Winn, 32, and his wife, Peggy, 31. All were seized when the police raided a house at 540 Melrose street six weeks ago and seized property worth about $7,000, which was alleged to have been stolen.

Four others arrested in the raid are to go on trial today before Judge Robert Jerome Dunne of the Criminal court. They are William Donahue, an ex-convict; Henry Bjorklund, Mrs. Anna Smith, and Miss Barbara Wayne. Judge Caplan ordered the seized property held as evidence in their case. They have been indicted for receiving stolen property.

HUSBAND FOUND SLAIN IN HOTEL; WIFE WOUNDED

She Leaves Letter Telling of Other Woman.

Sarah Wade wrote a letter Monday. She wrote that she was going to have a showdown with her husband that night over the other woman in his life. Lawrence J. Wade had confessed, Mrs. Wade wrote, that he had been visiting the other woman once a week for six years on nights that he said he spent at his club.

Wade, who was 52 years old, was found shot to death yesterday afternoon in the Wade apartment in the Milner hotel, 536 Rush street. He was lying on the bed in his pajanmas, as if he had been shot while he slept. Not far off lay Mrs. Wade, who was seven years older than he. She was near death, her wrists slashed and a bullet through her head.

Ask Woman to Attend Inquest.

Mrs. Wade was taken to the North Chicago hospital, where she was unconscious last night. Police asked the woman her letter named as her rival to attend the inquest into Wade's death at 9:30 a. m. today.

Police believe Mrs. Wade killed her husband and then tried to end her own life. They based their theory on the letter and a note Mrs. Wade had written her husband's sister, Mrs. Mary Duhusen of 2240 Eastwood avenue. These notes asked that Mrs. Duhusen take Wade's insurance and his bank account, to keep them from going to the other woman. Another note was addressed to C. A. Schleucher, an executive of the telephone company, for which Wade worked.

Appear Happily Married.

Relatives and friends said the Wades appeared to be quiet and happily married, and that Wade was always dressed in the height of fashion. But they had no explanation for Mrs. Wade's accusations, and the grim last sentence of her letter:

"This affair is of long standing, and there is only one way it will ever end."

PAROLEE CHICKEN THIEF BOASTS HE MADE $30 A WEEK

John Pastor, 43 years old, is a paroled convict. He was released six months ago from Joliet penitentiary, where he served a term for chicken stealing.

Pastor has been at his old business again. On Monday he was arrested in Chicago by Sherif Arthur Bennett of Du Page county and was identified as the man who took thirty chickens from the farm of Ferdinand Wiegand near Elmhurst. He had been traced by an automobile license number. He confessed to the sherif and said that he had been averaging $30 a week in the roost robbing racket since he left Joliet.

"Once," Pastor boasted, "I stole 3,000 chickens in one bunch. I robbed the henhouses at the Chicago Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium and the Oak Forest infirmary."

Magistrate William H. Johnson of Wheaton yesterday held Pastor to the Du Page county grand jury.

FREED ON DISORDERLY CHARGE.

William Wenzlaff, 31 years old, 3242 North Avers avenue, was dismissed yesterday by Judge Justin F. McCarthy in Shakespeare avenue court on a charge of disorderly conduct. Wenzlaff had been questioned about the disappearance of a girl, 13 years old, who later returned home unharmed.

FREED IN AUTO CASE; JAILED AS BANK ROBBER

William di Vito, 30 years old, was arrested yesterday as an alleged bank robber as he left the courtroom of United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker. Di Vito had been freed on a charge of interstate transportation of a stolen automobile.

Sergt. Arthur Keller of the Indiana state police and Sergt. James Fitzgerald of Chicago arrested Di Vito on a warant charging him with complicity in the $2,485 robbery of a bank at Demotte, Ind., on Jan. 28, 1937.

Three men were convicted of the robbery and are now in prison. One of them, Harold Parker, was with the policemen. He had previously identified a picture of Di Vito as "Tarzan" Williams, the fourth member of the gang. Yesterday Parker failed to identify Di Vito.

MOVE TO SOLVE RELIEF PROBLEM IN LEGISLATURE

Republicans Push Bill for State Inquiry.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 24.—[Special.] —The new Republican leadership of the Illinois house of representatives moved determinedly today to find a solution of the relief problem.

In accordance with the judgment of a dozen chairmen of important committees, a bill to appoint a new committee to examine the entire relief setup and recommend the best course of action was presented to the house.

It calls for appointment of a committee of six senators and six representatives to sit down immediately and decide—for more than the immediate present, it is hoped—the extent of relief needs and what part the state should play in meeting them.

Representative Calvin T. Johnson [R., Belleville] introduced the measure. It was advanced without reference to a committee and will be considered further tomorrow. Democrats did not object to the advancement and predictions were that the bill soon will become law.

Must Report March 15.

Johnson told the house today that stop-gap legislation, as the frequent meeting of new relief crisis is called, must end. He said it was time for Illinois to take sober recognition of the problem and decide how it should proceed.

An appropriation of $5,000 is carried in the new measure. With it the committee could do what traveling is necessary in the state to conduct hearings.

It was specified that the inquiring body submit its report and recommendations by March 15. The setting of this deadline was in accordance with another decision of the Republican leader who, with the rest of the G. O. P. bloc, control the house.

The second decision, reached late last night, was that the state's present contribution of $3,900,000 monthly for relief should be continued only until May 1. Speaker Hugh Cross and the others hope that the commission's survey will show reasons why this load can be reduced after May 1.

Cross Favors Reduction.

In line with this decision, amendments to a senate bill continuing the present contribution will be introduced tomorrow. They will limit the present expenditure to May 1. This means that the second act of the relief drama will take place some time between March 15—the date of the commission's report—and May 1.

Cross believes that the contribution should be decreased gradually until it reaches 3 million dollars monthly—the figure prior to last July 1.

Relief overshadowed other legislation in the house today. It was decided that action on two senate and half a dozen house bills bearing on the Chicago mayoral primary on Feb. 28 should be postponed until tomorrow.

FIND CHRISTMAS PARTY SLAYER OF WIFE INSANE

Gordon T. Cox, who shot and killed his wife, Grace, on Dec. 27, and then fired a bullet into his head, was found insane yesterday by a Criminal court jury before Judge George Fred Rush. Cox is 41 years old.

After a gay Christmas party, Cox killed his wife while she slept beside their daughter, Jean, 10, in their home at 1721 East 86th street. Then he shot himself.

The state agreed with Defense Attorney Grenville Beardsley that Cox was insane. Dr. Harry R. Hoffman of the Criminal court behavior clinic said Cox had suffered from manic depression for three months. The bullet has remained in Cox's head, and Dr. Hoffman said he is gradually going blind.

Marion, Ind., Jan. 24.—(AP)—The Lyric theater caught fire here tonight while the movie "Too Hot to Handle" was being shown. The building burned with a loss estimated at $100,000. The theater, seating about 400 persons, was crowded, but the audience marched to safety. Three firemen were injured slightly by falling débris.

SHARP REDUCTION IN $244,455,531 BUDGET ASSURED

G.O.P. Leaders to Keep Pledge to Voters.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 24.—[Special.] —A struggle to reduce the record breaking state budget of $244,455,531 was predicted today by Republican leaders in the house of representatives.

The Republicans said they will fight to make good on pledges made to voters by slashing swollen departmental estimates. Recalling economy drives of Republicans in neighboring states, they declared that it is time to end the upward climb of state government costs.

A table compiled today showed increases estimated for sixteen out of twenty-two major items in the budget for the two years begining July 1. Total expenditures are estimated at $41,771,253 more than the last budget, and $1,283,691 more than actual appropriations for the current biennium.

Know What Voters Want.

"We know what the voters want and we'll put up a battle to see that they get it," said Le Roy M. Green of Rockford, chairman of the house committee on efficiency and economy.

"The Republican come-back in Illinois was based on Democratic waste. It's up to the Republican house now to see that expenditures are reduced as far as possible without interfering with essential functions of state government."

He said the G. O. P. is not going to miss a good chance of winning future elections by failing to reverse the upward trend of tax spending.

Determined to Cut Budget.

Equally determined to do the will of the voters is Hugh Green of Jacksonville, chairman of the committee on appropriations.

"Our fellows have their minds made up," he said. "They are going to show this state that instead of approving a record breaking budget they are going to trim it until it's within reason."

I. H. Streeper of Alton, chairman of the house committee on contingent expense, said that he is for economy.

"We're not going to spend foolishly to please a few people," Streeper said. "We're going to step right in and take action."

When the subject was mentioned to Benjamin S. Adamowski, leader of the Democratic minority in the house, he said he is for economy only so far as it does not impair state functions.

WEYMER'S WIFE TELLS HER SIDE OF YACHT STORY

Closing arguments and a decision are expected today in the case of Earl Weymer, head of an ornamental iron construction company, and his young wife, Ann. Their marital troubles have been aired before Judge Philip J. Finnegan off and on for several weeks. Weymer is 50; she is 27.

Mrs. Ann Weymer.

Mrs. Weymer charges nonsupport and cruelty in her suit for separate maintenance. Weymer's cross-complaint for divorce charges her with adultery and cruelty. Yesterday's court session was given over to Mrs. Weymer's story of what happened last Labor day night.

In his account Weymer said she left their yacht, moored near Saugatuck, Mich., at 7 o'clock in the evening. Returning at 1, he testified, she admitted she had been out with another man. He said her clothes were rumpled and her breath smelled of liquor. Mrs. Weymer's account: She spent an innocent evening watching the dancers at a Saugatuck dance hall and took the wrong road home, which accounted for the delay.

FIRE ON DETROIT TEAMSTER CHIEF IN UNION TANGLE

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 24.—[Special.] —A mystery gunman early today fired two shots into the automobile of Bert Brennan, leader of the teamsters' union that is threatening a general strike in its jurisdictional fight for control of Detroit beer truck drivers.

The attack took place in Hamtramck, the industrial suburb wholly surrounded by Detroit. Brennan, who escaped injury, made no report of the affair. Suburban police were informed of the shooting by garage attendants who discovered the bullet holes.

Brennan is business agent for the Teamsters' Joint council, the central body of local truck unions.

ASK INCREASED DIVERSION FROM LAKE MICHIGAN

Call Sanitary District Health Menace.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 24.—[Special.] —The Illinois and Des Plaines rivers are being turned into stagnant pools because of the reduction Jan. 1 of the flow from Lake Michigan ordered by the United States Supreme court.

This statement was made today in a resolution presented to the house by Representative Warren L. Wood [R., Joliet]. He asked appointment of a legislative commission to appear before a congressional committee in Washington and present facts to show that the present diversion of 1,500 cubic feet a second is not sufficient.

Flow Too Slow.

Wood said the reduction had cut the rate of flow in the Illinois river to one-tenth of a mile an hour. "This is not sufficient to hold sewage in suspension," he said. "When warm weather comes, the rivers may be pest holes."

The resolution says the previous diversion had for years aided in the commercial use of the rivers by ships and barges. The limitation, it continued, has lowered the levels of the rivers tending to make them stagnant pools of filth because of sewage, and further to limit their efficiency as navigable streams.

"Health of the inhabitants of the valleys along such streams and on the shores of Lake Michigan can be preserved only by increasing the flow of water," the resolution concluded.

Hearing in February.

Wood proposed that the technicians determine the exact flow necessary for complete sanitation and health and this figure be transmitted by the legislative commission to the house waterways commission in Washington. Congressman Joseph J. Mansfield [D., Tex.], chairman, is to conduct hearings on the rivers next month.

Another resolution introduced in the house by I. A. Palmer [R., West Frankfort] and M. F. Browner [R., Mound City] and in the senate by R. G. Crisenberry [R., Murphysboro] condemned a federal project in southern Illinois known as Crab Orchard Lake.

The resolution said 56,000 acres of land in Williamson and Jackson counties are being condemned for the lake and the project contemplates the flooding a road, requiring construction of a new highway at a cost of one million dollars. The legislators ask that Attorney General John E. Cassidy be requested to intervene and resist condemnation.

Lawrence Mohr of 3558 Tenth street, Milwaukee, was downcast yesterday when the Niles Center police arrested him on a charge of damaging city property. His automobile had run over a fire plug and ruined it. But Mohr didn't despair when $25 bond was demanded. He chose a favorable moment and fled from the police station. Niles Center is holding his automobile, a 1929 model, in lieu of Lawrence.

JUDGE REGARDS DIVORCE LUXURY; MAKES WIFE PAY

Brief marriages and quick divorces are luxuries and will be so regarded in the court of Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski. Mrs. Dorothy Goodman, 20 years old, of 3941 Pine Grove avenue, found this out yesterday when she got her freedom from Melvin Goodman of 1637 Chase avenue, to whom she was married Aug. 1, 1937. She charges he hit her.

"And now about alimony, judge," said her attorney, Allan R. Bloch.

"There will be none," said the judge.

"Your husband probably spent more than that on you," was the reply. "No, I won't order your husband to pay the costs of this action, either. Divorces are luxuries, and you will pay for this one."

There was another low voiced request. The judge replied, "Well, all right. If you want your maiden name of Goldman restored, you may have it."

SEIPEL-DOLLFUSS COFFINS TAKEN OUT OF CHURCH

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—(AP)—DNB, official German news agency, reported from Vienna today that coffins of Engelbert Dolfuss and Ignaz Seipel, once Austrian chancellors, had been removed from the memorial church bearing their names to the Vienna cemetery where once they were interred.

Nazi authorities said "the public objects to seeing these coffins exhibited in a place of worship."

Kurt Schuschnigg, the last chancellor before Germany annexed Austria last March, had the bodies of his predecessors exhumed. The bodies were placed in elaborate bronze sarcophagi and transferred on Sept. 29, 1934, to the then new Seipel-Dollfuss Memorial church.

PENN GOVERNOR BEGINS TRIMS TO SAVE 11 MILLION

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Pennsylvania's new Republican governor, Arthur H. James, listed 1,000 state positions for elimination today at a saving of $1,750,000 in a program of job junking for economy.

Assembling his cabinet members, James checked over their estimates of personnel reductions and said they would be effective immediately. He predicted these reductions, with other savings, would amount to $11,000,000. The other economies, he said, would result from "not spending appropriations already made."

In the highway department alone, James announced, 323 jobs would be wiped out and 54 others abolished temporarily. Some reduction was listed in pay rolls of every department.

AT ALLOWAY, IN AYR—

By CALEB

TO thousands of the sons of Scotland and their descendants, this is a memory-cherished day. And to countless other thousands, neither of Scots strain nor in any manner of Scottish predilections, the man this day commemorates still holds his place among the best-loved names in English literature . . . for first, last and always, he was a man before he was a Scotsman.

It was as a strong, deep-affectioned lover of his kind—who knew the fist of poverty, and the price of staking fireside peace against stony hills—that he wrote The Cotter's Saturday Night. It was as a high-humored, convivial tablefellow in some gusty tavern, quick to grasp at life's lustier occasions while they might be had, that he celebrated Tam O'Shanter's Ride. Yet it was this same man's womanlike gentleness that could write of the "wee, timorous, cowerin' beastie" in his fresh-turned furrow—of the mountain daisy in the glen—of the clear look in his Highland Mary's eye. Proud with the knowledge of all men's equality, he could pen that matchless declaration of independence: "A man's a man for a' that."

To the little cottage in Ayrshire, where Robert Burns was born one hundred and eighty years ago today, have come pilgrims from all parts of the civilized world. One can think of few literary shrines approached with more appreciation for the man himself, as well as for the poems of homely theme and timeless beauty that have endeared him to every subsequent age. For in the frailest as well as loftiest sense, Robert Burns was like unto ourselves. He struggled, erred, regretted; but he was never cruel, vain, hypocritical, or indifferent. Loving often, and freely rather than wisely—"more sinned against than sinning"—he still gave to Scotland a legacy of song untarnished by vicissitudes of time, temperament, place, or fortunes.

The "Ayrshire Poet" will ever be remembered by the great rank and file of humanity. He was their kind of poet: singing of the soil, the road, the wind, the day's toil, the girl of one's heart, the fire on the hearth, the warming glass, the river in the valley—the homeliest virtues, the simplest joys, and the commonest sorrows of everyday living.

Alloway neighbors will lay wreaths today at Robert Burns' graveside; famous societies in many strange and distant quarters will toast his name—and in thousands of schoolrooms, little learners will be reading, perhaps for the first time: "O wad some power the giftie gie us." And thus it will be always, while there are songs of Burns to hear, or human ears to hear them . . . for, since time began, that is the way it has been with any true poet of the people.

KELLY PLEDGES AID IN ELEVATED HIGHWAY MOVE

Northwest Area Group Is Told of Progress.

BY HAL FOUST.

County Commissioner Daniel Ryan, chairman of the board's roads and bridges committee, reported yesterday that Mayor Kelly said he will appoint a city representative to sit with county and state officials to devise an elevated highway construction program.

The commissioner wrote to F. Lynden Smith, director of public works at Springfield, asking the state administration to coöperate in the conference.

Discuss Financing Plans.

"We need the coöperation of all three governments," Ryan said at a meeting in the office of President Clayton F. Smith of the county board. "The state has supervision over the spending by city and county of their shares of the gasoline tax as well as over its own 1 cent from the motor fuel excise."

"The city and the state have ample gas tax money for progressive construction from current revenues," said Smith. "The county might finance its share of the cost with a bond issue to be retired with its gasoline tax revenue."

"And if we can get a 55 per cent grant from the federal government," said Ryan, "the financial problem is solved."

Northwest Council Favors Plan.

The meeting was arranged by Commissioner William Busse in behalf of a delegation from the Chicago Motor club's northwest area council. Headed by Frank J. Tomczak of the Northwest Manufacturers' association, the delegation reported that local improvement and civic clubs of the northwest side were unanimous in urging elevated highway construction.

Harry Weimer of the Logan Square Kiwanis club and of the Avondale chamber of commerce, said neighborhood merchants were opposed to any further widening of business streets because such widening has hampered retailing and has increased accidents.

ENLARGE COUNTY HIGHWAY POLICE FORCE TO 125 MEN

Cook county's highway police force, which now has 100 members, is to be increased to 125. Authorization for the additional men was given yesterday by the judges of the Circuit court, who fix the personnel for the sherif's and county treasurer's and other fee offices. The highway police are deputy sherifs.

The increase was urged by Lester Laird, chief of the highway force. He pointed out that when the organization was started in 1922 with 75 members, Cook county outside Chicago had barely half the present 800,000 population. He added that new trafic laws and the building of new roads had made it impossible for the 100 men to care for their duties.

Only one department, the county treasurer's, suffered a reduction in number of employés. The judges held that 430 instead of the present 494 could do the work. Other fee offices will remain at the present strength.

SNOW AND ICE SAVE THREE ON RAIL CROSSING

Snow and ice, twin perils of motoring, saved the lives of a young man and two girls early today when their automobile was struck by an Indiana Harbor Belt line train. Instead of being ground beneath the locomotive, the automobile slipped sidewise over the snow-covered ties for 300 feet until the train could be stopped.

The accident occurred at 51st street and Pulaski road. The three in the automobile, who were returning from a dance, escaped serious injury. They are Rudolph Bralich, 19 years old, of 545 North Harding avenue, the driver; Ruth Frank, 17, of 6052 South Wolcott avenue, and Patricia Kemp, 16, of 1910 West 61st street, a student at Lindblom High school.

Mrs. June Gessner, 25 years old, 1952 Winona street, died yesterday in the Lake View hospital of injuries received Jan. 8 when the automobile driven by her father was struck by another car at Sheridan road and Isabella street in Wilmette.

Miss Margaret A. Heath, 45, of 5042 Maypole avenue, was injured critically yesterday and three women bus passengers were hurt less seriously when Miss Heath's car skidded into a Bluebird Coach Lines bus at Cicero avenue and 43d street. Thirty-two other bus passengers were shaken.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday eighty-two persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, sixty-seven were killed in Chicago, where 1,390 were injured in the same period.

HIT-RUN DRIVER WHO RAN DOWN CRIPPLE JAILED

Judge Jay A. Schiller of the Safety court yesterday sentenced Leo Budrus of 6220 South Morgan street to ninety days in the county jail for leaving the scene of an accident. Budrus, the judge was told, ran down and injured a crippled pedestrian, John Duffy of 5533 South Peoria street, at Halsted street and 54th place. Budrus was traced through his automobile license.

Alex Moczynski, 2314 North Seeley avenue, was sentenced to 30 days in jail for reckless driving. His automobile struck and injured Mrs. Rose Gromoll, 3400 Barry avenue, as she was crossing the street in front of 3270 Elston avenue on July 17.

Judge Frank M. Padden of the Automobile court sentenced Monica Contrim, 19 years old, a tavern waitress, to five days in the county jail for reckless driving after her automobile crashed into a truck parked at 106th and State streets.

MOTHER OF NINE AWARDED $4,500 IN HUSBAND'S DEATH

A Circuit court jury before Judge Ray D. Henson of Johnson City returned a $4,500 verdict yesterday in favor of Mrs. Mary Scala, 39 years old, of 2604 Superior street, mother of nine children, whose husband, Gerardo, 45 years old, was killed by two automobiles on Nov. 27, 1937. Scala was crossing Western avenue near Huron street when he was struck by the automobile of Frank Pistilli, 3301 North Ridgeway avenue. He was struck again by a car driven by Otto Steurer, 711 South Elmwood avenue, Oak Park. The judgment was awarded against Pistilil and Steurer jointly.

The $4,500 awarded Mrs. Scala on her $10,000 damage suit, will be used for the support of the nine children, whose ages range from 2 to 17 years. Since Scala's death the family has been on relief.

COMMERCE BODY STUDIES PLEA FOR 3 FEEDER BUSES

The Illinois commerce commission yesterday took under advisement three petitions seeking feeder bus service in Peterson road, 111th street, and Central avenue. The city has asked the commission to order the Chicago Surface Lines to furnish the service.

Thomas C. Strachan, attorney for the Surface Lines, asked the commission to dismiss the cases on the ground the communities to be served would not use the service sufficiently to justify an expenditure of about $100,000 for new equipment.

The commission took his petition under consideration. If it is denied, the commission then will proceed with rulings on the city's applications.

15 TO SEEK SURVEYOR'S POST.

Fifteen persons will take the state examination for land surveyor on Friday and Saturday, it was announced yesterday.

20,000 CHILDREN, 11 TO 16, JOIN CHINA'S RED ARMY

Waifs Are Given Political and Military Training.

BY HALDORE HANSON.

SIAN, Shensi Province, Northwest China, Jan. 24.—(AP)—"Little Devils" is the proud title of more than 20,000 homeless urchins and runaways who have joined the Chinese 8th army [formerly called the Red army] in the fight against Japan.

Aged 11 to 16 years, these waifs are too small to carry guns and are given jobs as buglers, messengers, mess boys, theater actors, and first aid workers.

They wear discarded uniforms—sometimes at least three sizes too large for them—but receive the same food and wages as the regular soldiers [$1 in Chinese currency, or about 16½ cents in American currency, a month].

"Better than Starving."

The "little devils" are the gayest creatures in every army camp.

"Being a devil is much more fun than starving on our farm," one sun tanned bugler said.

He ran away from home at the age of 12 to join the army of Gen. Chu Teh, the Red commander in chief. Today this boy considers himself a very important individual because he is allowed to carry the only watch at the 8th army headquarters.

Most of the "little devils" had no education before they joined the army. They are required to attend literacy classes each morning from the day they enlist.

Famous for Hardiness.

They are famous for their ability to withstand hardships. This correspondent saw one barefoot urchin, 14 years old, walk forty-three miles in a day, accompanying a group of officers on horseback. When camp was made, about 9 p. m., he still was chirping like a squirrel as he made the officers' beds.

These boys sit together in the evening, seriously debating some problem in military strategy or political science which they learned from their teachers in the morning.

In every army camp the "Little Devils" have their own military organizations and elect their own officers. They swear to follow a code of honor similar to that of the Boy Scouts in the United States. They are forbidden to smoke or drink wine.

Hundreds of boys who joined the old Red army in the days of the civil war now are high officers in the Eighth army.

The "Little Devils" through their army training become the most trustworthy element in the fighting forces. For that reason, the commanding officers choose their bodyguards from their ranks.

Report Japs Occupy Island.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 25 [Wednesday].—(AP)—A Reuters [British news agency] dispatch from Chungking today said Japanese had occupied Waichow Island, off Pakhoi, presumably establishing a base as a prelude to an attempted assault on Pakhoi. The latter city is 350 miles southwest of Hongkong in Kwangtung province and near French Indo-China.

Heavy fighting was under way on the outskirts of Kingshan, in the center of Hupeh province, eighty miles northwest of Hankow. The Chinese were trying desperately to block the Japanese advance northwestward.

The Japanese occupied Kingshan Sunday, but a Chinese counterattack drove the invaders out. The Japanese then received reinforcements and, after twenty-four hours' fighting, took the city a second time.

Japanese planes twice raided Shangcheng in southeast Honan province. They dropped forty bombs and destroyed 100 houses. There were numerous casualties. Japanese planes also bombed the city of Honan.

Russian Negotiations Stir Europe.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Jan. 24.—European diplomats are excited over reports of secret negotiations between Russia and Germany for a nonaggression pact. Poland is reported to have acted as intermediary.

The result of the negotiations is said to hinge upon a commitment by Reischfuehrer Hitler that Germany will discontinue support to Ukrainian circles, who hope to establish an independent Ukrainian state.

In addition to the political negotiations Germany is reported ready to renew and enlarge the trade agreement it signed with Russia last year. It is reported that when the present visit of the Polish trade delegation to Moscow ends the arrival there of a German delegation is expected.

Beck to Explain Policy.

Col. Josef Beck, Polish foreign minister, is expected to make his annual address to the Polish parliament shortly after the visit to Warsaw this week of Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister.

The possibility of Jewish emigration is occupying much space in government newspapers on the eve of Von Ribbentrop's visit. Eugene Kwiatkowski, vice premier, finance minister and protégé of President Ignace Moscicki, in answer to questions in parliament today, said Poland was seeking new territory to which its Jews could migrate and that success soon would attend the search.

Six Nations Unite in Drive.

One diplomat in Warsaw recalled the "black hundred" in Russia who staged Jewish pogroms under the slogan, "Beat Jews, save Russia!" He said this now is being paraphrased by Germany and Poland into "Expel Jews and get colonies."

Germany, Poland, Italy, Jugo-Slavia, Hungary and Czecho-Slovakia already are said to be united in this campaign. Poland and Germany now are trying to put pressure on Rumania and the Baltic states to begin campaigns to deprive Jewish minorities of citizenship rights, restrict them in the professions and other occupations and force them to seek asylum abroad. More than 5,000,000 Jews are affected by this campaign.

SEEKS REMOVAL OF PROSECUTOR IN KANSAS CITY

Governor Renews Attack on Crime Center.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark, who recently ordered a general cleanup of crime and corruption in Kansas City, today ripped into officialdom here with a demand that the county prosecutor be ousted from office.

The governor's new denunciation of Prosecutor W. W. Graves Jr., the second in a month, came on the eve of a grand jury investigation which will inquire into reasons why Democratically controlled Kansas City has acquired a reputation as one of the most politically corrupt cities in the country.

Governor Is Foe of Boss.

Stark, a Democratic factional foe of Thomas J. Pendergast, boss of Kansas City, charged that the Pendergast supported prosecutor had been guilty of such conduct as would warant his immediate removal from office. He said he hoped the grand jury, convening tomorrow, would look into Graves' official actions.

The governor's attack on Graves followed the prosecutor's request that Attorney General Roy McKittrick aid his office in an investigation of crime in Kansas City. Stark indicated that Graves had waited so long before doing his duty that he could not expect belief in his sincerity now.

"I am amazed," the governor said, "that Prosecuting Attorney Graves, after all these years, suddenly has become interested in investigating crime conditions in Kansas City and has called upon the attorney general to assist the grand jury which Judge Allen C. Southern has convened."

Asks for Removal.

Stark charged that the prosecutor's continued failure to move against ghastly felonies justifies his immediate removal from office.

A month ago the governor denounced Graves for dismission long pending assault charges against Charles Gargotta, Kansas City political figure. Stark said the dismissal, after twenty-seven continuances, was an example of the combination of politics and crime now operating in Kansas City.

Gargotta formerly was an associate of John Lazia, powerful Kansas City political leader who was slain by gangsters in July, 1934. In recommending that the charges be dismissed, Graves said he doubted the state has sufficient evidence to convict despite the face Gargotta had been caught at the scene of a gang execution.

Hunt Gambling Head.

Meantime, Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves, who broke the notorious 1936 vote fraud cases here, ordered a federal grand jury to get the big man in Kansas City gambling circles.

The grand jury, which is continuing its long investigation of vote frauds, has one of the government's most effective weapons—the income tax evasion statute—which sent many other notorious gang leaders to Alcatraz prison.

Judge Reeves did not name the gambling leader to whom he referred, but gave the jury considerable information about the man.

As a sample of the gambler's operations, the judge told figures obtained by a federal investigator. They showed that the big man took more than $30,000 from one gambling establishment in less than a year.

The federal investigator mentioned by Judge Reeves visited nearly half of the city's 100 or more gambling houses and at each one was informed he would have to see the big man if he wanted to open a joint, the jury was told.

CERMAN-POLISH AGREEMENT ENDS ROW OVER JEWS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—A German-Polish agreement was reached today concerning the deportation of Polish Jews from Germany. The agreement provides that no further deportations will be ordered and that all deportations which have been carried out to date will be reëxamined.

[A Warsaw dispatch reported that the German government had agreed to permit Polish Jews expelled from Germany to return to the reich to liquidate their property. The Polish government agreed, it was said, that families of expelled Jews still living in Germany would be permitted to join their husbands and fathers in Poland.]

In October Germany sent thousands of Polish Jews over the German-Polish border. The action was in retaliation for a new Polish citizenship law requiring the registration of Poles abroad. Berlin said it feared the Jews would be left stranded in Germany without citizenship.

U. S. AWAITS NAZI ANSWER TO SIXTH PROTEST ON JEWS

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The American embassy awaited a reply tonight to the sixth note Washington has sent the German government concerning the status of American Jews under Nazi anti-Semitic laws.

Assurances were requested from Germany that American citizens would not be affected by a decree, promulgated Jan. 17 and effective Jan. 31, prohibiting Jewish veterinarians from practicing and limiting the practice of Jewish dentists and druggists to Jewish patients and institutions.

The request, in a note delivered last night to the German foreign office, was regarded as having been made as a matter of principle rather than because many American Jews would be affected. No estimate was available of that number.

BRITAIN BUILDS 'OVERALLS ARMY' FOR DUTY IN WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Great Britain today hastened preparations for war. Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's government announced plans for building an industrial "overalls army" of 6,000,000 men. The announcement came on the heels of yesterday's plea by Chamberlain for 30,000,000 recruits between the ages of 14 and 65 for a civil defense army.

The ministry of labor which is in charge of the new scheme described it as "selective recruitment." Under the plan workers between the ages of 18 and 64 would be placed in such occupations as munitions, defense, and public service industries in wartime.

About half of the country's working population is included in the list. However, about 3,000,000 are over 45 years of age. Only about one in five of men between the ages of 18 and 25 is affected.

Omitted in the scheme are clerical workers, workers in building trades, warehouse workers, porters, packers, merchants, entertainers, salesmen, restaurant and hotel employés, and general laborers.

THE WAR SCARE AND ITS USES.

Mr. Chamberlain dramatically used the British Broadcasting system to warn the people that they must prepare for war and do it now. There is threat of another Hitler mobilization next month. Thirty million Britons must be mustered into a civilian defense army. They haven't much chance to distinguish rational preparedness from political manipulation. Fear is a powerful argument for the ministry.

The British householder who follows the advice of his government is keeping his empty pickle jars and saucepans full of water and the housewife is using floor space in the wardrobes for nonperishable foodstuffs. Sir Auckland Geddes, adviser to the minister for civilian defense, in a speech urged the people to store a little food and keep a reserve supply of water in the houses in case the emergency feeding service should fail or the water mains should be broken.

Mr. Chamberlain apparently is aware that a war scare dramatically exploited is as good as a majority in parliament. The English population was given a strong dose of anti-gas attack preparations during the September crisis and its political effect was all in favor of the appeasement and the umbrella. No one tells the English that both in China and in Spain the destruction from the air has been proof to military observers that the bombing of civilians is a waste of money and military effort, more likely to exhaust the attackers than the attacked.

The war scare is used in the United States to bolster the Roosevelt-Eccles financial theory of deficit solvency and prosperous bankruptcy. In Great Britain it is used to protect the Chamberlain government from opposition attack. A scared people is supposed to be easily handled.

David Darrah of THE TRIBUNE foreign service reports from London that not only is Mr. Chamberlain's manipulation of public anxieties being felt at home but it is being exported to the United States, where it serves two purposes. The cultivated apprehension helps Mr. Roosevelt in his internal affairs and it will enable him solemnly to repeat the words Mr. Wilson used when he admonished congress, saying that unless he had his way—and it happened to be the wise one then—in the matter of Panama canal tolls he would be unable to handle matters of far graver concern, meaning a conflict with Japan.

Many Britishers now think that Mr. Chamberlain is scaring them to death in order that he may tighten the Fascist controls upon British politics and keep the democratic opposition far from the throne, alongside which he will stand alone as the government of Great Britain and the empire.

On our side of the water we find a deliberate attempt to arouse hostile feeling in Japan against the United States. The proposal to fortify Guam as a threatening spearhead less than 1,500 miles off the main coast of Japan has been booted about in mystery for a week or more, from the White House to the naval department and back again, but now it emerges as a specific proposal in a bill submitted for the navy by the chairman of the house naval affairs committee and in the senate by the chairman of the senate committee. Mr. Vinson, the house chairman, says it is an administration bill and contains the recommendation of Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, and Rear Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn of the naval board.

Furthermore, in spite of Mr. Roosevelt's mysterious ambiguities about the matter, information available at the White House is to the effect that the bills have been introduced for their political effect upon Japan, which can mean only that the Japanese are to be aroused to a fever pitch by a proposed American military maneuver which, if it were projected by Japan off the American coastline, would have precisely the same effect here that it will have across the Pacific.

Further proof of the purpose of the American government to inflame every possible international dispute until it boils at a fighting temperature is hardly to be required. It is a shocking thing that in a world apparently teetering on the verge of a general catastrophe an American administration for political purposes will seek provocations to war as a distraction from troubles at home.

THE BUILDING OF HOUSES.

There has been a considerable increase in residential construction in Chicago in recent months. Single family dwellings are now being produced in the city at a rate somewhat below that of the peak year, 1926, but about equal to that of 1929.

Numerous explanations can be offered to account for the improvement. It seems fair to say that among them one of the most important is the revision of the building code. From this it should follow that further revision as circumstances warant it will accelerate the movement.

In drafting a building code the politicians are disposed to listen to everybody except the interest which is most deeply concerned in the matter: the prospective owners. The suppliers and manufacturers of materials are consulted at every turn. So are the representatives of labor. The man who would like to build a house and wants to get a maximum of comfort and convenience for his money [for only on those terms can he be induced to build] is the forgotten man. In common sense he ought to come first and his desires should be met to the extent that the public welfare will permit. He should not be permitted to erect an insanitary dwelling nor one which will rapidly deteriorate or become a fire hazard, but beyond these limitations he should be given every encouragement to invest. Otherwise he will not erect a house or, if he does, he will probably do so in the suburbs where the regulations are less onerous.

The present building code shows some progress in the desired direction. Much more might be done along the same line to encourage the construction industry in the community.

CINDERELLA GIRL NO. 1.

Many a girl in the chorus has hoped for a part of the fortune of the bald head who sat in the same first row seat night after night. And there have been Cinderellas among the high kickers. But none have done as well as has Miss Helen Weyant of the chorus of "The Merry Malones" and "Three Cheers," under the will of Jacob Ruppert. It is more accurate to say that none have done as well as Miss Weyant would do if the government and the state of New York would be reasonable.

Miss Weyant has been willed a third interest in the New York Yankee baseball team, a third of one of the country's biggest breweries, and $300,000. The aggregate of the fortune in which she is to share has been estimated to be as much as 70 million dollars.

That was what the estate was thought to be worth at Mr. Ruppert's death. There were reasons for appraising some of the assets generously at the time. For the Yankee baseball club probably justified a top price after a series of most successful seasons, topped off with the last one. And considering the number who will be thirsty at the New York fair next summer one would get an impressive figure capitalizing the anticipated earnings of the town's biggest brewery. Anyhow, the bounce-back from the arid period no doubt gave Mr. Ruppert a nice trade in his beverage.

It is reasonable to assume that Mr. Ruppert's estate was worth more than ever before at the time of his death. These values may be sustained, and they may not. What will the Yankee ball club bring at an auction, when the executor gets around to selling it a year or more hence, if Di Maggio, Crosetti, and Gomez have a bad season this year, and the team falls into the class of the St. Louis Browns? And what will the brewery bring under the hammer if, lacking Mr. Ruppert's managerial genius, it becomes an unprofitable enterprise?

These are the questions which must be answered if Miss Weyant's wealth is not to be overestimated. For the government and the state will determine the taxes from an appraisal of the property at the death of Mr. Ruppert, while the taxes will be paid with what the property brings at a sale some time hence. If the estate is now worth 70 millions the taxes will amount to 58 millions. It is entirely possible that the assets will barely yield enough to pay the taxes, leaving nothing to be divided among Miss Weyant and the other two residuary legatees. Miss Weyant may be the No. 1 Cinderella girl, and again she may not be.

THE CASE OF THE CAVALIER.

The bravery of the crew of the Bermuda cruiser Cavalier will be generally praised but it should not obscure the fact that there was little evidence of preparation for emergency. Most obvious even to a layman was the fact that life belts were not put on although there was ample time for it after danger had developed. The passengers themselves had to make shift after they were in the water to tie the life preservers together and form a circle for mutual aid. Each should have had a preserver attached.

There was evidently no disciplined routine as is maintained on American planes, yet the Bermuda route is a stormy one and trouble should be foreseen and provided for as strictly as possible. Gallantry is admirable, but it does not do away with the need of forethought and preparedness.

The Bermuda line carries more Americans than British and the best conditions for safety should be insisted upon for all planes using our ports. Muddling through may be cherished by the English mind, but it does not appeal to us.

There should be expert American representation at the inquiry into this disaster. It seems inevitable that lives must be lost to drive home lessons that forethought might have taught less expensively. A thorough study of all the circumstances of this disaster should result in measures which will make this travel less hazardous. Luck had more to do with the relatively fortunate final outcome than intelligent preparation.

DOES IT MAKE YOUR HEAD SWIM?

[Detroit Free Press.]

Astronomers discovered that the sun is the center of the solar system of which the earth is a part.

Then they learned that the sun and its planets are a part of the vast galaxy we call the Milky Way.

Then they established the long suspected fact that the Milky Way is only one of many galaxies, some larger, some smaller than ours, and some so far away they are scarcely distinguishable through the most powerful glasses.

Now it is announced that the outstanding event of 1938 in astronomy was the discovery "of a super-structure of the cosmos" by the Harvard observatory.

It appears that four streams of "island universes" like the Milky Way have been found extending around space in what is described as a "double ring formation."

And the astronomers believe that if these streams could be seen from the outside they would be spiral shaped like the Milky Way.

In other words, the streams of galaxies make up a supergalaxy.

That, says Dr. Harlow Shapley, knocks out the theory that universes are uniformly distributed throughout space.

It also leads one to question whether there may not be super-supergalaxies and super-super-supergalaxies and "so ad infinitum."

IN MEMORY OF ROBERT BURNS.

This is Bobby Burns' day—the 180th anniversary of the birth of a poet who was reared in a poor cottage, who spent his boyhood at the plow, who wrote, for the most part, in a difficult rustic dialect, but whom the whole world has taken to its heart. The verse writers of this column will pay tribute to his memory below. Our own observance of the day, since there seems to be no haggis eating banquet in sight, will be to take down from our bookshelves the little volume of his poems that we have kept since our high school period, and read a few of the old, familiar lyrics. Perhaps the following lines, too, which are Burns' "Epitaph to a Friend":

An honest man here lies at rest,
As e'er God with His image blest;
The friend of man, the friend of truth;
The friend of age, and guide of youth;
Few hearts like his, with virtue warmed,
Few heads with knowledge so informed:
If there's another world, he lives in bliss;
If there is none, he made the best of this.

Where Was Metropolitan Hall?

Stand with me in the southwest corner of the fence around Court House Square in 1860 A. D., near the cast iron fountain, and look northwestward. Pass your gaze briefly over two ladies in balloon skirts, the hemispheres of which meet the grassless earth of the square; ignore Grommes & Ullrich's wassail warehouse across the street if you can; tilt your eye around a scraggly tree; and above the swirl of prancing mares, stolid drays and dragging horse cars look at the three story Eastman National Business college on the northwest corner of Randolph and La Salle streets. Those high windows of the third story used to be known as Metropolitan Hall, where was held the 100th birthday concert of Robert Burns in 1859.

Two Elms Share Championship.

Allen B. Cook of the Connecticut park and forest commission is the authority for the following comparative table of measurements of the Wethersfield, Mass., elm and the Rathbone elm at Marietta, O.:

Circumference.	Wethersfield.	Rathbone.
Ground level	48	50
1 ft. up	38	38
2 ft. up	32-6	33
3 ft. up	30	30
4 ft. up	29-6	32
5 ft. up	30-6	38
6 ft. up	32	48

Photographs demonstrate the pronounced hourglass shape of the trunk of the Rathbone elm as indicated in this table, and also the statement of authorities that it is unwise to argue that either is the larger tree. The heights are practically the same. The spread of the Wethersfield elm is the greater, but the bulk of the two trees appears to be equal.

AILMENTS WHICH RESPOND TO FEVER.

OUR experience with artificial fever has supplied considerable information upon which some estimate of its remedial value may be based. Although recommended to a limited extent by ancient writers, only in the last twelve years has it been possible to safeguard high temperatures so that life would not be in danger. Even today the process is not foolproof, which means that it cannot be used by all and sundry; neither can it be employed for every malady.

It is essential at the outset that every patient shall be physically able to withstand the treatment. In other words, is the "cure" worse than the disease? As a precautionary measure, therefore, a careful examination—coupled with special laboratory tests—is insisted upon. Any individual who falls into the group termed "a poor surgical risk" is likewise unfit for the induction of a high temperature.

How is the plan carried out? Under the supervision of an expert—operating an accurately regulated apparatus—the heat of the body is raised to 105 or even 107 degrees and maintained at that figure for from two to five hours—sometimes longer. It is important that the patient shall drink sufficient water to replace fluid loss and that the circulation of conditioned air about the body shall be adequate. Salt water is given by mouth as body minerals are excreted with the perspiration.

An account from a St. Louis hospital records the fact that 1,300 treatments have been administered to 290 patients without a single fatality, although some twenty persons were excused from further participation for various reasons—largely complicating bodily ailments.

The question naturally arises: "What diseases are altered for the better by such a drastic procedure?" It is known that a reasonable percentage of victims of syphilis of the nervous system will be benefited. The spirochetes which are responsible do not stand heat at all well. In fact, a level that is but a few degrees above normal has been known to be curative. Not only will the severe stabbing distress [lightning pains] of locomotor ataxia be eased, but such lesions as paralysis of the bladder may be greatly ameliorated. In other words, the affliction known as tabes dorsalis is better handled by this régime than any other so far devised. Affections of the eyes should also be mentioned and those who suffer from optic atrophy, iritis, or any other difficulty of syphilitic origin may be relieved of severe manifestations.

The disorder known as Sydenham's chorea—which usually affects children—responds satisfactorily. The duration of the attack is greatly shortened and the incidence of heart involvement—one of the dreaded complications—is far less. A baffling affection of the spinal cord, known as multiple sclerosis, is influenced favorably in some instances. One report indicates that fifteen men and women—all in an advanced stage—were improved although the restoration to health was far from normal.

We may look upon this method of cooking the tissues as offering a goodly chance for comfort—if not cure—in those chronic, otherwise hopeless conditions wherein drugs appear to exercise but little influence. Infection with the gonococcus which has failed to react to the accepted type of management—including the new coal tar drug [sulfanilamide]—may be subdued by this therapy. In rheumatic fevers particularly—as most of us have learned—the illness runs its course, but with a sharp increase in the heat level that is sustained by artificial means at suitable periods much alleviation may come about.

At any rate, the measure should be considered along with older forms of treatment. Just what occurs is not known. It appears, however, that the fighting power of the blood is augmented and that in all probability fresh neutralizing chemical bodies are manufactured.

DEVELOP POISE.

Mrs. E. writes: What is the matter with my daughter, aged 26, who becomes panic stricken over inconsequential things?

REPLY.

She should learn to develop poise and acquire a healthy mental attitude. Very often a psychiatrist will be able to get at the basis of such fears. We have an article on this subject which will appear soon.

MASSAGE WON'T CURE.

S. S. writes:
1. Will massage cure bowlegs?
2. Is there some other method?

REPLY.

1. No.
2. Although surgery in the hands of an expert may prove successful, the condition disturbs only one's vanity. Why not leave well enough alone?

YES; IT PREVENTS ATROPHY.

D. C. writes: Is massage advisable after a stroke? What preparation should be used for the skin?

REPLY.

Paralyzed muscles should be exercised to prevent atrophy. Inasmuch as nerve control has been lost the only alternative is to practice manipulation and massage. Cocoa butter or cold cream may be used.

RECURRENCE UNLIKELY.

A. D. writes: Is it advisable for a woman who has been operated on for a tubal pregnancy to become pregnant again?

REPLY.

Since ectopic pregnancies are not common, the possibility of a second episode is quite remote.

CLEANING TEETH.

J. O. writes: How often should the teeth be cleaned by a dentist?

REPLY.

With some as frequently as every three to six months. Much depends upon the rate at which deposits form.

HEART RHYTHM.

R. writes: What is meant by "rhythm" of the heart?

REPLY.

The regularity and rate of the beat.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY ARTHUR SCHOLES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONGKONG.—This British colony's trade figures for November present an interesting study. Canton fell in October and immediately the prophets of doom arose. Yet the November trade was only 9.4 per cent below that of November of 1937.

Canton and its districts are of unquestioned importance to Hongkong. The effects of China's loss of Canton still have to make themselves felt in Hongkong. The trade totals for November for the last three years have been $28,030,000, $34,760,000, and $31,660,000, so that November 1938 contrasts favorably with November 1936, before the war began. That means the prosperity in Hongkong of 1937 and the first part of 1938 was war boom and not normal. Unfortunately there are a few hundred thousand more mouths to feed in Hongkong now and boom conditions have become esesntial, and in any analysis the comfort afforded by comparison must be discounted.

It is necessary to examine sources and destinations to get the precise importance of Canton and the West river. The figures for 1937 may be ignored, as they include the munitions trade with South China. With South China in 1936 the colony's trade was, excluding treasure, $58,500,000 and that was 21 per cent of the total of $267,700,000. Most of this trade was reëxport to many destinations, and therefore it appears twice in the aggregate.

The actual loss of the elimination of South China therefore would be 42 per cent of the whole, not 21 per cent, and according to the present position, the problem of replacing this loss seems to defy all the colony's ingenuity.

For statistics South China includes Canton, Hoihow, Kongmoon, Wuchow, Kiungchow, and Yunnan. It does not include French Kwangchowan, Indo-China, Formosa, Swabue, Swatow, Amoy, Foochow, or Hankow. Separate figures for Canton and the river ports are not issued. Possibly the net loss to Hongkong may not be as much as 20 per cent of its total trade, though it cannot be regarded by business men here with complacency.

Invisible trade will assist the colony to carry on and a movement is afoot to develop local industries. Though raw materials must be imported, the low manufacturing cost and the British preferential tarif are a good incentive to draw capital here. Hongkong's home consumption is small, but even this will repay enterprise and there is reasonable prospect of capturing some of the markets formerly served by South China and Japan.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

EASEMENT.

Oak Park, Ill., Jan. 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I was bequeathed farm land by will. I have a right of way over land covered by the will. The specific wording of the will concerning the right of way is as follows:

1. "A. E. ¼ of S. E. ¼ [etc.]—attending 40 acres, more or less, provided, however, the subject to an easement for and as [2] a means of ingress and egress to the public highway over a strip of land sixteen feet in width along the east side of above described property for the benefit and sole use of the owner of the following described tract of land, via: [description]. Said easement to continue until such time as ingress or egress may be had to said property by means of a street or highway."

3. How do I exercise my right of way?
4. Am I allowed to fence off that sixteen feet?
5. Is my tenant permitted to drive over the property regardless of crops planted?
6. Can the right of way ever expire?
7. The new owner [under the will] does not live here and I can get nothing definite from him as to arrangements.

E. C. B.

1. It is not clear whether this is the land bequeathed to you.
2. Is the right of way over your land for some other person, or over some other person's land for you? Who originally owned both parcels? The facts are confusing.
3. Simply by going in and out.
4. The wording does not specify, hence the answer would depend on what is reasonable and this would, in turn, depend on the surrounding circumstances.
5. In general, yes. Presumably the owner of the servient tenement should not plant along the right of way unless he was willing to run this risk.
6. Twenty years adverse use in defiance of the right of way would terminate the easement.
7. All that would seem necessary would be to go ahead using it.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

RENT ARREARS.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have not been able to meet my rent on the first of every month. After advising the agents of the building the cause of delinquency and promising them I would take care of September and October rent in October [which I did] they nevertheless placed the matter in the hands of a lawyer who on Sept. 30 addressed an envelope direct to my company containing a form letter commencing with [1] "we have secured a judgment in the above entitled case against one of your employés covering past due rent on an apartment. Preparations have been made to enforce collection of the judgment by garnisheeing his earnings with you, etc."

2. There is nothing in my lease indicating that these people could garnishee my salary if I was only one month behind.
3. Legally, can judgment be entered against an individual when a bill is only thirty days old?
4. Can a lawyer, legally, write the employer threatening garnishment if bill is not immediately paid?
5. What is the minimum amount on which garnishment action can be taken?
6. How can I secure judgment number?

H. R. T.

1. We assume from this that your lease contains the common clause authorizing the entering of judgment by confession without serving a summons.
2. We have never seen a contract expressly authorizing garnishment. The right to garnishment attaches as a matter of law.
3. Yes.
4. Yes.
5. There is no minimum debt, but there is a wage exemption of $20 per week to the head of a family.
6. Ask the creditor for the name of the court and the number of the case. If he has not taken judgment, then the serving of a garnishee demand notice would be improper.

METEORITES IN ILLINOIS.

Quincy, Ill., Jan. 19.—In last SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE you had a story of a meteorite which fell in Benld, Ill., and also mentioned the fact that another meteorite fell near Tilden, Ill., July 13, 1927.

The fall near Tilden was hailed at the time as being the first meteorite to have fallen in Illinois according to all records.

This is absolutely a mistake. I have in my possession a 32 pound iron stone meteorite which fell in this city July 6, 1895, and which was seen to fall by several people who lived near the corner of 9th and Spring streets, the location of the fall. The big stone fell during a storm, coming down through a maple tree, and was accompanied by a loud noise and bright flash. Very soon after the fall when the storm had abated somewhat the people in the neighborhood went out to see what had happened and found the heavy mass partly inbedded in the gutter, as it had driven the gutter stones deeper into the ground.

The meteorite was carried into the home of ex-Mayor John H. Best, long since deceased, where it remained for a number of years. I obtained it from him. The newspapers of the city gave the unusual occurrence wide publicity and much interest was aroused among the people of the city, many reporting later that they had heard the noise of the approaching meteorite and what seemed to be a loud explosion before it finally hit the earth. The stone has the usual appearance on its surface of having been highly heated during its passage through the atmosphere.

I also have in my possession a much smaller meteorite which was seen to pass across the state of Illinois from northeast to southwest and which finally fell near Palmyra, Mo. This occurrence was broadcast over WOC with a request to hear from any one who had noticed its flight, which was about 5:30 o'clock in the evening, Jan. 18, 1926. Letters were received from persons in various parts of the state who had seen the meteor passing through the air and who described it very similarly. This is one of the finest specimens I have seen anywhere.

LOREN C. COX.

POSSIBLY IT WAS HIS FATHER.

Franklin Park, Ill., Jan. 16.—On Sunday, Jan. 15, as I and my family were driving on Higgins road west, approaching the Soo railway viaduct, I witnessed this incident: A small boy, who was sliding down the incline of the viaduct, stopped and hurriedly threw a snowball at a passing motorist. It apparently struck some part of the car. The motorist got out and pursued the lad, who got away. But he left his sled; so the motorist calmly picked up the boy's new sled and took it with him as he drove off.

I'm wondering if the boy will ever recover his sled. Yes, he erred by throwing snowballs at passing motorists, but should the penalty be the loss of his sled? Was that man, or can you call him a man, ever a boy? While feeling the boy did some wrong, my sympathy is for the boy, and I'm wondering just who the man could be that would be so small as to pull a trick like that.

SONJA AND SHIRLEY.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Among movie stars, Sonja Henie a few weeks ago was the highest ranking in box office attendance [next to little Shirley Temple] among women. Yet in the "Movie Queen" contest she was not even pictured as a candidate. How could many of her admirers vote for her? Why these Goebbel's methods.

ARCHIE TORRENS.

PREPARE WITHIN REASON.

East Chicago, Ind., Jan. 20.—President Wilson was criticized for throwing America into a war unprepared. President Roosevelt is criticized for trying to prepare for war; so what can a President do to satisfy the people in America if war should come?

R. L. ROBERTS.

FOR A SECOND-HAND TAX.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—How many times does a person have to pay sales tax on a purchase? I have recently made purchases from a rummage sale and a salvage shop. On both I was charged sales tax, yet both places are advertised to be run for the benefit of sweet charity. Some of their stock undoubtedly was purchased originally at a time before the sales tax was in force. Still there were plenty of articles that were recent enough to have called for the tax on their first purchase. On those at least 6 per cent would have been collected by the addition of a tax when they are sold second-hand. If I wanted to sell any again and charge another 3 per cent that would make 9 per cent on the dollar. Could any one tell me why this is so? At the places mentioned they just said they had to charge the tax. As a second-hand article rarely gives the service it would if it were new, let's have a second-hand tax put on it, not the same tax you would pay if you were buying it new and first-hand, say 1½ per cent. The larger the family the more sales tax a parent has to pay. Buying some one's left offs doesn't help much either.

HONESTLY POOR.

THE REFUGEE PROBLEM.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—I read an article in one of our community papers the other day where members of certain societies here are sponsors for seventy-five refugees who arrived here in this community from Europe in the last few months and have also obtained employment for a great number of them.

They also state that they are making provisions to receive a great number more of them in the near future and have signed affidavits to the effect that they will be cared for when they arrive here.

Now the thing that confuses me is this, that we have thousands of our own American-born here who are high school and college graduates who are out of work and cannot buy a job and those immigrants come over here and cannot speak or understand the American language and are given employment immediately.

REQUEST FOR A CARTOON.

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 18.—I wonder if it would be possible to have you reprint the cartoon by Gaar Williams entitled "Something Ought to Be Done About This," where the bird says, "Some folks put out a lot of bird furniture in summer, but not a crumb in winter." I have used my copy so many Januaries to teach children in school to be thoughtful of birds in winter that it is indeed yellow and frayed. Thank you for any effort you may make to comply with this request.

8 JURORS PICKED FOR 2D TRIAL OF JAMES J. HINES

New York, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Eight jurors, chosen after cautious questioning by both state and defense, were seated tonight at the end of the second day of the second trial of James J. Hines, Tammany leader charged with selling political protection to the Dutch Schultz policy racket gang.

Approximately thirty of the talesmen were excused for cause. District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey used nine of his twenty-four peremptory challenges and Lloyd Paul Stryker, chief of defense counsel, twelve.

There was little conflict between counsel, but when Dewey used a peremptory challenge to eliminate a Tammany district captain and remarked he did not want to "waste the time of the court," Stryker protested and Judge Charles C. Nott Jr. called the remark improper.

A mistrial ended Hines' first trial last September, when Justice Ferdinand Pecora ruled a question put to a witness by Dewey was improper.

NINTH MEMBER OF BOY BURGLAR GANG ARRESTED

Town Hall police yesterday arrested John Private, 12 years old, as they continued their investigation of a gang of young burglars rounded up Sunday and Monday. They also added three burglaries to the gang's list, bringing the total to nineteen.

The Private boy, who lives at 3307 North Clark street, admitted taking part in three burglaries, police said. In each instance most of the loot was taken from telephone coin boxes. He and eight other members of the gang will be taken into Juvenile court Feb. 8. The others, whose ages range from 11 to 14, include a girl. All are being held in the Juvenile home.

PRESIDENT ASKS NEW SETUP AND POLICY FOR FCC

Regards Communications Rule Unsatisfactory.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today called upon congress to revamp the legal framework and administrative machinery of the Federal Communications commission.

In letters to Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] and Representative Clarence F. Lea [D., Cal.], chairmen respectively of the senate and house interstate commerce committees, Mr. Roosevelt said that he is thoroughly dissatisfied with the present functioning of the commission.

At his press conference he explained that the commission lacks a definite policy. At the time it was created, he said, congress gave the commission a job to do but nothing as to how it should be done.

Wants Newspaper Ownership Policy.

In response to questions Mr. Roosevelt said he felt that the new policy should cover ownership of radio stations by newspapers. He said he had no definite policy in mind, but was sure that everybody would be happier if they knew what the policy was.

He also said the policy should cover such questions as network control and multiple ownership of stations. He said it would also embrace other phases of radio and telegraphic communications. In the latter case the problem would be easier, because there are only three operating companies.

Norman S. Case, Republican member of the commission, interpreted the President's request to congress as calling for a congressional investigation of the commission. He said it appeared to him that the White House had abandoned its policy of opposing an investigation and rejoiced that if hearings could be held the commission's affairs would be straightened out.

Subject of Charges.

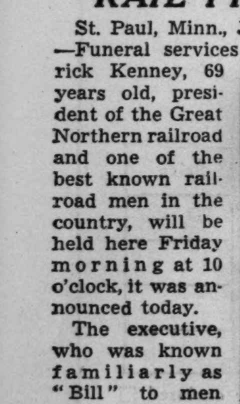
The commission has been an administration sore spot in that it has functioned under smoldering charges of playing political favorites and succumbing to blandishments. The reports became so persistent the President put Frank R. McNinch of the federal power commission in as chairman to effect a house cleaning. It was reported McNinch suggested the congressional revamping.

Senator Wallace H. White [R., Me.], who helped draft the original FCC act, said he believed some reorganization might be done to advantage. He said he would withhold proposals of his own until he saw what the administration has in mind.

Mr. Roosevelt indicated the administration will ask through McNinch for a three or five man commission to replace the seven man commission. He hinted he was for greater centralization of responsibility.

FUNERAL FRIDAY FOR W. P. KENNEY, RAIL PRESIDENT

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Funeral services for William Patrick Kenney, 69 years old, president of the Great Northern railroad and one of the best known railroad men in the country, will be held here Friday morning at 10 o'clock, it was announced today.



William P. Kenney.

The executive, who was known familiarly as "Bill" to men with whom he had railroaded 52 years, died in St. Joseph's hospital this morning. He had been ill for several weeks. He was one of the James J. Hill trained executives of the Great Northern and was known as the line's star salesman. He spent thirty-seven years with that road.

Surviving Kenney are his widow, two sons, Charles T. Kenney, superintendent of the Willmar, Minn., division of the Great Northern, and William C. Kenney of St. Paul, and two daughters, Mrs. Henry L. Orme of St. Paul, and Mrs. Francis Sullivan of Duluth.

CLERK'S SCHEME TO SAVE HOTEL'S MONEY COSTLY

Officials of the Carlton Terrace hotel at 4626 Magnolia avenue discovered $300 was missing from the till last evening. They asked police to arrest Jay J. Griffith, the clerk. Detective Sergeant Peter Harlib found Griffith had gone to work in a cab and traced him to the Mark Twain hotel at 111 West Division street, where Harlib arrested him with Mrs. Evelyn McCoy, 37 years old, of 4550 North Racine avenue.

Griffith, who is 41, told this story, police said: Yesterday afternoon he went to the room of Miss Helen Bradle, 23, in the Carlton Terrace. Fearing to leave the $195 that was in the till while he was away, he took it with him. After a few drinks he couldn't find it. He returned to the office, took $105 more, and left. The police took Miss Bradle into custody for questioning.

Four Boys Seized After Binding Robbery Victim

Four colored boys, armed with razors and revolvers, were captured after a police chase last night at 44th street and South Park avenue. Fred Willis Jr., colored, owner of the car in which they were riding was found bound and gagged on the car floor. He said the boys had robbed him. They also admitted taking $10 from Miss Nellie Sweeney, ticket agent at the Vincennes avenue elevated railway station.

DROP SUIT TO VOID $2,250,000 WILL OF MRS. ADA SAWYER

Public Administrator Martin J. O'Brien yesterday withdrew the petition he filed in the Probate court last Oct. 20 to void the $2,250,000 will of Mrs. Ada Sawyer Garrett, who was known as Chicago's Hetty Green. If the will had been set aside the action would have voided bequests of one million dollars to Jason Paige Jr., 28 years old, of Glencoe, her second cousin, and $220,000 to charity.

O'Brien had asserted that the old Merchants Loan and Trust company had been named executor and that all the witnesses were connected with the bank. This, he said, was against public policy in that the bank and the witnesses would have benefited.

The Merchants Trust, however, is one of the institutions which, through mergers, now forms part of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company. O'Brien yesterday told Judge John F. O'Connell that his charges have been proved groundless. The judge gave him permission to withdraw the petition. Mrs. Garrett died last June 18 at the age of 82 years.

Dr. Nelson said the spread of trichinosis is unrecognized and is a nation wide problem. He said some sixty diseases have been confused with trichinosis.

From a pamphlet of instructions as to what to wear to the San Francisco Fair, sent to the Illinois chapter of the American Institute of Decorators and read aloud by Harold Darling amid roars of laughter:

"For the man visitor to the Fair regulation business suits in dark colors are the smartest. . . . There's always vest-removal for warm midday, but keep the coat buttoned! San Francisco's not a shirt sleeve city."

Runner-up for Da Vinci.

Dr. Gregory Zilboorg was in town the other day at the Blackstone, a man in his early forties whom an admirer says makes Leonardo da Vinci look like a man with a one track mind. Dr. Zilboorg is returning Feb. 7 to talk on Psychoanalysis and History in the current public lecture series under the auspices of the Chicago Institute for Psychoanalysis. Dr. Frank Alexander, institute director, says Zilboorg is a tournament chess player of ability and that his camera pictures have won him awards in international exhibitions. He also is an architect and a builder, having himself designed and constructed the buildings on his farm home in Westchester county, New York. He is a breeder of prize winning Guernseys; he is a director of research for the committee on the study of suicide. He has written and translated numerous books, both popular and scientific, and now is at work on a history of psychiatry. In 1921 he did an English adaptation of He Who Gets Slapped, which had a successful run with the Theater Guild and was later made into a movie. In his youth he was a journalist in Russia, and was for a time a member of Kerensky's cabinet.

"Bowl On!"

Favorite memory of the winter to one Chicagoan (J. M. Carduff) is of one of the dancers in the Russian ballet entering the Congress hotel drug store, slipping out of a fur coat, hanging it up, gliding to the fountain counter and saying in a deep, musical voice: "Give it to me, zup."

South America, Africa Attract More Travelers

BY JUDITH CASS.

WITH travel to Europe not as heavy as heretofore, Africa and South America are appearing with greater frequency on travelers' itineraries. Kenya, in Africa, is the ultimate destination of Mr. and Mrs. Hayden B. Harris and their daughter, Miss Valeria Harris, who sailed recently for Italy. They were in Rome last week and now are in Cairo, where they will spend about a week.

From Cairo the Harrises will go by water to Mombasi and Nairobi, which is a handsome colonial capital, rich with tropical flowers and Transvaal atmosphere. The Harrises are interested particularly in the Kruger National park, a game preserve where Mr. and Miss Harris will do some big game shooting, with cameras, however, instead of guns. They hope to bring back something alive, too, for Chicago's Brookfield zoo. They contributed five cases of snakes and some bats to the zoo last winter after a West Indies trip.

The Harrises are armed with information and letters of introduction from the Herbert Bradleys and Harry Snyder, who are familiar with African jungle life as well as its more civilized side. Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln S. Harris and their baby, Gale, are occupying his parents' apartment for the four months Mr. and Mrs. Harris and their daughter will be away.

Cape to Cairo Trip Popular.

Travel in Africa today is very different than it was forty years ago when a Cambridge undergraduate left the cape to walk to Cairo alone. It took him two years to complete the perilous trip and he was the first white man to cross Africa from end to end.

Since then the development of transportation in Africa has been so rapid that the 6,000 mile Cairo-to-Cape route, requiring from six to fourteen weeks, has become a tremendous tourist attraction. The trip is not so much one long journey as it is a succession of smaller trips, by road, rail and steamer. The scenery, people, and the conditions of life and travel are varied.

Bradleys, McCormicks to Visit Guatemala.

The Herbert Bradleys and the Chauncey McCormicks leave Chicago Monday for New Orleans to sail on Wednesday for Guatemala. When they return to New Orleans in about a fortnight the foursome will take a train for San Francisco. They will reach there several days after the opening of the exposition on Feb. 18. They will have been away just about a month when they return to Chicago.

Edward F. Swifts Visit New Zealand.

The Edward F. Swifts are seeing New Zealand this winter, having sailed westward some weeks ago, to be away until April 1. The Leander J. McCormicks, who considered going with the Swifts, decided to remain in Chicago. Their daughter, Miss Marie Blanche de Brotonne McCormick, is studying drama at the Goodman Theater school.

The McCormicks were planning a debut for her this winter, but Miss McCormick is studying seriously for the stage. The only debut she wants is one behind the footlights.

Mrs. John W. Beckwith and Mrs. Anna Boal Wickes of Mount Vernon, Va., have gone to Mexico City for a winter vacation. Mrs. Beckwith will return the end of February.

Miss Rose Dickinson left Sunday for Mexico. She will be away several weeks visiting friends who have leased a house in Cuernavaca for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Laird Bell, who have moved to an apartment at 60 Scott street, had a house warming yesterday.

Many Give Parties for Joan Ford.

The two weeks preceding their marriage on Feb. 4 are filled with parties for Miss Joan Ford and her fiancé, Harger Rollo. Miss Madalon Search gave a kitchen shower and tea yesterday. Mrs. Louis G. Buss is entertaining at cocktails on Saturday.

Returns to Her Studies

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

When Miss Barbara Behrens posed in her debut gown she was in the midst of the gay parties of the Christmas holiday season. Now, however, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Behrens' daughter is back at her studies at Pine Manor. She will return to Chicago on March 25 for the Easter holiday.

The 'Little Girl' Streamline Is Here to Stay

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Sleek streamlines for daytime clothes have come to stay. Suits, two piece ensembles, and snappy dresses for afternoon all feature a typically American slenderness and smartness.

While new skirts are full, the fullness is around the lower edge; hips and waistline are neat, young looking and small. Bodices accentuate the smallness of the waist measurement and square cut, wide shoulder lines do some additional accenting.

A lot has been done with the little girl silhouettes. Don't ever think such clothes are as naively simple as they sound. It's the general look of dress that wins this "little girl" description. Deceptively unadorned and demurely gathered instead of being intricately tucked, folded, or draped, these dresses depend upon fine material and careful cutting to keep them crisp, prim, and demurely different.

Prints, solid colors, and combines of contrasting shades are effective mediums for this sort of dress. Prints are small and colorful and spattered against good background colors. Thick crêpes in flattering basic colors are ready for the costume accessory game to dress them up or down. The contrast stuff can be managed with soft draping down the front or side front using two unusual colors for the dramatics.

Necklines are high. A roguish bow appears at the front of some; others have a spanking white bow or frill of sheer organdy or a ruched collar of old-fashioned looking embroidery. If you're young, slim, and proportioned petitely these short skirted young fashions are right up your alley.

The Housewife

It's not necessary to scrub linoleum floors often if you keep them waxed and glossy. Nor do you need to rub hard in order to polish them. If you use one liquid gloss we know about you need only to spread it on and allow twenty minutes or so for it to dry. The linoleum will then be coated with a protecting covering and will be smooth and glossy, too.

Instead of scrubbing it, for some time you can simply sweep it or wipe it with a clean, dry mop. The wax will keep it clean longer.

This liquid may be used on wood, rubber and composition floors, as well. We've tried it and recommend it highly.

'Candida' Cast Is Far Short of Expectations

"CANDIDA."

Comedy in three acts by George Bernard Shaw. Staged by George Somnes. Settings by Donald Oenslager. Costumes by Helene Pons. Presented in the Grand Opera house, Tuesday evening, Jan. 24, 1939.

THE CAST.

Candida	Cornelia Otis Skinner
Rev. James Mavor Morell	Onslow Stevens
Eugene Marchbanks	John Cromwell
Miss Proserpine Garnett	Dorothy Sands
Alexander Mill	Philip Faversham
Mr. Burgess	Stanley Harrison

BY CECIL SMITH.

It would be pleasant to send forth loud huzzas in recognition of Cornelia Otis Skinner's first Chicago venture in the company of other actors, if only last night's performance of "Candida" had offered enough supporting evidence. The truth is, however, that an unmistakable air of melancholy enshrouded the audience a good bit of the time, and began to lift only in the last act as the performance settled into a somewhat better stride.

Not that there is any want of good intentions or of careful preparation. With the rise of the first curtain Donald Oenslager's superb Moorish-Victorian room established a feeling of the greatest expectancy. And all of the participants, from the beginning, showed a commendable freedom from nervousness, even though this was the American première.

But "Candida," by now a time honored veteran of many a distinguished revival, is growing increasingly difficult to make credible. It needs a single point of view throughout. Its problem is no longer a modern one. Unless the spirit that led Shaw to write it is allowed to shine through, "Candida" has to fail in 1939.

There is a curious confusion and lack of conviction about much of the performance, as though nobody had ever told the members of the cast just what attitude they should take toward the play and toward their parts. Seemingly they cannot agree as to whether "Candida" is a period piece or a modern and universal emotional drama.

Miss Skinner's Candida is hardly the serenely poised woman who, without even trying, could keep two over-emotional men from each other's throats. There is no satisfactory way to play the rôle of Candida except to "walk in beauty" through it, letting the lines fall naturally as they must. Instead of approaching her task as easily and naïvely as this, Miss Skinner reads her lines much too studiously, as though she were determined to extract more juice from them than Shaw ever dreamed of putting in.

Probably she will find herself more at ease in the part after a few repetitions. When the first newness of her undertaking has worn off she may be able to rid herself of the remnants of her solo style—an excess of nervous movement and gesture, and a trying habit of refusing to look into the eyes of the people she is speaking to.

Young John Cromwell made the 18 year old poet Marchbanks an institutional neurotic in the first act. Later he calmed down and became decidedly effective as the romantic, ideal-ridden poet.

Onslow Stevens seemed a matter-of-fact and curiously casual Rev. James Morell, surprising both the audience and himself by his sudden fear of a poetic adolescent. Stanley Harrison mugged Candida's father pretty badly. Of the entire cast Dorothy Sands as Prossy, the spinster secretary, was by far the most assured.

By tonight I hope things will be pulled together into better shape. But at the opening the whole performance lacked definition of motives, and, which is more disturbing, lacked any real sense of dramatic fusion or total impact.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

The Mirror.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 24.—Has Vivian Leigh her divorce? She'll wed Laurence Olivier if and when. . . . At the House of Murphy, Harry K. Thaw, with three elderly ladies, sitting two tables away from Edgar Allen Woolf and neither bows. . . . What makes it an interesting item is that on the night that Thaw shot Stanford White at the Madison Square Garden roof, "Mademoiselle Champagne" was having its première. . . . The author of the musical show was Edgar Allen Woolf.

Jimmy Stewart, Dick Powell, Dennis O'Keefe, and Alex d'Arcy giving the Earl Carroll cuties a big play nightly . . . Two of them, the girls, were yanked out of the show by the board of education because they are not 18, Evelyn Atchison and Sandra Jolley.

Norma Shearer and Clark Gable turn in two of the finest performances of this or any other season in "Idiot's Delight" . . . Teamed again under Director Clarence Brown, they stirred cheers at Westwood premier. The film was previewed a few hours after Director Brown had shot a new finish.

Best radio performer in Hollywood, Bette Davis . . . in two shots, two bull's-eyes. . . . Jeanette MacDonald and Tyrone Power, movie king and queen of 1939, discussing nervousness as they pose for the newsreels.

"A shot like this makes me nervous," she confesses, "but an actual picture doesn't bother me. I remember once when I was supposed to appear in a trailer and say 'Happy New Year'. I got the giggles, from nervousness, and couldn't say it."

Now it's Hedy Lamarr and Gene Markey. . . . Warners start shooting their Nazi spy picture tomorrow—behind closed doors. . . . Ann Sheridan, the latest to be discussed for the Belle Watling rôle. . . . Joan Crawford and Charlie Martin still carrying on. . . . He's a Grossinger's alumnus, used to write sketches for the weekly shindigs . . . from Grossinger's to Crawford in one generation!

What's this about that George Brent party in Honolulu? . . . Ann Rutherford gets a spot in "Gone with the Wind." . . . Wire from Ann Sothern, playing Loew's State: "Got your dressing room. How'm I doing?" . . . I'll have to ask Al Rosen, Annie. . . . Despite coaching, Vivian Leigh still very, very Briddish.

RKO's Howard Benedict in receipt of a wire from Noel Coward: "On the way. Arrive shortly. Your ex-boss, Noel Coward." . . . Benedict, now head publicity man at RKO, did publicity for Coward on Broadway. . . . Nicest people out here are the Britishers, incidentally.

Adrienne Ames and Frank Karples a twosome. . . . Errol Flynn, who ducked out by plane to the east, used his regular air lane alias, Leslie Thompson. . . . Larry Adler and his bride due in from his Australian tour shortly. . . . His brother, Jerry, is wiring Mildred Paul, Baltimore eyeful. . . . Those harmonica players always seem to wind up with gorgeous lookers. . . . Jane Wyman with Billy Seymour's kid brother.

Chap passing himself off around town as a count is a phony, glamor girls will learn here. . . . At Western Costume company, celebs renting costumes for the Edgar Bergen party get a funny feeling when a customer drops dead . . . a telephone repair man.

Gale Sondergaard sporting a new dinner ring: She wore it in "Juarez" and liked it so much she bought it. . . . Winnie Sheehan stagging it at Bob Murphy's. . . . All of the fellows on the Warner lot inventing errands to stage 3, where Ann Sheridan was making some bathing suit scenes [she is the No. 1 femme allure at Burbank]. . . . MGM has a pretty fair rival in Ilona Massey, but doesn't give her a tumble. . . . The Nate Blumbergs [he's the Universal boss], in on the Superchief.

Elmer Cooper of Jamaica, N. Y., in connection with the Chicago Tribune-News Syndicate movie popularity poll, sends along the results of a 1913 poll. . . . First ten men stars were: Romaine Fielding, Earle Williams, J. Warren Kerrigan, Carlyle Blackwell, Francis X. Bushman, Bronco Billy Anderson, Arthur Johnson, Crane Wilbur, Maurice Costello, James Cruze.

First ten femme stars were Alice Joyce, Muriel Ostriche, Mary Fuller, Edith Storey, Ormi Hawley, Mary Pickford, Clara Kimball Young, Lillian Walker, Blanche Sweet, and Pearl White.

The names will arouse nostalgic memories among the older movie patrons, but they won't mean much to the moderns. . . . This isn't strange. . . Wonder how many, in 1964, another twenty-five year span, will remember Gable, Tyrone Power, Mickey Rooney, Sonja Henie, et al?

The boys at the penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., send me a copy of their prison magazine, appropriately titled "The Periscope." . . . The cover shows Attorney General Frank Murphy being sworn in, and a quotation from one of his speeches: "If you must err, err on the side of leniency." . . . Not a bad thing for any of us to remember. . . . On the sports page, the editor is discussing a basketball game: "There is as much difference," he writes, "as between a parole and a denial." . . . For cogent similes, that wins by a mile.

At M-G-M, ten owners of ten chimpanzees in the Tarzan picture arguing with the director. . . . Each one wants his monkey to have close-ups. . . . No stage mothers in this town to compare with the animal trainers. . . . Cinema tests are about the same the world over.

Terry Ramsay's excellent magazine Fame gives the list of ten top money grossers in England: Shirley Temple, Jeanette MacDonald, Spencer Tracy, Clark Gable, George Formby, Deanna Durbin, Robert Taylor, Ronald Colman, Gary Cooper, and William Powell. . . . The only truly British performer is Formby, who has succeeded Gracie Fields. . . . England's common folk feel that Gracie Fields, in deserting her old type of comedy, deserted them; so they deserted her for Formby.

Stokowski Will Conduct Music for Disney Feature

A Stranger in the Dark

By Frank R. Adams

(Copyright: 1939: By Frank R. Adams.)

SYNOPSIS.

The hero, pursued by a detective, is stopped in a Chicago railway depot by a young man, apparently dying, who gives him his wallet and baggage check to get him his medicine. He gets the sick man's bag, then, seeing the man being carried away on a stretcher, he uses the man's ticket, is on his way to Clovis, N. M., as John Bowman—an innocent fugitive, having taken the blame for missing bank funds to save his father. Before reaching Clovis he confesses his identity to Sheriff Tom Johnson, who boards the train to welcome John Bowman, whose father, Pete Bowman, is dying and longs to see the son separated by divorce from him since babyhood. The sheriff persuades him to take on the rôle. John's sister, Mary, and her fiancé, Charles Ferdinand, manager of her father's ranch, meet him in Amarillo and fly him to the ranch in Charles' plane. Mrs. Lodge, wife of Pete's physician and guest, is with them. Our hero falls instantly in love with Mary and dislikes Charles, a handsome show-off, who is the pet of Pete's sister, Matilda, who had loved Charles' father. The hero meets paralyzed old Pete Bowman, kept a virtual prisoner by Matilda. Pete asks him to stay and help Mary, and gives him his guns. Charles is carrying on an affair with Mrs. Lodge and even Dr. Lodge knows about it.

INSTALMENT XV.

A GOLD DIGGER.

A sudden thought struck me. "You've forgotten, Miss Dangerfield, that when Pete Bowman dies he might leave most of his money to his son."

"No, darling, I haven't forgotten," Josephine replied. "Why do you think I've been hanging around all these years? But I want you to live for our sake—for us to enjoy it. You might not if Charles got sore—might not live, I mean."

I laughed. "That sort of thing doesn't happen in the west any more."

"Wrong, darling. That sort of thing still happens everywhere. If you didn't know it before I'm telling you now and I'm one of the best friends you've got here."

That was a strange remark from the person whom I had thought was going to cause me the most trouble. I looked at her sharply. Her face was turned toward me and I could see it plainly in the moonlight. From the expression in her eyes I knew someway that she meant what she said and that underneath her flash exterior she was just a nice girl who had happened to adopt gold digging for a profession.

After a moment I said, "I think you're right."

"Of course I'm right. I'm not like Mrs. Lodge. I've been everywhere and seen everything. All I want now is a nice place to curl up and rest for a couple of centuries."

I smiled. "You've lived by your wits, huh?"

"So far. If all your life you've been looking forward to a certain thing and you see it where you can grab it, you take it, don't you?"

"Listen," I said seriously, "you seem like a darn nice girl. You've got a mistaken idea about certain things. I can't explain to you tonight, but I will after the wedding."

"After our wedding?"

"No. After Mary's wedding to Charles."

"Then you're going to let her go through with it?"

That was what was bothering me. "I doubt if I could do anything to stop it." I had had enough of this. "Come on—let's dance."

Shortly after midnight Charles announced that the next dance would be the last.

"Tomorrow's the big day, you know," he said from the musician's platform. "Come on, Mary." He singled her out from the crowd. "Let's step this together."

Personally I had no desire for any more dancing except with Mary. Josephine, whom I was beginning to like for her hard-boiled honesty had gone to her bungalow long since "to rest her exhausted airedales," she said.

I went out on the terrace. There was still a light in Dr. Lodge's bungalow so I went over. When I tapped on the door he said, "Come in."

The bungalow was quite elaborate, two bedrooms and a connecting bath, all well furnished in the manner of a de luxe hotel.

Dr. Lodge was sitting at a folding card table, not in his wheeled chair, but in an ordinary one. A game of Canfield was laid out before him and a half-consumed highball was handy. I wondered how many he had had that day. Not that it mattered because he was as steady as if he had been drinking nothing.

"Help yourself to the Scotch," he invited, pointing to a bottle and a siphon.

When I started to pour some liquor into a glass I discovered that the bottle was empty. He noticed it, too.

"Sorry. Forgot I'd used that one cup. But I've got more."

To my amazement he got to his feet and walked a little unsteadily to the closet. With a fresh bottle in his hand he turned and noticed the startled look in my face.

"O, yes, I can use my legs again. Not much, but I take a little exercise now and then when I'm alone, which is most of the time, to try to get some strength back in 'em. Didn't think I'd tell anybody until I was pretty sure I'd be O. K. In the excitement of having a guest I forgot."

"I'll keep it to myself if you say so."

"Thanks. I've got a kind of a reason for not coming out with any public announcement yet."

I thought I knew what his reason was, but we did not discuss that.

"There were a couple of questions I wanted to ask you about your patient, Dr. Lodge. That's why I took advantage of your invitation to drop in."

"Yes?" He poured my drink and sat down. "Fire away."

"How long do you think he'll live?"

"Not long. Pete doesn't want to."

"Doesn't want to?"

"No. Would you if you had that old buzzard of a sister watching every move you made, forcing you to do things you don't want to, things that you know aren't right?"

"You say she forces him. How can she?"

"By wearing him down, my boy, by wearing him down." He looked at his glass abstractedly. "Perhaps you never came in contact with a woman like your aunt before. There are lots of 'em, but she's an exaggerated case. She thinks she's the hand of God and that everything she does is right. She believes honestly that all doctors are fools and that no one knows what to do for a sick man, but herself. I've been kept on here because Pete insisted and I've stuck in spite of everything because I owe him a debt of gratitude I can never repay. But I can't get a nurse to stay if she's got any gumption and the old lady fires the others.

"Pete was once the boss of nearly everybody for a hundred miles around, but he never won a battle with Matilda yet. He seemed to, in the old days, but she always kept at him until he finally gave up out of sheer weariness. Take the matter of this man Ferdinand she's so crazy about——" He stopped.

"Go on."

"No I think I won't. Perhaps I'm prejudiced on that subject."

There was a rap on the door.

"Come in."

It was a bellboy from the main building.

"Mrs. Lodge said I was to tell you, if you was still awake, that she would probably be going with a party they're gettin' up for a moonlight horseback ride."

The doctor laughed. "All right, son. Tell her I hope she doesn't have too much trouble with the train of that evening gown she's wearing."

"Yes sir. I'll tell her."

He was gone.

"Those boys belong to Ferdinand body and soul. For that matter so does nearly everybody on the ranch. The men all wish they could be like him and the women, even the lowliest swampers in the kitchen, hope that some day he'll notice they're alive." He abandoned the subject as of no import. "Where were we?"

"You were telling me how Aunt Matilda had broken her brother's spirit."

"O yes. Well, she did it by persistent nagging at first when he wasn't so ill as he is now. But when he finally had a stroke and was obliged to stay in bed then she really had him at her mercy. What she did then was plenty. If he opposed her in any way she took away the medicines he had to have to stop his pain. Nurses used to tell me about it after they got fired. She wasn't very clever about it, didn't care, I suppose, because she thought she was acting under the direct guidance of God himself."

You Can't Claim Boy Once You Turn Him Down

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Young women, if you turn down a proposal when the man is earning $20 a week, don't think you can revive claims on him when his salary is doubled and some other girl has him in tow.

That's the case with L. L. She tells that the young man proposed to her two years ago, but as he was earning only $20 a week then, she couldn't see how they could manage it. Recently, she met up with the same young man in the company of his fiancée and he so introduced her to L. L., who is furious that a man could be so fickle as to expect her to accept him on a small salary, but when his salary doubled he would go and ask another girl.

Illogical reasoning, L. L. Like a woman scorned would reason. Women scorned or jilted have the most remarkable way of blaming everything on the man's heartlessness. Wasn't it heartless of you, L. L., to dash the suitor's hopes over the proposal he did make you? It's all right if you didn't want to marry on $20 a week, which, we'll admit, isn't a tempting sum for matrimony. Still you must have dealt his pride a blow in the manner in which you dismissed his declaration of love.

You could have said to him that you cared deeply for him and that you thought you ought to wait a while for marriage. Did you, by any chance, suggest that he had a lot of nerve asking you to marry on so low an income? Did you feel slated for bigger and better earnings? We are just asking, not condemning.

In any event, when a suitor has passed on into other hands with the declaration that she is his fiancée and there are early marriage plans he has to be accepted as gone out of your life forever. You can't bring up old proposal scores.

Talk Sunday Will Defend the Black Widow Spider

Donald C. Lowrie, who feels that the black widow spider is misunderstood, will talk at 3 o'clock Sunday at the Chicago Academy of Sciences, Clark street and Ogden avenue. His topic will be "The Black Widow Spider and Her Venomous Kinfolk." Lowrie admits that the widow often gets that way by eating her husband, but insists that her bite is not often fatal to man. Her venom, however, is more poisonous than that of the rattlesnake. The talk will be illustrated.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune.]

How'd you like to sink your teeth into a juicy, brown, broiled steak tonight? A steak with crisp and piping hot French fries, creamed peas, an apricot and cream cheese salad and, for dessert, cream puffs! Well, such a dinner may be assembled in little more than a couple of wiggles of a lamb's tail. Here's the pattern:

SHORT CUT DINNER
Broiled Beef Rib Steak
French Fried Potatoes
Canned Apricot and Cream Cheese Salad on Chicory with French Dressing and Ripe Olive Garnish
Frozen, Fresh, or Canned Peas, Creamed
Raisin Whole Wheat Bread
Bakery Cream Puffs
Coffee

BROILED STEAK

Rib steaks come from the beef rib, section, which is next to the short loin which contains the more popular porterhouse, T-bone, and club steaks. Have them cut at least an inch thick, and wipe with a damp cloth. Place on broiling rack in broiling unit preheated to 350 degrees, and broil until well browned on one side. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, turn, and brown on the other side. Ten minutes to the side should be plenty for a medium thick steak. If it is more than an inch and a half thick, 15 minutes will be needed for each side. This cooks the steak medium well done.

FRENCH FRIED POTATOES

Cut peeled potatoes into lengthwise strips about one-half inch wide. Soak in cold water for 10 or 15 minutes, drain, and dry on towels. While potatoes are being prepared, heat vegetable shortening to 390 degrees, or to a temperature hot enough to brown a bread cube in 20 seconds. Put potatoes, a few at a time, into a wire basket or strainer, and immerse in the hot fat until well browned and cooked tender. Drain on unglazed paper, sprinkle with salt, and keep hot in the oven until all potatoes are fried. Four medium potatoes should make four servings. Six potatoes will be a generous supply for four.

APRICOT AND CREAM CHEESE SALAD

Use three canned apricots for each salad. A three ounce package of cream cheese will be sufficient for four salads. Mash the cream cheese with a fork and beat into it enough sirup from the apricots to soften and smooth it. Put a dab of the cheese into each apricot half, and arrange by threes on chicory lined salad plates. Garnish each plate with two ripe olives, and serve French dressing separately.

According to CULBERTSON

Editor's Note—Readers who sent in stamped, addressed envelopes for Mr. Culbertson's recent bridge examination questions and answers will receive them as soon as printing is completed.

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

Question 49 of the recent examination was deliberately devised as a trap, but, I am frank to admit, it was I who was caught in it! More than four-fifths of the answers that reached me were absolutely correct. The question was:

Neither side vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	2 hearts	?

You are South and hold:

♠ Q 10 6 5 2 ♥ 7 3 ♦ 8 4 2 ♣ 10 8 5

What call do you make?

My impression of the average player was that he would rush in with a two spade bid on South's hand; that his excellent trump support would blind him to the barrenness of his hand as a whole. I am delighted to admit that I was wrong. Of 20,005 answers sent in 17,318 had the correct answer, pass; 2,624 "fell for" a two spade bid; 63 found peculiar bids [including a jump raise to four spades] with which we need not concern ourselves.

Undoubtedly trump support is a good thing to have, but it certainly is not everything! There is all the difference in the world between a free raise and a courtesy raise. If this had been a case of North opening with one spade and East passing, South would have to bid two spades [not one no trump!] to give North another chance in case the opening bid was based on a near two bid. East's overcall, however, automatically extends this opportunity to North, hence South is relieved of obligation. If he volunteers a single raise North unquestionably will place him with at least one outside trick and, acting on that premise, might make all sorts of fatal rebids. Few bidding errors are more destructive to partnership confidence than free raises and free takeouts which are stretched beyond all semblance of logic.

Pass	1 club	1 heart	Pass
Pass	1 spade	2 diamonds*	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	Pass	Double
3 diamonds	Pass	Pass	Double
Redouble	Pass	Pass	Pass

*Obviously South did considerable bidding with his far from strong hand.

West unhesitatingly selected a trump as the opening lead despite the fact that he had only a doubleton of his partner's club suit. Dummy's ten held and the singleton heart was led. At this point East made the excellent defensive play of ducking. He recognized from West's opening lead that West must have heart strength that he was trying to protect. If this were so West might easily be able to win this present heart trick and return another trump, which East could not do. There was, of course, some risk in ducking to the singleton heart, but the possible gain more than offset it. As it happened, the ducking play had a beautiful result from the defenders' point of view. West captured declarer's jack and led another trump. Declarer overtook dummy's jack with the ace and, in a desperate effort to establish a few heart tricks, led the nine of hearts and, when West ducked, passed it, discarding a club from dummy. East won with the heart ace and cashed the club king, then led a low club. Declarer ruffed and foolishly ruffed a low heart in dummy. [He should have cashed the heart queen.] Now a low spade was led from dummy and the king, to declarer's horror, lost to the ace in West's hand. West doggedly returned another trump, dropping the two last opposing trumps together. West still had a trump and declarer could take no more tricks except the spade queen. Thus the contract was down three tricks redoubled, to the outspoken disgust of North, who had started out by thinking that his own bidding had been pretty cute.

Parents Can Help Children in Adjusting

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"Parents should do this when children do that."

"When a child does so and so, you should always do thus and thus."

"When a boy acts this way, it means that."

"When a girl says such a thing, it means she has this mixture of motives."

It would be much easier to give advice to parents if I could say flatly, "This is always the way to manage," if I could lay down hard and fast rules and let it go at that. But if you know children at all, and that means if you know human nature, you can't do so. Practically every statement I make can be or should be qualified.

So, after saying yesterday that we should accept our children as they are and not try to make them over, I immediately want to tack a tail to that statement which will keep the inexperienced mother or father from going to an extreme.

It is true that we do want to let our children work out their own destinies as much as possible, according to their native endowment. But because they have to live in a world of people, because they are going to be confronted later with certain practical aspects of living, we must be the ones to keep an eye on the scales and help them to strike a balance.

The girl who is talented and self-sufficient may need to be encouraged to have friends at her house, to go to other children's homes, to respond to overtures of friendship, to accept invitations to parties. On the other hand, the boy who is very sociable, who is above all things a "good mixer," who never wants to do those things which are only done alone, must be helped to develop personal resources so he can find something within himself that is rich and satisfying. That may be a fondness for reading, the waking of a sleeping talent of some kind such as music, the uncovering of a collecting instinct, or manual skills.

So, too, the child who is highly emotional must be helped to a more impersonal or objective attitude. The one who is naturally too retiring must be brought out of himself.

Good Morning!

A little straight thinking before "Zaza" went into production would have saved the producers a lot of money and grief.

They would have realized that the old play in which Olga Nethersole appeared so many years ago was of too old vintage to be contained successfully in modern bottles.

But they plunged into the venture, introducing features including a can-can dance said to have set them back about a quarter of a million, which they figured would be "box office" and which the censors promptly rejected. . . . At last, released from the cutting rooms, "Zaza" appears as a dull little on-stage-back-stage feature in which nothing ever really happens.

Miss Colbert's vivacity is ineffectual. Mr. Marshall in a most unbecoming mustache is stuffed shirt no end. Bert Lahr, playing "straight," is the star of the production, but a star without a sky. Other able players are at like disadvantage.

The story? Well, Zaza is a darling of the French music halls who falls in love with a man she doesn't know is married. . . . Her discovery that he is sends her hotfoot to his apartment to have things out with his wife. Enters the man's little daughter. Her baby charm brings out the mother in the actress and Zaza goes away from there a BETTER WOMAN. . . . Ho, hum.

See you tomorrow.

Noted Swing Expert Ill; Will Be Unable to Attend Benefit

The committee in charge of the Emerson House benefit to be held at the Harvey restaurant on Saturday night has received word that Hugues Panassie is ill in New York. He will not be able to come to Chicago for the party or for the lecture he was to give at the Saddle and Cycle club on Sunday evening.

That many swing addicts will be disappointed at not being able to see and hear M. Panassie, the noted swing authority, is certain, but the committee has planned such a gay and novel party that all who attend it are sure to enjoy themselves.

Symphonietta in Concert of Great Interest

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The concert of the Saidenberg symphonietta at the Goodman theater last night was remarkable for several reasons. One of these reasons was the soloist, Emanuel Feuermann, a cellist who shall here remain uncharacterized, because words like "superb" quite fail to do him justice.

Another reason for the intense interest of the concert was the conducting of Daniel Saidenberg, who has seldom shown himself in more imaginative and musicianly a guise.

The choice of works, too, kept the audience alert. There were first Chicago performances of a Gluck sinfonia and a Geminiani concerto grosso, the last-named piece revealing in its second adagio a Bachlike nobility of thought. And Schöenberg's "Verklarte Nacht" received one of its rare local presentations.

The eighteen strings of the Saidenberg symphonietta, augmented by wind players where the scores demanded such reënforcement, responded magnificently to the efforts of their conductor. Tonal effects had a fine cleanness and smoothness of texture, phrases were lightly balanced and expressively curved.

To return to Mr. Feuermann, his performance of the Haydn concerto was as moving a display of pungent, characterful cello playing as the season is likely to bring forth. In the glorious adagio the instrument sang effortlessly and full throatedly at once. Never a phrase went by that was not personalized by some breath takingly beautiful nuance of tone.

Mr. Feuermann followed the Haydn with a Hindemith suite for cello alone. The cellist dealt skillfully with the few sardonic little melodies of the work and managed to project successfully even the lonesome, open sounding passages which carry so much of the piece's austere emotional content.

Ida Krehm, the young Canadian-American pianist who made a qualified success of her Orchestra hall recital of Jan. 3, returned to the same place yesterday to appear as soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra and to chalk up an unqualified success.

Under Hans Lang's direction she played the solo part of the second Saint-Saëns concerto and solved with distinction the two major problems which the piece presents. The first movement has to be reasonably melting and persuasive, the second and third must be a little on the elfin side and terrifically fluent. All three movements turned out well.

Mr. Lange opened the afternoon's music with a resounding performance of the overture to Berlioz' "Beatrice and Benedict. Debussy's "Clouds," which followed, was almost as delicate of texture and as majestic of motion as the objects after which the piece is named. "Festivals" had the proper dream quality—also the proper splendor when the unearthly march demanded that effect.

The concerto brought the program to the intermission. The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to Tschaikowsky's sixth ["Pathetique"] symphony. Its sonorities were piled mountain high, its more heartbroken phrases grew under the fingers of the violinists into pronouncements of startling beauty and power.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A grateful letter from one of our readers, thanking us for the suggestion of a certain bath preparation that put an end to her years of cold weather discomfort, reminds us that still more of you might be seeking something for the relief of bath itch.

This preparation was one of the first on the market, by the way.

This body lotion is an emulsion and you use it in a rather unique fashion after the bath or shower. It's applied while the skin is moist. As you step out of the tub dry the skin quite casually, then rub on the rich emulsion before the skin is quite dry. This done, you complete the drying with a towel.

Your skin isn't one bit sticky afterwards, but the dryness and the chapping are wonderfully alleviated. You should rub the emulsion in rather generously on those areas most prone to chapping and roughness, usually the elbows and legs between ankle and knee.

If the skin of your hands is inclined to redden in winter you can use this lotion after washing them, following exactly the same procedure you would after the bath or shower.

This lotion is distinctly inexpensive; one bottle should last you the whole winter. You'll find it in several of the shops and we are quite certain you'll like it. We've used it and so have several of our friends—with never a comment that was less than high praise.

Simple, Versatile Dress

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

A pattern such as this is suitable for many types of wear. It may fashion a dress for the home, one for the street, and is especially adaptable for frocks for southern climates. Both silks and cottons take well to its functional lines, which flatter all silhouettes.

The high, round neckline is treated to a contrasting shirtwaist collar, which is matched by cuffs on the puffed sleeves. The braid trimming lends a crisp touch to collar, cuffs, and pockets. A sash belt extends only from the side seams, leaving the long front panel to do its slenderizing work unhindered.

If you like, make the sleeves long, especially if you wish to wear the frock up north and for the street. Both prints and plain colors are suitable, and remember that the delicate pastels in crêpe are going to be important for spring.

Style No. 2053 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material, with ½ yard of 39 inch contrasting and 2 yards of braid.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Station, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing ten cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be certain to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Too Strenuous Program of Reducing Can Ruin Charm

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Sometimes we wonder about women and their continued quest of the streamlined figure. Yes, we have been an active party, indeed, in the movement to rid the world of excess flesh. Also we will continue to hold out against its accumulation where it takes toll of woman's youthfulness, her neatness, and her good grooming. Our wondering is not about the woman who would be better for a reducing spree; rather about the woman who is plump and lovely and endearing. And there are some of the latter you hope will never change their voluminous proportions. Some of them can't change their proportions, obviously, and some, if they did, would lose that heart appeal which is theirs.

If children may be deemed the perfect judges, and they are often credited with a fine sense of discrimination and an honest one, a couple of recent experiences would plainly indicate a loss to the world should these darling plump sisters, of whom we speak, change.

Here's a telling and, we think, perfectly gorgeous verdict from the lips of a small boy known to us. After the departure of two of his mother's guests he confided in his mother with great heartiness that "he liked those women." Not being a young man given to comments of the sort ordinarily, mother asked why he liked these women so much. "They're not too thin," he replied! "And they haven't sour pusses."

In another atmosphere a young 10 year old girl hung around a certain plump darling of a woman during her entire week-end stay. There were other women present, all leanish and talking reducing a lot. This youngster reported, too, that she loved Mrs. X because she looked such good fun.

The moral to be extracted, of course, is that we women must not reduce to the "sour puss" stage.

We do not think the moral to be that reducing excess weight should be abandoned, since our mortality rates are too convincing of the unhealthfulness of fat.

Calls Palestine Issue Clash of 2 Just Claims

The problem of Palestine is the problem of settling a contest of right against right, Sir Ronald Storrs, former military and civil governor of Jerusalem, told the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations yesterday in the Palmer house.

Sir Ronald traced the history of the Zionist movement from its beginnings to its hope of realization with the signing of the Balfour treaty, which permitted Jews to go to Palestine about twenty years ago. He said the Jews had made a great contribution in wealth, toil, and intellect, and that under no circumstances should the treaty be violated or Jewish immigration prohibited.

He declared, however, that the Arabs were justified in their claims that they now had no political rights in a country which they had occupied for about 2,000 years. He said that they, also, had looked forward to the day when they might rule Palestine and that they now feared they would become submerged in a tidal wave of Jewish immigrants.

There are at present about half a million Jews in Palestine, as compared with 1,100,000 Arabs, Sir Ronald said. But the Jews in recent years have been coming in, some illegally, at the rate of 80,000 annually, he added. This rate can not continue, Sir Ronald said.

"It is a contest of right against right," he continued, "and so it continues to this moment. The British government has decided on a round table conference of Arabs and Jews, to be held in London. If they can agree on a solution, that will be fine. If not, the government will choose its own policy and impose it.

"I have been asked what my own solution would be. If I could give you the solution to the Palestine problem I wouldn't be here. I would be sitting comfortably in the British cabinet at 10 Downing street. The man who knows the answer to that holds the key to the whole eastern situation. However, terrorism must be put down and the Arabs must be given some concrete assurance that they're not going to become the underdog in a country they've occupied for hundreds of years."

Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland, speaking in the Standard club at a luncheon of workers in Chicago's two million dollar drive for funds to aid Jewish refugees, said there was now raging a fight between the brute force tradition and the prophetic tradition. He predicted that the latter, representing freedom, democracy and the inalienable rights of man, will win. To date the Chicago drive has raised $1,527,000.

LOCKJAW TEAM SCORES ANOTHER K. O. OVER DEATH

Frank Dorich, 7 years old, some day may realize it was lucky for him that as a boy he lived in Cook county. On Jan. 3 Frank fell down stairs and cracked his head on the sidewalk. Twelve days later Frank was stricken with lockjaw. From his home at 9025 Sahler avenue, Brookfield, he was rushed to the County hospital. Immediately the hospital's unique method of saving a maximum number of lives in lockjaw cases was set in motion.

In most communities lockjaw is considered almost invariably fatal. In Frank's case antitetanus serum was not given after his scalp wound, and the lockjaw developed in the minimum incubation period, indicating it had siezed control of the child's body in all its virulence.

Doctor Predicts Recovery.

Frank was dangerously ill then, but yesterday he was able to say, "I'm hungry." He ate, and asked for more. Then he ordered that his father bring him his fire engine. Last night Dr. Maurice L. Blatt, whose patient he is, said the boy probably will recover.

The minute the child was taken to the hospital, there was instituted the exact routine which is followed in all cases of tetanus, adult and children.

Frank was taken into a darkened room and the regular tetanus team was called into service. Three nurses, trained by Dr. Ralph Spaeth, instructor in nursing, serve on the team. Dr. F. C. De Lorenzo is the resident physician on it, and Dr. Abraham Levinson, pediatrician, is directly in charge. Dr. Blatt still is captain of the team.

Deaths Cut to 25%.

It is this team, carrying out the routine or technique developed by Dr. Blatt about five years ago, which gives lockjaw cases at the Cook county hospital superior care and which has reduced the mortality in these cases from almost 90 per cent to 25 per cent.

Now Cook county saves 75 per cent of the persons who develop tetanus in cases where no anti-tetanus serum has been given them. It used to be that such persons usually died of convulsions before such serum could be injected.

The nurses called in on Frank's case immediately began giving him every conceivable nursing attention. He is not alone for half a second. If he were he might suffer a fatal convulsion.

How Death Is Beaten.

Whenever even slight irritation or rigidity or a localized twitch occurs, the watchful nurse goes into action with lightning speed. A sedative drug is given the child through a tube which is never removed, as the medication must be applied instantaneously.

Meanwhile, Frank has had anti-tetanus serum pumped into his veins and muscles at Dr. Blatt's direction. However, before any serum could be given he had to be taken out of the spasm stage by the sedatives. In the severe stage the simple touching of a child or the flicker of a bright light can bring on a fatal convulsion, and a hypodermic might cause death.

"Frank's case is unusual in that it developed from a scalp wound," said Dr. Blatt. "It should teach parents that any injury should be treated. Tetanus germs thrive on lack of oxygen and injuries to the feet should be carefully watched."

45 Policemen Will Reach Retirement Age This Year

Forty-five policemen will leave the department this year, upon reaching their 63d birthday, the compulsory retirement age. James McSweeney, secretary to Police Commissioner Allman, prepared the list yesterday. It includes one captain, David Flynn of the trafic department, who will be 63 on July 21; 6 lieutenants, 9 sergeants, 23 patrolmen, 3 operators, 2 policewomen, and 1 matron.

SET UP 8 STATE LABORATORIES IN PNEUMONIA WAR

Establishment of laboratories in eight Illinois cities for diagnosis of pneumonia types and distribution of serum was announced yesterday by the state health department at Springfield. The laboratories, whose facilities are available to all physicians, will be in Rockford, Peoria, Freeport, Canton, Galesburg, Carbondale, Springfield, and Champaign.

Dr. H. A. Lindberg, pneumonia control officer for the health department, who has headquarters in Chicago, will direct this step in the campaign against the disease. The department plans to increase the number of serum centers and typing stations until they serve all areas in the state.

Tries Suicide on Street; Police Squad Finds Him

Carl Anderson, 39 years old, unemployed, slashed his wrists yesterday, walked half a block, and collapsed at Madison street and Wesley avenue, Evanston. A police squad, passing through the sparsely settled neighborhood on a radio test, saw Anderson and took him to St. Francis hospital. Anderson lives at 1418 Washington street, Evanston.

ASKS TO ENLARGE NURSING STAF AT COUNTY HOSPITAL

An appropriation of $380,160 to increase by 288 the number of employés of the Cook County School of Nursing, was asked yesterday by Edwin R. Keeler, its president. He appeared before the finance committee of the county board. The school, which supplies the nursing service to the County hospital, has been criticized because it lacks an adequate number of employés in proportion to the number of patients to be cared for, Keeler added.

The new appropriation, he said, would increase to $2,444,421 the school's annual budget of $2,064,261. Of the 288 employés that would be added, 247 would be nurses. The total employés then would number 1,357, Keeler said.

MASSIN BEATS FREISINGER IN SILVER SKATES

LOUIS TO RISK WORLD TITLE AGAINST LEWIS TONIGHT

18,500 WILL SEE 15 ROUND BOUT IN GARDEN RING

Odds on Champion Are 1 to 10.

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 24.—John Henry Lewis, the man who never has been knocked out, and Joe Louis, the greatest knocker outer of his day, will meet in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night and, judging from the comment along Broadway, it's all over but the clouting.

The sharpies, as the metropolitans like to call them, will offer you 10 to 1 that Louis will win the fight. You can get 3 to 1 that John Henry will not last the scheduled fifteen rounds.

A near capacity crowd of 18,500 will contribute approximately $100,000 to see whether a Pacific coast Negro or a midwestern Negro is to be the champion of the world when the lights go out in the historic arena. The prices range from $3.50 to $16.50. There are many who can understand the 50 cents but wonder why the sixteen dollars, especially if one of the contestants is a 10 to 1 shot.

Odds Out of Line.

The long odds are entirely out of line. No man should be a 10 to 1 favorite over an opponent, assuming that his adversary has two nimble legs, a spark of intelligence, and a pair of sound knuckles. John Henry has been the champion light heavyweight of the world for better or worse, and just because he is fighting a fellow who disposed of his last opponent in two minutes and three seconds, it does not necessarily follow he will be a nudge-over like Max Schmeling.

Sometimes these underrated battlers turn out to be very capable citizens and more than one champion has been knocked loose from his stylish ego by a rival who almost had to pay his way into the arena. Jim Braddock was only a 10 to 1 shot the night he wrested the title from Max Baer.

Both Joe and John Henry spent the day resting at their training camps. They will come to town in the morning for the weighing in ceremony at the downtown offices of the New York boxing commission. The champion is expected to enter the ring at 201 pounds and the challenger at 183.

Lewis Never Knocked Out.

Lewis, who became a national ring figure after rolling up an impressive string of victories in Arizona and California, has had 107 professional bouts. He has scored fifty-one knockouts, forty-four decisions and four draws. He has been beaten only seven times and never has failed to finish a fight. He has lost only two of his thirty-three heavyweight matches. His last defeat was by Izzy Gastanaga on Oct. 15, 1937.

Jim Braddock, who has fought both, doesn't concede John Henry a chance to win. The man from whom Louis won the title at Comiskey park less than two years ago sizes up the battle like this:

"If John Henry were fighting any other fellow in the world, I would think he had an even chance for victory. The night Joe knocked me out he was the greatest fighter of all time. And mark my word, Lewis tomorrow night will encounter a better all around workman than I faced. Joe is smarter than he was when I met him. Take, for instance, the way he brings up his right as protection for his jaw. A couple of years ago he used to bring it up too much to the left side of his face, which gave you a chance to shoot your right past his guard. That's the way I floored him in Chicago. That same punch wouldn't do the work for me now, the way Joe handles himself."

THE GUMPS—FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Joe's the Favorite, but John Henry Can Punch, Too!

Layton Snaps Bozeman's Billiard Streak at Ten

New York, Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Defeat finally caught up with Jay Bozeman, 32 year old cue star from Vallejo, Cal., who represents Chicago in the national three cushion billiard championship tournament. Coming here with an unbeaten record, which included eight straight victories, Bozeman made it nine in a row this afternoon, 50 to 30, at the expense of Johnny Layton, but when they resumed playing at night Layton snapped his winning streak, 50 to 46.

CUBS DECIDE TO LEAVE MIZE OUT OF 1939 PLANS

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs have changed their minds about Johnny Mize, the slugging Cardinal. They've tried since last fall to interest the St. Louis holders of the rights on Mize in a proposition and had hopes that a deal could be consummated about the time the 1939 season gets under way.

Everything has been abandoned, Charley Drake, boss man in the Cubs' publicity department, announced yesterday. Drake got his information, and he guarantees its reliability, from Manager Gabby Hartnett and Clarence Rowland, director of trades, after the pair had emerged from a conference.

Hartnett simply decided that it might be safe to start another pennant quest without the assistance of Mize and, because Gabby is the manager, Rowland agreed that it might be just as well not to take an approximate $100,000 whack at the P. K. Wrigley bank roll.

Cavarretta Is the Man.

Hartnett, although apreciating at the time that Rowland was dogging the St. Louis owners with talk of heavy money, announced during the December baseball meetings that Phil Cavarretta, instead of Rip Collins, would be his first baseman for at least the start of the coming flag race. Gabby was safe in making this part of managerial plans public because it would soon be lost in the gush of sports oratory if Mize should be landed. Cavarretta still is the prospective regular for first base employment.

Cavarretta was the front door attendant when the Cubs won the pennant in 1935. When the Cubs purchased Collins from the Cardinals a spot had to be found for him and it was first base, that being his chosen position. Collins wasn't so hot in 1937 and last spring Charley Grimm, then the manager, decided Cavarretta would be returned to his former post. But Phil was hit by a pitched ball just before the season opened, so Collins got another hold on the bag and retained it, except for an occasional benching.

Russell's a Prospect Too.

The manager also has in mind one Glenn Russell, who served as first baseman last season with the Los Angeles team, the minor league member of Wrigley's baseball empire. Originally Russell was a second sacker and after being moved revealed he had the fielding skill suited to first basing. Whether he'll hit is doubtful, but the manager hopes to make a discovery on this point before the training grind is concluded. Meanwhile the irrepressible Collins simply will sit around and wait, knowing that sooner or later, he'll be doing business at the old stand.

Drake also revealed yesterday that two more contract complaints had been received. A couple of rookies wrote back saying they had been under the impression that when a fellow gets to the big league he draws more money.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The Louis-Lewis bout at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night will be the first heavyweight championship match between two colored men since Jack Johnson fought an eight round draw with Jim Johnson in Paris 26 years ago. . . . You can get odds along Broadway tonight that John Henry Lewis will not go eight rounds against Champion Joe Louis, who five years ago was just coming to the front in Chicago Golden Gloves. . . . There are a few dissenters, among them Willie Joyce, the Gary featherweight, who predicts John Henry will last fifteen rounds. . . . While this department does not hold that the fate of the universe hinges on the outcome, it does maintain that a lasting good should come to boxing sufferers. . . . It ought to end the ring's double talk for a few months, at least. . . . Hereafter when you say Louis you will mean Louis, not Lewis, or possibly when you say Lewis you will mean Lewis, not Louis. . . . Lewis, not Louis, is the third light heavyweight title holder to get a chance at the heavyweight championship. . . . Georges Carpentier, after wresting the crown from Battling Levinsky in 1920, was knocked out by Jack Dempsey at Boyle's Thirty Acres in 1921 and a few years ago Tommy Loughran surrendered his 175 pound title for an unsuccessful attempt to whip Primo Carnera when that physical monstrosity was monarch of the heavyweights.

Lewis was born in Los Angeles May 1, 1914. . . . He is twelve days older than Louis, which probably will have no influence on the result of tomorrow night's fight. . . . He won the middleweight and light heavyweight championships of Arizona in 1931 and the following year added California's 175 pound title to his accomplishments. . . . He whipped Jim Braddock the same year, while he was still a high school student. . . . In addition to Braddock, Lewis has whipped seven of Louis' victims—Patsy Perroni, Jack Kranz, Al Ettore, Hans Birkie, Red Barry, Charles Massera, and Art Sykes. . . . This is the fourth time Louis has prepared for a bout at Pompton Lakes, N. J. . . . He worked out there before his victories over Jack Sharkey in 1936, Tommy Farr in 1937, and Nathan Mann in 1938.

Armin Massin, 22 year old skater from the Catholic Youth Organization, raced over the two mile course at La Follette park last night to write his name as the twenty-second winner of a pair of Silver Skates.

Massin, who today will seek a berth on the United States Olympic team in the 1,500 meter trials in Oconomowoc, Wis., had been considered as only one more of the many better than average skaters Chicago has developed in the last score of years. Possibly he will not win an Olympic team place today, but Massin isn't particularly concerned.

This Is Honor Enough.

Last night, under the glaring floodlights in La Follette park, while a throng of 15,000 cheered the climax of the five hour program of skating sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., the young mail carrier from Glencoe, Ill., won lasting fame. And in winning the most prized title in skating—a pair of solid silver skates—he defeated Leo Freisinger, a teammate, who last week whipped all Americans in the 500 meter Olympic trials.

Freisinger was the odds-on favorite, but Massin whipped him by his superior stamina and a determination to win that could not be denied. Perhaps Freisinger made a mistake when he decided to pursue the pacemaker, Dick Snyder, through the early laps. Snyder won the gold medal for leading the field for most of the 12 laps of the two mile race. Freisinger held second position behind him. Behind the Olympic star skated Massin.

This Was a Race!

In the final laps Snyder failed and the race was between the C. Y. O. teammates. Into the last lap they raced, and here, with a superior burst of power, Massin passed Freisinger, opened up a gap of five yards and held that advantage as he slid over the line the winner. Freisinger was unfortunate in racing luck, for he slipped twice in that final decisive lap and each time lost strokes to his speeding competitor.

The C. Y. O. and Northwest Skating club tied for the Eckersall team trophy with 360 points each. Each also has won the team championship two times and officials will meet today to determine which of the clubs will receive permanent possession of the trophy.

Fahrenbach First Victor.

Jerry Fehrenbach, representing the Catholic Youth Organization, skated to victory in the first of the final events to be decided, the boys' midget race at 110 yards. His time was :27.7. Mike Swistowicz of Wilson playground pressed Jerry all the way and came in second, just ahead of Phillip Scott of Swift playground. Others in the order of their finish were Clarke Church of Highland Park, Ill., and George Parker of Waters playground.

The second pair of Silver Skates to be awarded went to Leo Seroka of Kenosha, Wis., who flashed in first in the finals of the boys' juvenile More Victories in Future.

Shirley Jameson of the Northwest Skating club, who won the girls' junior Silver Skates in 1935, flashed home winner in the senior one mile Derby. Miss Jameson, who recently attended the University of Illinois, is one of the best skaters developed in Chicago. She dominated last night's race for Silver Skates and now has completed the cycle of championships she started four years ago.

Marilyn Telfer, winner of the girls' junior title, lives in Winnetka, Ill. Her victory last night presaged future victories. Shirley Jane Burnett, one of the best of the younger contestants, raced to victory in the girls' intermediate Derby. She's 14 years of age, but she moved up to this age class because last year she won in the junior division. Shirley is a freshman in Sullivan High school.

These Boys Keep Winning.

Marvin Thomson of the Northwest club, twice winner in lower age classes, won his third pair of silver skates in the juvenile class. His father, George Thomson, won Silver Skates in 1920. Marvin is a sophomore in Lane Technical High school and he won the Illinois state junior championship the last two years.

Walter Baron, who also holds two other silver skates titles, raced to victory in the intermediate division. He is a senior in New Trier High school.

WALLACE WINS TRIAL

Oconomowoc, Wis., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—George Wallace of San Francisco, practically clinched a place on the United States Olympic skating team today on Fowler lake in the first trial of the 1,500 meter event. Wallace's time of 2:21.8 was the best ever skated in American Olympic trials, although it was :07.1 slower than the world's record. The skaters were hampered by a blizzard, but had the advantage of perfect ice.

Chicago had expected Tony Neberz of the C. Y. O. to be its third member of the Olympic team. Neberz skated into third place in the first trial today with a time of 2:27.5, six and three-tenths of a second slower than Wallace.

Bob Heckenbach of the Northwest Skating club in Chicago was among the first five in today's trials.

[ADVERTISMENT]

FOR THE 1 MAN IN 7 WHO SHAVES EVERY DAY

HERE'S A SPECIAL SHAVE CREAM

It's Not a SOAP... Not Greasy Needs No Brush... Leaves Your Skin Soft and Smooth

Daily shaving leaves many men's faces raw and sensitive. This is especially true of the man who, because of his business and social status, must shave every day.

To meet this condition, Williams has now developed a special cream for daily shavers. It's called Glider. With no soap base, it's a complete departure from ordinary shave creams. After washing face thoroughly with soap and warm water to remove razor-dulling grit, spread on Glider quickly and easily with your fingers. No brush. No lather. Not sticky or greasy.

A superabundance of moisture is contained in this rich, smooth cream. It softens each whisker right down to the skin, yet forms a protective layer over your face to keep blade from scraping. Swiftly and gently your razor glides over your skin without tearing or irritating. Like a cold cream, Glider helps smooth and soften your skin and prevent chapping and roughness. Glider is the result of nearly 100 years' experience in making fine shaving preparations.

Try Glider at our Expense:

Send your name and address on a penny post card for a generous FREE tube of Glider "No-Brush" Cream. The J. B. Williams Co., Dept. CT-21, Glastonbury, Conn.

KERN'S STATUS IS CLARIFIED; HE'LL STAY AT CARNEGIE

New York, Jan. 24.—[Special.]—The status of blond Bill Kern as Carnegie Tech football coach was cleared today by a wire received here. Kern, who in his second year at the helm was voted the Coach of 1938 in the balloting for the Ruppert trophy, is not leaving Carnegie Tech and has turned down a post at Boston college.

"Had seriously considered B. C. offer," said Kern in his wire, "but I have decided to stay at Carnegie." The wire, which came from his Pittsburgh home, gave evidence that the recent reports concerning his succession to Gil Dobie's B. C. job were slightly askew.

PROPOSE 5 DAY RACE WEEK FOR CHICAGO TRACKS

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—A five day week for horse racing was proposed by a bill introduced in the Illinois senate today. Tracks in this state, now prohibited from running on Sundays, would be shut down on Mondays as well, under the bill.

Senator William J. Connors [D., Chicago], who introduced the bill, would permit tracks to operate only on those Mondays which are legal holidays. The measure would cut out about 25 of the 157 racing days of tracks around Chicago, he said.

"There is too much racing around Chicago," Connors said. "It is too great a drain on the public. I can't say whether the tracks make money on Mondays or not. They are not sponsoring this bill. But I do think one day less of racing each week would help the tracks."

Baseball's Gambling Table

A Story of Expensive Failures and Surprise Bargains in Big League Player Deals

[This is the fifth of a series covering major league transactions in which, for better or worse, big money was spent either with a minor circuit or to move an athlete from one major team to another.]

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

LITTLE did the officials of the New York National League club know when in 1921 they handed a certified check for $75,000 to the San Francisco club for Jimmy O'Connell, that they were letting themselves in on a double barrelled load of grief.

The $75,000 was paid cheerfully after emissaries of the Giants had listened to the beautiful pictures of O'Connell, a mere kid, painted by the Frisco promoters who in the stretch of a few years deftly removed several fortunes from the pockets of major league clubowners.

The New York club took the costly step fully appreciating that it was gambling on the possibilities of the lad developing. What the New York club couldn't foresee was that his cereer would be blown to bits by scandal.

He Wasn't a Star at First, but He Showed Promise.

O'Connell, born in Sacramento, Cal., where he played semi-pro ball, was only 19 when, in 1920, he made his debut with the Seals. As an outfielder and first baseman he played in 102 games and, while he batted only .262, the machinery for attracting big league attention was set into motion.

The owners were correct in their judgment. Their find blossomed over night. He played in 170 games as a first baseman in 1921, batted .337, and stole 23 bases. Before the end of the year he was purchased, one article in the agreement being that he would remain with the Seals through 1922, during which he split up his work between first base and the outfield in 187 games. He batted .335 that season.

O'Connell joined the Giants at their spring camp in 1923. The New York writers had lots of fun making predictions, most of them rosy, about John McGraw's $75,000 employé. The lad never even started to set the big league afire. He was in the Giants' outfield for 87 games but the pitching wasn't what he had looked at in the Coast league. He batted .250. In 1924 he was in only 52 games and, while he finished with an average of .317, he drove in only 18 runs for the best scoring team in the league. His career ended with that season.

It was just before the 1924 world series was scheduled to open in Washington that Commissioner K. M. Landis let it become known that he had found some soiled linen in his baseball household.

From New York the commissioner announced that he had suspended Coach Cozy Dolan and Outfielder O'Connell, both members of the New York Giants who were to engage in the series as the National league entry.

Dolan's Memory Is Too Short to Satisfy Landis.

The commissioner revealed that prior to a game at the Polo Grounds the day before the previous season closed, O'Connell had approached Heinie Sand, shortstop of the Phillies, with a $500 bribe offer. The Giants needed one victory for the pennant clinching and O'Connell, according to his confession before the commissioner, suggested that Sand ease up in behalf of the Giants. Sand, after saying he wasn't interested in pennants, carried the story to his manager, Art Fletcher, and the latter promptly communicated with Landis.

In his confession O'Connell implicated, along with Dolan, Players George Kelly, Frankie Frisch, and Ross Youngs. The players, when questioned by Landis, insisted they hadn't even heard of the alleged plot. Dolan, charged by O'Connell as the man who had asked him to make the bribe offer, knew nothing when examined by the commissioner. Dolan's answer to all the Landis' queries was "I don't remember." The commissioner wasn't able to figure how a man could forget that quickly. So Dolan was bounced out of baseball, along with O'Connell, a lazy thinker who undoubtedly didn't appreciate he was doing wrong.

The exposure created a near panic in baseball for a few days. Landis, after announcing the suspension of Dolan and O'Connell, said the investigation was closed. The next day in Washington the baseball writers stormed his quarters and demanded to know more of the details and why the search would not be continued. The writers were anxious to know who was going to pay the $500—a feature which still remains a mystery. One writer heckled Landis to such an extent that he leaned over and yelled, "O, you go to hell."

Sisler, Collins, Keeler Named to Hall of Fame

New York, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The names of George Sisler, Eddie Collins and Wee Willie Keeler were added to baseball's hall of fame today as a tabulation of ballots in the Baseball Writers' association fourth annual poll revealed each had received more than the 75 per cent of votes necessary for inclusion in the list of diamond greats.

The balloting swelled to nineteen the list of heroes of yesteryear whose names will be immortalized in the baseball shrine at Cooperstown, N. Y. Twelve were selected by the writers and seven by the centennial committee made up of Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis, Will Harridge, American league president, and Ford C. Frick, National league head.

The poll this year reached a new high with 274 ballots. Each voter named ten candidates. Sisler received 235 votes, Collins 213, and Keeler 207, just one more than the minimum necessary for election. A total of 108 players received votes, with twenty-eight nomineés drawing more than twenty-five votes each.

Two Are Collegians.

The names of Sisler, Collins and Keeler are additions to a list which already included Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Honus Wagner, Christy Mathewson, and Walter Johnson, named in the first poll; Napoleon Lajoie, Tris Speaker and Cy Young, named in 1937, and Grover Cleveland Alexander, the lone selection last year.

The centennial committee chose George Wright, M. G. Bulkeley, Ban Johnson, John J. McGraw, Connie Mack, Henry Chadwick, and Alexander Cartright, all of whom either were active in the game or closely associated with its development.

The names of Sisler, Collins and Keeler enter every conversation concerning baseball greats. Keeler's quip: "Hit 'em where they ain't" remains a classic phrase. Sisler's booming bat brought him fame, and Collins was the key man in Connie Mack's renowned $100,000 infield. Both Sisler and Collins jumped from college campuses to the majors.

Sisler, now 45 and high commissioner of the semi-pros, was with the St. Louis Browns from 1915 to 1927, with Washington in 1928, and the Boston Nationals from 1928 to 1930, when an eye ailment ended his playing career. He had a lifetime batting average of .341. In 1922 he hit .420. He was a University of Michigan product.

Collins' career dates back to 1906 when, fresh from Columbia university, he joined the Athletics. He remained with them through 1914, when Mack broke up his $100,000 infield. Collins went to the Chicago White Sox, where he remained until 1926, the last two years as manager. He returned to Philadelphia in 1927 for three years, and now is vice president and treasurer of the Boston Red Sox. He is 51.

Keeler Could Bunt.

Keeler played with the Baltimore Orioles of the National league from 1894 to 1898, with Brooklyn from 1899 to 1902, the New York Highlanders from 1903 to 1909, and the New York Giants in 1910. He died in 1923. He was known as the best bunter in the game, and for fourteen years he batted better than .300.

Other leaders in this year's poll, with votes received, include:

Rube Waddell, 179; Rogers Hornsby, 176; Frank Chance, 158; Ed Delahanty, 145; Ed Walsh, 132; Johnny Evers, 107; Miller Huggins, 97; Rabbit Maranville, 82; Jimmie Collins, 72; Roger Bresnahan, 67; Fred Clarke, 59; Mordecai Brown, 54; Wilbert Robinson, 46; Chief Bender, 40; Herb Pennock, 40; Ray Schalk, 35; Hugh Duffy, 34; Ross Youngs, 34; Hugh Jennings, 33; Joe McGinnity, 32; Home Run Baker, 30; Addie Joss, 28; Eddie Plank, 28; Mickey Cochrane, 28.

NAME WEST SIDE GOLDEN GLOVES SECTION BOXERS

More Examinations Next Tuesday.

The list of Golden Gloves boxers who will fight in the west side tournament, which opens in the Madison Athletic club next Wednesday night, was completed last night. The west side quota was assigned from the three hundred amateur boxers who reported at Trafton's gymnasium for physical examinations. These boxers supplemented the 111 from the Catholic Youth organization who passed physical examinations Monday night.

Golden Gloves entries will be accepted until midnight Feb. 4. Physical examinations will be held next Tuesday and Feb. 10. This final date will qualify contestants for the Marigold Garden and Loyola university tournaments.

South Side Meet Largest.

The south side tournament, which opens in White City, Feb. 7, is the largest of the Chicago sectionals. For this reason the tournament will be conducted six nights. Boxers who pass physical tests next Tuesday will be eligible for this tournament.

Any boy who has received a parental consent card may report at any examination. If it is impossible to come on the night assigned, he is permitted to report later. The important requirement is that he bring his consent card signed by his parents or guardian with him. No boxer may compete unless he has written permission.

J. P. I. Enters Three.

The Jewish People's institute, 3500 Douglas boulevard, will be represented in Golden Gloves by Leo Block, Henry Leslie, and Jimmy Thomas. Their names were submitted yesterday by Emil S. Gollubier, J. P. I. physical director. The boys will receive assignment to the physical examination next Tuesday evening. All examinations are held between 6 p. m. and 8 p. m.

Three hundred ninety candidates reported for last night's examinations. This is the largest group ever to appear on the opening night.

Charles Bruce Patrick Sr., 37 years old, who has been competing in Golden Gloves tournaments as a bantamweight since 1928, was one of twenty-eight applicants rejected.

Max Levy, 24 year old novice of 3208 West Carmen avenue, was the lightest to weigh in. Max weighed 104½ pounds. The heaviest was 229 pound Joe Moore of 4254 Indiana avenue.

Joseph B. Hoagland, bantamweight, member of the United States army medical detachment stationed at the 39th street barracks, was the oldest candidate passed by the doctors. He is 30 years old.

Edward Brown, 13 years old, accompanied his uncle, John Griffone of Bensonville, Ill., to Trafton's gym. Master Brown thinks his uncle, who is 28 years old and has three children, is a great fighter. Griffone is a night watchman at 6501 West Grand avenue.

Among last night's entrants were three brothers—Douglas, Edward, and Y. Z. Colquitt. The latter, who refused to reveal his given name, is 18 years old and will compete in the featherweight open class. Doug, 16, is a novice lightweight, and Ed, 17, is an open bantamweight. They live at 3204 South Dearborn street.

Another brother combination, Ed and Raymond Inman, 6 feet 5 inches, and 6 feet 4½ inches tall, respectively, came from Highland Park. Both will fight in the light heavyweight division for Trafton's gymnasium. Ed is a decorating contractor and Ray is a third year student at Highland Park High school.

Henry Nichols Jr., a student in Arlington Heights High school, was accompanied by his father, who is an attorney with offices in the loop.

Ervin Rannow, 20 year old featherweight, drove 67 miles from Racine, Wis., to be on time.

Jackie Woods, 18 years old and 6 feet 4 inches, is a heavyweight who intends to leave nothing undone to qualify for the Stadium competition. Jack is attendant at a gasoline station next door to district No. 4 headquarters, state highway police, and failure to advance would be humiliating, he said.

Morgan Park to Meet Lake Forest Quintet

The Morgan Park Military academy will meet Lake Forest academy in a Midwest Prep School conference basketball game this afternoon in the Morgan Park gym.

Eddie Dempsey, 1938 Chicago Golden Gloves featherweight champion, tonight will reach for another step in his climb in his division in an eight round bout with Gene Spencer of South Chicago in Park Casino, Hamlin avenue and Madison street. It will be their second meeting.

ASSAILS HIDDEN TAXES AS BURDEN ON SMALL EARNER

Multiplicity of Levies Cited by Nebraskan.

Every man who draws a salary of $100 a month pays out of his modest income $231.72 a year hidden taxes, Frank G. Arnold, president of the Nebraska Federation of County Taxpayers' Leagues, yesterday told the National American Wholesale Grocers' association at the Congress hotel.

Arnold said there are 58 taxes on a loaf of bread, 45 on sugar, 38 on bacon, 32 on peaches, 1½ cents on every quart of milk, 154 taxes on a cake of soap, 126 on a pair of shoes, 148 on a pair of overalls, and 125 on an ordinary house dress.

"Think of the lowered standard of living, the decreased purchasing power and what all this means to the millions of customers for every kind of goods in the United States," Arnold said.

People Partly to Blame.

Arnold asserted that the statement is often made that the people themselves are to blame for the tax situation. He said he agrees to the extent that if the citizens took a more intelligent interest in government, many of these taxes would be avoided. But he disagrees to the extent that the citizens frequently elected persons in whom they had confidence only to find them incompetent or worse, just tools of political machines.

"Politicians are sometimes feared because of political reprisals they may be able to take on individuals or firms," he continued. "But the time has come when we must have the courage to tell public servants, who live and support their machines from the dollars we furnish in the form of taxes, that either they give us better government for less tax money or get out.

Flails Regulatory Taxes.

"Taxes should be levied only to support necessary functions of government; never as a regulatory measure for controling business. If some lines of business need controling, why put a tax on them that penalizes every consumer in the country?

"We should always keep in mind the task involved in attempting to control a tax bill in the United States conservatively estimated at about 17 billion dollars, divided into 8 billion federal, 3 billion state, and 6 billion local."

HOGS VARIABLE; RECEIPTS LOWER THAN EXPECTED

A two way market developed for hogs yesterday after a steady opening. Lightweights closed weak to 10 cents lower, but butchers ruled strong to 10 cents higher, with "lard hogs" leading the advance. Receipts continued to run below expectations at all points in the country.

Trading in the cattle yards turned sluggish after a steady opening for better grades. Final prices were 15 to 25 cents under the average of the preceding session.

Eastern buyers came into the lamb trade with larger orders yesterday, resulting in a strong to 15 cents higher list of quotations. Eastern buyers gave the $9.40 top. Local packers bought at $9.25 down. Yearlings and old sheep were quoted steady.

BUILDING GROUP INDORSES SLUM CLEARING PLAN

Outline of New Law to Be Drafted.

BY AL CHASE.

The Chicago Building Congress, Inc., yesterday indorsed the "public service building corporation" plan as a means of inducing private capital to invest in slum clearance housing projects. In a resolution introduced by Paul D. Angell, secretary of the building congress, the plan was called "economically sound, socially desirable, and historically imperative." Directors of the organization approved the resolution unanimously.

Elmer C. Jensen, who works for slum clearance plan.

The officers of the building congress were authorized by the resolution to "take such steps as may be necessary to make effective the purpose of this resolution." It is understood that the outline of a bill will be drawn at once to provide for legislation enabling "public service building corporations" to function in slum areas.

New Approach to Problem.

The plan was originated by a group of Chicagoans several months ago. It is a new approach to the slum clearance problem and is designed to induce private capital to invest in housing projects in designated depreciated areas.

The proposed corporations would operate under state supervision, as do electric and gas public utilities. The great handicap to all past slum clearance projects—that of site acquirement—would be eliminated by granting the building corporations the right to condemn part of the needed land, under the supervision of a state commission and subject to review by the courts.

Yesterday's action by the Chicago Building congress, which was formed last December, was taken at a meeting held in the headquarters of the Chicago Bar association, 39 South La Salle street. Elmer C. Jensen, president of the congress, presided. Mr. Jensen is also head of the Illinois Society of Architects.

Warns of Economic Burden.

The resolution pointed out that slums constitute an ever increasing economic burden on the community and are a "constant menace to the health, morals, and welfare of every man, woman, and child in the city."

"A comprehensive and constructive suggestion for the effective eradication of urban slum areas is advanced by the public service building corporations, to be created by the state legislature and designed exclusively for the purpose of operating within strictly defined areas, as vehicles of demolition and rebuilding of substandard areas, subject to state control," the resolution said.

The directors of the Chicago Building Congress, Inc., are: Joshua d'Esposito, Patrick Sullivan, president of the Chicago Building Trades council; Charles Hines, Russell G. Creviston, Charles Joern, Henry Crown, Leo Corboy, Thomas Morgan, and Oscar Reum.

John Holabird of Holabird & Root, who seconded Angell's recommendation that the resolutions be adopted, is a vice president of the building congress. Other vice presidents are: J. Soule Warterfield, Arthur Kruggel, B. T. Wheeler, and Charles M. toe Laer. Permanent offices of the congress will be opened at 39 South La Salle street.

CUSTOMERS' MEN PLAN GROUP TO SET STANDARDS

New York, Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Preliminary plans for an organization similar to the American Bar association have been made by a group of customers' men employed by New York Stock exchange firms. One object will be to set high professional standards.

Albert Beeson of Eastman, Dillon & Co. was elected chairman of the group and Thomas Meek of Orvis Brothers & Co. was chosen secretary.

A meeting, which representatives of about seventy-five firms will attend, is planned for an early date. After this meeting a gathering will be held, to which all firms in New York City employing customers' men will be asked to send representatives.

William Martin Jr., president of the stock exchange, in a letter to Beeson, described the proposal as "essentially sound."

"Your various suggestions looking to the organization of customers' men into a compact body, governed by high professional standards, appeal strongly to me and to those associates with whom I have discussed the subject," he wrote.

Bellanca Aircraft Corp. Is Sued for $450,000 Damages

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Charging nonfulfillment of a stock purchase agreement of Nov. 2, 1938, five plaintifs filed suit in United States District court today against the Bellanca Aircraft corporation and its president, G. M. Bellanca, asking $450,000 damages. The plaintifs are William S. Kies, Mabel B. Kies, Greydon A. Rhodes, and Gladys O. Lee, individually and as co-partners under the name W. S. Kies & Co., New York, and Haskell Scott Jennings, Inc., Chicago.

U. S. Offers 100 Million of Housing Notes

The federal treasury last night announced the offering of $100,000,000 of five year notes of the United States Housing authority, series B, with a coupon rate of 1⅜ per cent. This is the first time the housing authority has gone to the public for "new money."

The treasury will act as marketing agent for the housing authority through the federal reserve banks. Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau explained on Monday that the treasury had made loans directly until the needs became large enough to require public offering.

Will Act for Other Bureaus.

It is said to be likely that the treasury will continue to act for other bureaus in this same capacity. These could include the Reconstruction Finance corporation, the Farm Credit administration, and the Commodity Credit corporation. The treasury previously has assisted the RFC and CCC in their financing.

The housing authority notes will be dated Feb. 1, 1939, and will bear interest from that date with interest payments semi-annually. They will mature on Feb. 1, 1944, and will not be subject to call for redemption prior to maturity. They will be issued in denominations of $1,000, $10,000, and $100,000.

Exempt from Taxes.

The notes will be fully guaranteed by the United States government, both as to principal and interest, and will be exempt from all taxation, except surtaxes, estate, inheritance, and gift taxes, now or in the future. This means they would still be exempt from income taxes should the proposed legislation for taxing of state and federal securities now exempt be adopted.

Subscriptions from banks and trust companies for their own account will be received without deposit, but will be restricted in each case to an amount not exceeding one-half of the combined capital and surplus of the bank or trust company. Mostly institutional buying is expected, Morgenthau said.

Approved $320,000,000 Loans.

The housing authority, which was set up in 1937, has approved a total of more than $320,000,000 of loans to local governments since it was established in 1937. These loans will pay some 90 per cent of the cost of 140 rehousing developments in cities of the United States.

An issue of $5,500,000 of 4 per cent revenue bonds of the Washington state toll bridge authority will be offered today by a banking group headed by A. C. Allyn & Co. The issue consists of 30 year bonds dated Dec. 1, 1937, and due Dec. 1, 1968.

The funds will help finance construction of a pontoon bridge across Lake Washington at Seattle. The bridge will be the longest pontoon span in the world and concrete pontoons will be used for the first time. The bridge, with approaches, will cost $11,300,000.

The city of St. Louis, Mo., awarded $1,300,000 of public building and improvement bonds to the Northern Trust company of Chicago and two other firms on a joint bid of 102½ for the obligations at 2 per cent.

ROCK ISLAND'S '38 INCOME DIPS TO $2,512,843

Net railway operating income of the Rock Island lines in 1938 was $2,512,843, E. M. Durham Jr., chief executive officer, announced yesterday. The figure compared with $3,238,307 for 1937, exclusive of $1,220,400 credit then due to cancelation of 1936 accruals for the railroad retirement act. Net operating income for December was $578,733, compared with $415,101 in December, 1937.

Net operating income of the Reading company amounted to $1,187,599 in December, the railroad reported yesterday. This was an increase of $217,531 over that of December, 1937. For the year 1938 net operating income totaled $10,104,324, a drop of $3,752,511 from 1937.

The Norfolk & Western reported that December net income was $2,639,544, an increase of $72,964 over net profit in the corresponding month of 1937. This amounted to $1.82 a common share, against $1.77 in December, 1937. Net income in 1938 was $20,013,686, or $13.57 a share. This was a drop of $11,785,594 from net earnings in 1937, which amounted to $21.95 a share.

The Hudson & Manhattan railroad reported that its 1938 operations resulted in a net loss of $1,286,132, against a net loss of $588,201 in 1937.

WEAKENING OF STEEL PRICES IS DENIED BY WEIR

New York, Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the National Steel corporation, today denied reports of weakness in the steel price structure at Pittsburgh.

"I know of no weakness in the steel price structure nor has National Steel corporation, which sells products throughout the country, encouraged price competition in the form of eliminated 'extras' or other concessions," Weir said.

"There has been some easing in demand for steel, which is not unexpected at this time of the year. It certainly is not due to any withdrawal of buyers who wish to place steel specifications but are holding back because of some supposed weakness in the price structure. The present decline in buying is not serious and by early March we undoubtedly will find consumer demand upward again."

2 STREAMLINED '400' TRAINS TO COST $2,320,000

Order Is Authorized; Ready by Summer.

The North Western railroad's high speed train, "the 400," running between Chicago and St. Paul-Minneapolis, will become a streamliner next summer. Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday authorized Charles P. Megan, trustee, to purchase twenty streamlined cars and two Diesel-electric locomotives, which will make up the two units of the new "400s." The "400" consists of two trains which run in opposite directions.

Charles P. Megan.

The new passenger cars will be built at the Chicago works of the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company and the locomotives will be built at the La Grange plant of the Electro-Motive corporation. The cars will cost about $1,600,000 and the locomotives $720,000—a total of $2,320,000.

Fred W. Sargent, president of the North Western, said work on the equipment will be started at once. It is planned to have the two "400s" in service over the same run as the present "400s" early in the summer.

First Superspeed Train.

The present "400," which consists of standard passenger equipment pulled by a steam locomotive, was the first of the superspeed trains to go into service in America. Its first run was made on Jan. 2, 1935.

Each of the new "400s" is to consist of ten cars—a tap room-lounge, four coaches, one diner, three parlor cars and one observation-club car. The exterior color scheme is to be armour yellow, with autumn brown trim, similar to the color scheme of the streamliners running west over the North Western.

The power units will be 4,000 horsepower Diesel electrics similar to the units recently completed for the Seaboard Air Line railroad. There will be two power cars for each locomotive, each of the power cars containing two 1,000 horsepower engines. Train controls will be placed at each end of the power units, so it will not be necessary to turn them around in the terminals to start them out again.

Will Do Double Duty.

Both the locomotives will do double duty. The northbound "400" will leave Chicago at 3 p. m., arrive at St. Paul at 9:30 p. m. and at Minneapolis at 10 p. m. The locomotive will then be coupled to the North Western Limited which leaves Minneapolis at 10:45 p. m. and arrives in Chicago at 8 a. m.

The southbound "400" leaves Minneapolis at 2:30 p. m., St. Paul at 3 p. m., and arrives at Chicago at 9:30 p. m. Its locomotive will be coupled to the northbound North Western Limited which leaves Chicago at 11 p. m. and arrives at Minneapolis at 8:50 a. m.

Regular seating capacity of the new "400s" will be 317, with accommodations in lounges, smoking rooms, and diner for 191, making a total of 508. Coaches will have a seating capacity of fifty-six each and the parlor cars twenty-seven each.

M'KESSON SALES DECLINE 3.9 PCT. FOR DECEMBER

New York, Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Net sales of McKesson & Robbins, Inc., in December were estimated today by William J. Wardall, trustee, at $14,712,000. This preliminary figure compares with $15,323,000 in December, 1937, a decrease of 3.9 per cent.

"The percentage of net sales decrease for December," Wardall said, "was not as large as that for the full year of 1938. The percentage decrease for the full year was not as large as that for the eleven months ended Nov. 30, 1938, compared with 1937. Thus it would seem that the sales record for last December—the first month of operation under the trusteeship—was comparatively stronger than for the preceding months."

The latest sales figures eliminated sales of the crude drug department of the company and of the Canadian subsidiary.

Air Line Plans Expansion if Mail Pay Is Increased

New York, Jan. 24.—[Special.]—The Pennsylvania-Central Air Lines corporation is planning to spend about $1,500,000 this year and next, it was disclosed today. Plans, however, are contingent upon favorable action by the Civil Aeronautics authority for increased mail pay.

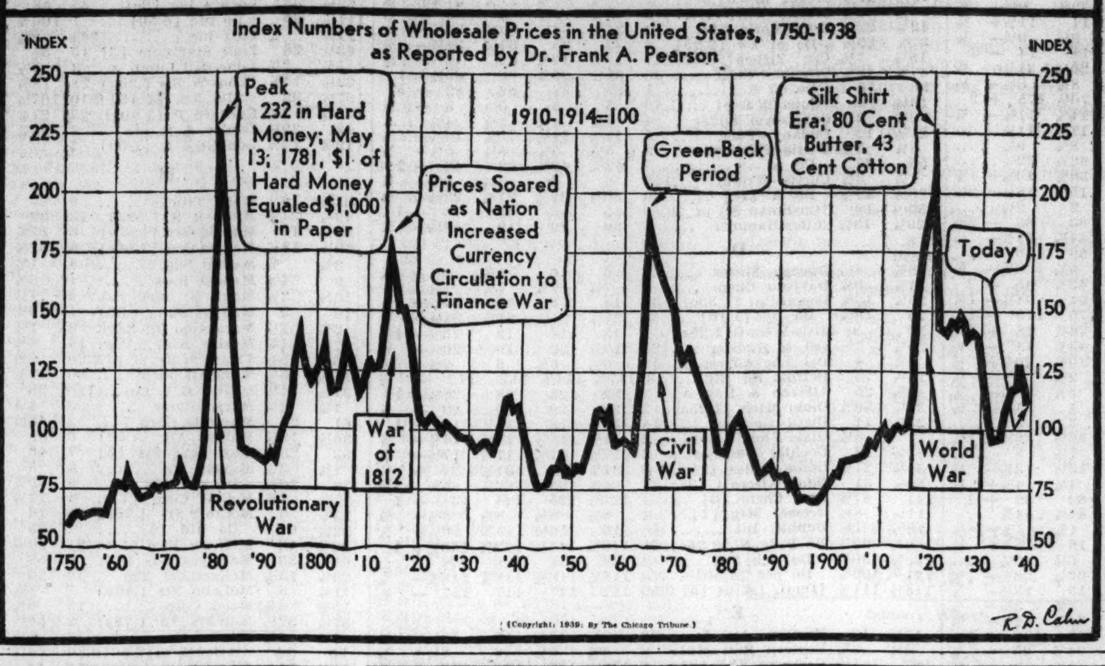
How American Prices Have Fluctuated During the Past 188 Years



Industry Fails to Make Usual January Gain

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—The federal reserve board tonight announced that national industrial production declined seasonably in December but showed little change in the first three weeks of January, when an increase is usual.

The board reported also that wholesale prices were steady and that employment and pay rolls increased further in December. Retail sales showed more than the usual seasonal rise in December.

In December the volume of industrial production declined by about the usual seasonal amount and the board's adjusted index was at 104 per cent of the 1923-'25 average, about the level reached in November after an exceptionally rapid advance after the middle of the year.

December Changes Seasonal.

Changes in output in most lines in December were largely seasonal. In the steel industry, however, production showed a greater than seasonal decline, and averaged 54 per cent of capacity in December as compared with 61 per cent in November. Lumber production showed little change from November to December, although usually there is a decline, and at textile mills and shoe factories activity declined less than seasonally. At meat packing establishments there was a reduction in output.

Automobile production increased somewhat further in December.

Employment and pay rolls in manufacturing industries rose further between the middle of November and the middle of December. Employment and pay rolls in trade increased more than is usual in the holiday season and in the construction industry employment showed much less than the usual seasonal decline.

Employment, Wages Gain.

Industrial employment increased by 200,000 persons and industrial pay rolls by $4,800,000 during December, Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, said yesterday. Industrial pay rolls were at the highest level since November, 1937.

Employment in general merchandise establishments and holiday expansion in the retail trade both set ten year high marks, the secretary said.

The December gain marked the fifth consecutive monthly advance for pay rolls and the sixth for employment.

FEDERAL COURT DISMISSES B. & O. RECEIVER SUIT

New York, Jan. 24.—(AP)—An application for appointment of a receiver for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad was turned down today by Federal Judge Murray Hulbert. He held that insufficient evidence had been presented to sustain charges of illegal transfer of collateral behind a bond indenture.

The suit was filed Saturday in the name of Oscar Getz of Chicago, holder of $10,000 face value of the carrier's refunding and general mortgage bonds, series D.

It was brought out in the hearing that one of the defendants named in the suit among trustees under the bond indenture—James N. Wallace—had been dead 20 years. Wallace was president of the Central Trust company, which has been succeeded by the Central Hanover. Leo Samuel, Chicago, attorney for Getz, said he had not learned that Wallace was dead until after he had filed the complaint.

5 BIG PACKERS' 1937 PROFIT 10 MILLIONS, OR 0.9 PCT. OF SALES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—[Special.]—The Securities and Exchange commission today made public a report based on a census of five meat packing corporations whose securities are listed on stock exchanges and whose assets exceed $50,000,000 each. It showed combined volume of business reported by the five packers was $2,179,064,404 in the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1937. This compared with $2,035,438,893 in 1936 and $1,852,091,109 in 1935.

The five companies were Armour & Co. of Illinois, and its subsidiary, Armour & Co. of Delaware; Cudahy Packing company, Swift & Co., and Wilson & Co., Inc.

Combined profit after all charges, including interest and income taxes, was approximately $10,000,000 or 0.9 per cent of sales for the 1937 fiscal year. This compared with $28,000,000 or 1.04 per cent of sales in 1936, and $23,000,000 or 1.3 per cent in 1935.

Dividends paid by the five companies in the fiscal year 1937 totaled about $26,000,000, compared with about $18,000,000 in 1936 and $19,000,000 in 1935.

O'MAHONEY ASKS SENATE TO PASS ON TRADE PACTS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Senator O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.] asked the senate today to go on record as favoring senate ratification of reciprocal trade treaties before they could become effective.

The Wyoming senator, who clashed recently with Secretary of State Hull over negotiations for revision of the Cuban trade agreement, introduced a resolution which, if adopted, would declare such agreements to be treaties and subject them to senate scrutiny.

Congress delegated to the secretary in 1934 the power to enter into the agreements.

German, Dutch Moneys Sag in Dollar Value

The value of German and Dutch currencies fell further yesterday in transactions in the foreign exchange market. Other major foreign currencies were comparatively steady in relation to the American dollar.

The Dutch guilder was off nearly 1-10th of a cent from Monday's quotation at the height of the selling. It subsequently recovered to close 1-20th of a cent lower at 54.04 cents. On Monday the guilder had fallen 0.165 cent on transactions in New York. The engagement of $899,000 gold in Holland for shipment to the United States was reported by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Different German Marks Decline.

The German registered mark lost ½ cent on exchange transactions in New York, closing at 15 cents. The free and benevolent marks closed with smaller losses.

The unsettled condition in the exchange market is attributed to the various rumors that have circulated in the world market since the dismissal last week of Hjalmar Schacht as head of the Reichsbank, Germany's central bank.

One of the rumors that spread swiftly on Monday was that German troops were engaging in movements on the Dutch border. This was officially denied by German government spokesmen yesterday.

Foreign Security Markets Firmer.

Foreign security markets were stronger yesterday after the selling on Monday. Moderate recoveries occurred in London and Paris. Prices were slightly lower on the Berlin bourse, dispatches reported.

British currency was quoted in New York yesterday ⅛ cent below Friday's price. French francs were 0.00125 cent higher at 2.6425 cents. Belgian currency was unchanged and Swiss francs a trifle lower.

U. S. Steel's Chief Predicts Business Gain

Present business signs are encouraging, Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the United States Steel corporation, told the National Canners' association at the Stevens hotel yesterday. Preceding him as a speaker at the meeting was United States Senator Claude Pepper [D., Fla.], who discussed the effects of the machine age on employment.

Benjamin F. Fairless.

"We are looking forward," Fairless said, "with enthusiasm and a great deal of determination to what the eleven months ahead may bring forth. For business in general, the present signs are encouraging. They are particularly so in comparison with those prevailing throughout January last year."

Expects Volume to Rise.

"Present indications are," he continued, "that we are still in the part of the recovery cycle within which the physical volume of business may rise, or at least hold the gains that have been registered.

"Given a fair chance to express themselves, the constructive forces at work in our national economy should outweigh the unfavorable factors, and thus determine our nearby future course."

Senator Pepper said that the great improvements made in production methods through machinery have made it inevitable that there will always be a larger part of the population unemployed.

The canners' association urged its members to combat legislation that would curtail business freedom.

Study Action on Farm Income.

Meeting at the Congress hotel, the National Association of Retail Grocers, an organization said to have more than 100,000 members, discussed a move to enlist more than 300,000 independent retail food merchants in a plan to raise the level of farm income through restoration of competitive buying.

"Bulk buying," Garret Vander Honning, president of the group, said, "unquestionably has resulted in lower prices being offered the farmer, who has been helpless to demand for his products the return to which he is entitled as a purchaser of food."

HOLC LEGALITY IS CHALLENGED; ASK RECEIVER

New York, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Marie A. Smith, a Brooklyn home owner, in an action filed in federal court today challenged the constitutionality of the Home Owners Loan corporation and asked for the appointment of a receiver for the HOLC.

She asserted that the HOLC never was properly organized and that all its acts therefore are null and void. Her bill contended that under the constitution congress had no authority to delegate to the Home Loan bank board the "legislative power" to create a corporation.

The enabling act was passed by congress June 13, 1933.

STOCKS OUTRIDE SELLING STORM IN FINAL RALLY

Steels and Utililties Lead Recovery.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 24.—A rally in the final hour—paced by steel and utility shares—enabled the stock market today to recover from a midday selling wave that threatened to duplicate Monday's sharp relapse. Although minus signs outnumbered gains at the close—482 against 221, with 199 issues closing unchanged—support for leading issues was reflected in the Dow-Jones industrial, rail, and utility averages. They closed 0.03, 0.12, and 0.19 points higher, respectively.

Trading continued active, today's turnover of 1,699,700 shares comparing with 1,881,120 for the preceding session.

Stocks opened fractions to two points higher. But as little "follow through" enthusiasm appeared, the list began sliding.

Selling Wave at Midday.

Heavy selling orders poured in around midday, delaying the ticker for as much as five minutes and forcing resort to "flash" quotations. Prices melted rapidly, early gains being replaced by equal losses in many instances. Finally some good buying appeared and the list edged up from its bottom. After that prices moved within a narrow range until the last hour rally.

In the absence of domestic business news and political information in Washington, observers again attributed the market's behavior to European developments, chiefly in Spain and Germany.

A large part of the selling was said to have been of the forced or frightened variety, with yesterday's break bringing about the liquidation of many weak accounts.

Regard War Scare Overdone.

The late improvement was ascribed in some quarters to the fact that many traders realized that the war scare had caused undue excitement and reëntered the market with some of the money they had taken out on the declines.

Volume honors for the day went to United States Steel, which closed at 57⅞, off ⅛ point, after being down to 56½. Bethlehem showed a gain of 1¼ points on the day. Republic and Crucible also closed higher.

In the motors, Chrysler bounded about uncertainly and closed lower. General Motors gained ½ point on good buying. Greyhound firmed.

Stability Fund Profit? Rep. Gifford Has an Idea!

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Representative Crawford [R., Mich.] asked Representative Gifford [R., Mass.] in the house today if he could explain a profit which the treasury made with its $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund last year. "They say that when the French franc goes down they buy," Gifford asserted. "And when it goes 'bop' they make some money."

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Bond prices closed lower today. They made a feeble recovery in the afternoon but were unable to erase earlier losses. Closing losses ranged from fractions to about a point. All sections of the list were unsettled.

The market declined in the morning after an irregular opening and then rallied slightly. At times prices were 1 to 2 points lower. Wall street blamed the unsettled trend on continued worry over the situation in Europe, which caused a severe break in the market yesterday.

Domestic rails, both speculative and high grade loans, showed the largest declines. Baltimore and Ohio issues were again under pressure.

Utilities and industrials closed slightly lower on the average. Pressure against United States government issues continued. Liquidation of foreign dollar obligations showed no signs of slackening. Danish, German, Polish, and Bulgarian commitments led the retreat.

Trading was at a slightly less active pace than on Monday. Transactions totaled $8,080,000, par value, against $8,630,425 par value, on the preceding day.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks broke again yesterday under heavy selling. Eighty-one of the 134 issues traded moved lower and only nineteen issues registered advances. A total of 51,000 shares changed hands. The Tribune average of twenty stocks closed at 10.52, off 0.21 from Monday.

Several volume leaders were among the few issues which moved upward. Middle West closed at 7½, up ¼. Bendix Aviation advanced 1 point to 24½, and Marshall Field gained ⅛ at 12⅞.

Remaining leaders were unchanged or lower. Commonwealth Edison was off ⅛ at 26⅞. Chicago Corporation common lost ⅛, closing at 1¾, and the preferred was down ¼ at 34¼. Pressed Steel Car finished at 11⅜, off ⅜, and Zenith Radio declined 1½ to 17.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were irregular yesterday in improved trading, dealers reported. Closing bids were from $2 higher to $3 lower.

Commodities

Commodity futures prices were mixed yesterday. Rubber, coffee, tin, zinc, and copper advanced slightly after Monday's spectacular decline. Wool tops and hides drifted lower. The Dow-Jones index of eleven commodity futures, which is weighted heavily for grain, finished up 0.26 at 47.60.

Some activity stirred the metal markets on the announcement that lead had been reduced 0.10 cent a pound by refiners. This brought the price to 4.75 cents a pound at New York and 4.60 cents at East St. Louis. Lead futures, however, remained unchanged.

Hide futures were weaker. At Chicago new seasonal lows for the distant deliveries were reached on declines ranging to 0.40 cent a pound. New York hides were down 0.03 to 0.08 cent.

Sugar futures moved irregularly. The domestic variety closed unchanged to 0.01 cent lower. The world contracts were unchanged to 0.005 cent higher.

CHICAGO MAIL ORDER COMPANY VOTES DIVIDEND

25 Cent Payment Is First in Nearly a Year.

The Chicago Mail Order company yesterday announced the first dividend on its common stock in almost a year. The directors voted to pay 25 cents a share March 1 to stockholders of record Feb. 10. A year ago March 1 the company paid 25 cents but omitted dividends in the subsequent quarters.

Several other companies in Chicago and elsewhere also declared dividends.

H. W. Gossard company, women's foundation garment makers in Chicago, declared a dividend of 25 cents on the common stock. It will be paid March 1 to stockholders of record Feb. 15. On Nov. 21 the company paid 50 cents a share.

A. M. Castle & Co. of Chicago, merchandisers of iron and steel products, declared a dividend of 25 cents on the common stock for payment Feb. 10 on shares of record Feb. 3. The company distributed the same amount in the preceding three quarters.

Several Usual Payments.

The Norfolk and Western railway will pay the regular quarterly dividend of $2.50 on the common stock March 18 to stockholders of record Feb. 28. Directors of Servel, Inc., manufacturers of refrigerators, voted the quarterly disbursement of 25 cents on the common stock for payment March 1 to stockholders of record Feb. 16.

The International Business Machines corporation announced that it will pay the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 April 10 on shares of record April 1. The disbursement will also affect the shares which will be issued April 1 as a 5 per cent stock dividend on stock of record March 15.

HEAVY BACKLOG.

Investors' Guide: I noticed in the paper the other day an item about the big backlogs of unfilled orders of the airplane makers. As I am looking for a good stock and would like to get one of a small company that is a little off the beaten track, the backlog of Grumman Aircraft took my eye. How does its volume of orders on hand compare with the sales volume? Also, does it make profits and does it pay dividends?—B.T.R.

Answer: Grumman's backlog of some $4,400,000 is large enough in itself to keep the company operating at capacity for about a year, based on the estimated 1938 sales volume, which was placed at more than $4,000,000.

The company began business in 1929 and in the following year had sales of $109,700. Orders placed have increased in every year, but the advance in actual sales of completed planes and parts has not been quite so steady. Sales had climbed to $1,418,000 by 1935, but dropped back to $719,600 in 1936. The 1937 total was $2,333,750.

Net income amounted to $208,000 in 1934, fell to $90,000 in 1936 and turned up slightly in the next year to $139,000. For the first half of 1938 net income was estimated at $440,000 or 95 cents a share.

On the present $1 par common stock the company paid dividends of 25 cents a share in 1937 and 75 cents in 1938.

DIFFERENT SEABOARDS.

Investors' Guide: I hold a certificate for 100 shares of the Seaboard Oil & Gas company which I thought had been good for nothing but wall paper for several years. Then just the other day I saw "Seaboard Oil" listed in the New York stock tables. Is this the same company?—D. F.

Answer: You might as well use your certificate for wall paper. The Seaboard Oil & Gas company forfeited its Delaware charter in 1932 for nonpayment of taxes.

The stock now listed on the New York exchange is the Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware, which was called the Mexican Seaboard Oil company until 1931.

HOW MANY DEFAULTS?

Investors' Guide: Could you give me a rough idea of the number of bonds on which corporations are not able to pay interest when due? I certainly have more than my share. B. R.

Answer: Bond interest defaults naturally vary from year to year. The Standard Statistics company estimated that bonds with a par value of $606,970,000 defaulted on interest in 1938. The worst year was 1933, when bonds defaulting totaled $3,454,870,000.

BUTTER FUTURES MOVE NARROWLY IN THIN TRADE

Futures prices of butter on the Chicago Mercantile exchange moved in a narrow range in thin trading yesterday. Traders again held to the sidelines, awaiting assurance that the government's price support program will not be changed.

January storage butter finished unchanged at 24⅝ cents a pound. February storage contracts were lifted ⅛ cent out of five year low territory, closing at 23⅝ cents. November storage was off ¼ cent to 22½ cents.

The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation continued to maintain its wholesale price pegs, absorbing 350,000 pounds of cash butter at Chicago and New York.

Continued weakness of cash markets caused egg futures prices to slip yesterday. Declines ranged to ¾ cent a dozen, nearby months incurring the greatest loss. January refrigerators were off ¾ cent at 13½, and October closed only ⅛ cent lower at 19. January fresh eggs were off ⅝ cent at 16⅛, and February was off ⅜ cent at 16. Cash eggs were unchanged to ½ cent lower.

GRAINS FINISH HIGHER AFTER EARLY DECLINE

American grain markets were lower in the early trading yesterday but rallied sharply later when shorts started to cover and found little grain for sale. Closing trades on wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade were at gains of ⅞ to 1 cent. Corn was ½ to ⅞ cent a bushel higher.

Uneasiness over the foreign political situation and a decline of ¾ to 1 cent a bushel in Liverpool were responsible for an early dip of about ¼ cent in wheat futures on the Chicago exchange.

May wheat sold at 70⅛ cents at the top yesterday, the highest price quoted for that delivery since Jan. 7.

Corn futures declined ¼ to ⅜ cent during the early trading yesterday to a new low level since early in December. September corn sold at a new seasonal low price.

CUBA PROHIBITS GOLD EXPORTS; WILL BUY OUTPUT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 24.—President Federico Laredo Bru tonight sanctioned a law prohibiting the export of gold mined in Cuba. The law stipulates that gold shall be bought exclusively by the government, at world prices, for minting Cuban money.

Important gold mines owned by American interests on the Isle of Pines now are in operation. The government will start gold purchases immediately, a spokesman for the president announced.

President Bru also signed a decree definitly setting Cuba's 1939 sugar output at 2,696,517 tons, of which 162,000 tons will be consumed in Cuba. The measure represents a reduction of 8.6 per cent from the 1938 output.

COTTON

Trading in cotton futures yesterday was slow. An early decline in sympathy with Liverpool was followed by a rally in the wake of recovery in securities. Closing trades were .03 cent lower to .03 cent a pound higher. Houses with foreign connections sold early, while mills bought March and May futures.

Trading in textiles has subsided considerably in the last two days owing to uneasiness regarding the foreign political situation. Reports from Washington indicated there was little probability of farm legislation assuming definite shape until the middle of next month.

The English demand for American cotton is regarded as the smallest in a number of years. Imports of American cotton into the United Kingdom so far this season is reported at 298,000 bales, compared with 1,087,000 bales during the same period in the preceding season. Imports of cotton grown in countries other than the United States have been 795,000 bales, or 130,000 bales more than during the previous season.

Spot cotton closed unchanged to .02 cent higher, with New York, 9.03 cents; New Orleans, 8.65 cents; Houston, 8.42 cents, and Galveston at 8.38 cents a pound. Prices follow:

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Weather Tricks Turkeys.

January 24, 1939.

MATING calls of the turkeys were heard in the poultry yard at the Du Page county farm for several days before the recent snow storms. The springlike weather encouraged the hens to take short strolls in the direction of the woods where they build their nests in the summer. They walked to the brow of the hill near the barn almost every day for a week or more and behaved as turkey hens do when they are secretly searching for a nesting place in the underbrush.

But during the last few days the poultry keeper has noticed that the turkeys are "looking down their bills." With several inches of snow on the ground, they have been staying close to their roost near the house. Normally the turkeys would not start laying eggs for several weeks.

Breeding Flock's Makeup.

Only the breeding flock is left. Twelve hens and three gobblers have been saved for use in raising Thanksgiving and Christmas birds this year. Three of the hens and two of the gobblers have wild turkey blood in them. The other gobbler is of the Bourbon Red breed. There are one Bronze and eight Bourbon Red hens.

Two different schemes of hatching will be followed in handling the turkey eggs this year. The usual plan has been to allow the birds to run as wild turkeys and nest in the woods. This year the poultry keeper says he plans to gather the earliest clutches of eggs and hatch them in incubators. The poults from these eggs will be kept in a warm brooder until they are full feathered before they are allowed to range in the woods.

In laying the second batch of eggs, the turkey hens will be allowed free run of the wooded pastures. There they will have a chance to build their own nests and set on the eggs just as the wild turkey does. Under this plan the poults will not be handled but allowed to run wild, chasing grasshoppers and bugs and picking up food where they can find it.

Bourbon Red Used.

The Bourbon Red gobbler to be used in the breeding flock is one of the two toms bought last spring from Mrs. John S. Capper of Indiana. He will be two years old this spring. In mating turkeys, experienced breeders find it best to allow about a half dozen hens to a two year old gobbler. An extra gobbler is kept at the farm in case one should be killed accidentally.

Turkeys usually lay two clutches of eggs in the spring, producing from about twenty to twenty-three eggs in the first clutch and approximately eighteen in the second. Turkey hens carefully handled in commercial flocks in this section of the country usually produce around forty eggs each.

Turkey hens at the farm sometimes lay eggs in late summer or early fall. This is not uncommon, and in such cases a single hen may lay as many as 100 eggs in a year.

BRING IT BACK

Our written guarantee, which is given you with a COMMUNITY RENEWED used car, not alone fully outlines how we guarantee the car mechanically, but also provides a basis whereby you can return the car should it not be up to your expectations.

We could not afford to give a guarantee like that if we were not definitely sure that COMMUNITY RENEWED cars are better than the average used cars.

Before you buy any used car find out what we mean by COMMUNITY RENEWED.

You will also find our prices as low, if not lower, than those for ordinary cars.

Get your free booklet on "What Every Used Car Buyer Should Know."
